Yacht Murder Defendants Acquitted

Young Heiress, Gollum Freed; Romance Over

Verdict, Reached In 18 Hours, Is Cheered

SANTA ANA, Cal., Oct. 5 (INS)—Acquittal on murder charges tonight gave Beulah Louise Overell and George "Bud" Gollum their freedom, but their torrid romance was at a definite end.

After 18 hours of deliberation a jury of six men and six women returned a verdict at 5:42 p. m., clearing both of them of charges of murdering the girl's wealthy parents, the Walter E. Overells, and then dynamiting their yacht in Newport harbor last March 15.

Beulah and Bud hardly glanced at each other as the verdicts were returned amid the cheers of the biggest crowd which ever besieged Orange County Court House.

A few minutes later she announced definitely that she did not intend to marry the war veteran with whom she had gone through 19 weeks of trial to clear their names.

The jury members agreed that there never was a moment in their deliberations when Beulah and Bud, who first had planned to be married April 30, were in danger of conviction.

Bud To Tour Country

Mrs. Joseph Stomel, Bud's mother, said that she will accompany Bud on his 5,000 mile tour of the country. Bud said he thought they could leave in about two weeks.

There was an emotional scene in the judge's chambers when one of the women jurors, grey-haired Mrs. Yvonne Wagner, came in and clasped Beulah, who now will inherit her parents' $500,000 estate, in her arms.

"I am so glad," Mrs. Wagner said as tears came into the eyes of the girl who, a few minutes before, had been a defendant in the longest criminal trial in the American court history.

When Mrs. Wagner left, Beulah turned to her chief counsel, Otto Jacobs, and said:

"Can I go and thank the jury?"

"Sure," said Jacobs beaming, "they're in their room."

A crowd of several thousand screamed, shouted and whistled when Golum and his attorney, William B. Bierne left the jail by a side entrance.

The two, flanked by two deputy sheriffs, slipped down an alley back of the jail and made their way to the Santa Ana Hotel, where the attorney has quarters.

Gollum "Can't Believe It"

Bierne carried an armful of Bud's clothing and Gollum, grinning from ear to ear, carried several bundles of personal effects accumulated during his nearly seven months of confinement in the jail.

Gollum, in answer to a girl who congratulated him, said:

"Gee, I can't believe it."

Fifteen minutes later Jacobs drove his car through the milling throng in front of the jail and parked it at the side entrance.

A smiling Beulah Louise slipped out the door and quickly entered the car as the crowd shrieked.

Jacobs said the heiress would have a family dinner at his home and then might or might not return to the Flintridge mansion, where she lived before her arrest.

Chubby Heiress Has Found New Heart Interest

SANTA ANA, Calif., Oct. 5—(INS)—Beulah Louise Overell told International News Service tonight that she had found a new heart interest and was "definitely through" with George R. (Bud) Gollum.

The chubby heiress disclosed her new romance at a party given for newsmen at the home of her attorney, Otto A. Jacobs. However, she refused to identify the man.

Showdown With Lewis Postponed By AFL's Council

Annual Convention Will Start Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5 (AP)—The AFL Executive Council decided tonight on the eve of its annual convention, to postpone at least until Thursday any showdown with Vice President John L. Lewis on the signing of Anti-Communist affidavits.

Lewis won't sign "as a matter of principle," and his refusal thus far has prevented all AFL unions from using the National Labor Relations Board. The CIO is in a similar position because its officers have not yet signed the loyalty pledges. They will decide policy at their convention in Boston beginning October 13.

Ruling Reversal "Rumored"

Under a ruling of the labor board's General Counsel, Robert N. Denham, the Taft-Hartley Act requirement of a declaration of United States loyalty would be enforced against all top AFL and CIO officials as well as the heads of the various unions before those unions could use the NLRB's facilities.

AFL President William Green told reporters after a long Sunday meeting of the 15 executive council members that it was "rumored" that the NLRB might interpret the Taft-Hartley provision different from Denham early in the coming week. The council, therefore, would not act before Thursday, Green said.

Lewis met with his UMW International Executive Board of approximately 25, and a "representative" number of his 200-man policy committee, along with the AFL convention delegates from the miners' union.

UMW Position "Unchanged"

He announced that after a thorough discussion" there had been unanimous refusal "to accept the status of second-class citizenship as provided by the NAM-Taft-Hartley Slave Act.'

"Simply stated," the announcement went on, "the position of the UMW remains unchanged."

Presence of the policy group to back Lewis in any decisions he may make with regard to continuing in the AFL added tension to the pre-convention parleys.

Approval Of Tax Revision Bill Is Seen By McClellan

Arkansas Democrat Claims GOP Support

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—(AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) predicted today that Congress will approve a tax revision bill early in the next session including his "community property amendment."

The Arkansas Democrat told a reporter that Republican leaders had promised him their support for favorable action on this provision. It would allow husbands and wives to split income tax purposes. This results in considerable savings in taxes upon medium and upper bracket incomes for married couples.

"I am going to urge Republican leaders to bring out a tax revision bill ahead of any tax reduction measure," McClellan said. "There is very little controversy about the revisions and we could pass that in a hurry."

Lost Senate Floor Battle

At the present time couples in 13 states and Hawaii have the "community property" advantages.

"I have talked with Treasury Secretary Snyder and his tax experts about this," McClelland said. "The House Ways and Means Committee has unanimously approved it and I can't see how it can be refused now."

McClellan made a stiff Senate floor battle to have the community property amendment written into the two tax bills pushed through the first session of the present Congress, but lost. Several Senate Republicans at that time pledged support later.

President Truman vetoed both Republican attempts to cut taxes and he was sustained first by the House and then by the Senate. But Republicans already have served notice they will try again as soon as Congress meets.

McClellan said there is strong Senate support for two other tax changes:

1. Elimination of so-called "double taxation" upon the dividends of corporation.

Would Increase Exemption

2. Increase of the present $500 personal exemption to $600.

The senator said that at present many corporations "must pay as high as 38 per cent upon any profits from which dividends are paid and then the individual receiving the dividend is taxed on this again."

He recalled that the increase in personal exemptions to $600 lost by a narrow 43-47 margin in the Senate earlier this year.

Congressional tax experts say approval of the "community property" tax provision would reduce government revenues by about $850,000,000 while the $600 exemption would lop off another $1,900,000,000.

Crash Into "Drive Carefully" Sign Fatal To Cyclist

WAKEFIELD, Pa., Oct. 5—(AP)—Carl B. Boon, 17, Peach Bottom, Pa., was killed when his motorcycle failed to make a curve and crashed into a highway sign.

The sign read:

"You are entering Pennsylvania—drive carefully."

Fireman Is Killed In Train Wreck

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 5 (AP)—The locomotive of the nine-car Blue Bonnet passenger train, en route to St. Louis from Dallas, left the rails and overturned near here today resulting in death to the fireman and severe injury to the engineer.

None of the passengers or other crew members was hurt.

The train was operated jointly by the Frisco and Katy Railroads.

Railroad spokesmen identified the fireman as Leroy A. Wright, 33, Muskogee, Okla., and the engineer as Harry J. Ferguson, 67, also of Muskogee, who was removed to a Springfield hospital suffering severe scalds and possible internal injuries.

The accident occurred at 6:20 a. m. as the train rounded a curve, railroad men said.

Saarlanders Favor Union With France

SAARBRUECKEN, Monday, Oct. 6 (AP)—Saarlanders yesterday elected a Parliament pledged to make their coal and industrial basin an economic part of France, returns showed early today.

The returns indicated that the German-speaking population of the Saar, which 12 years ago voted to join Nazi Germany, gave a vote of more than nine to one for three political parties which support economic union with France.

Only two of the men elected to the Saarland Assembly were from the Communist Party, which opposed union. The other 48 were from the three parties favorable to such a move. The Communists got only 8.4 per cent of the vote.

Anti-American Group Is Formed By Communists

Organization Hopes To Wreck Aid Plan

MOSCOW, Oct. 5 (AP)—A new Communist international organization was announced today to fight the Marshall plan and "United States imperialism."

Communist leaders of nine countries formed the organization. It is the first such grouping to which the Russians have pledged support since they declared the Comintern dead in 1943.

It is aimed at uniting the chief Communist strength in Europe.

Pravda, the official Communist newspaper here, as well as Communist organs in other European capitals, said Communist leaders from the nine countries met "somewhere in Poland" last month, appraised the world as split into Russian and American orbits, and ordered an "information bureau" set up to co-ordinate activities.

The nine countries whose Communist forces gathered were Russia, France, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Hungary.

Russia sent two of its Politburo leaders, and it can be taken for granted that their report to the conference was the principal basis for a "statement" of 1,000 words announced today.

Headquarters In Belgrade

In effect, the Communists served notice of their intention to wreck, if possible, the Marshall plan for European aid as well as the Truman Doctrine on totalitarianism, and any form of what they called United States imperialism.

The "information bureau" is to be established in Premier Marshal Tito's capital, Belgrade. Its establishment appears certain to lead to an intensification of the fight on United States policy in Europe.

Pravda said a joint resolution adopted at the conference pictured the world as split into camps led by the Societ Union and the United States. It hit out against what was called United States "expansionism" and "imperialistic lackeys." It placed in the latter category such European leaders at Prime Minister Attlee of Britain, Premier Paul Ramadier and Socialist Leader Leon Blum of France and Dr. Kurt Schumaker, leader of the Social Democratic Party in Germany.

They were assailed as "traitors to the working class."

The chief danger for the working class, said the resolution, was underlying its own strength and overestimating the strength of the "imperialist" camp. It scoffed at the idea that there would be another war, asserting that the strength of the factions opposing a new conflict were so great "the aggressors' plans will fail completely."

Politburo Represented

The Russian delegation to the Polish meeting was made up of Col. Andre Zdhanov and Georgi M. Malenkov, of the Politburo (the Political Bureau of the Central Committee of the All-Union Communist Party).

Zdhanov was among the Communists who signed the resolution in Moscow in May, 1943, calling for dissolution of the Comintern, the international organization founded in 1919 by Lenin to organize the working class parties of the world.

(Dissolution of the Comintern was hailed by many Allied leaders as heralding greater co-operation between Russia and the western world. Premier Stalin declared the move would clear the way for "future organization of a companionship of nations based upon equality.")

Supreme Court Will Launch Its New Term Today

Tribunal Will Rule On Explosive Issues

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP) — The Supreme Court tomorrow opens its new term facing potentially explosive issues involving (1) negro housing and (2) religious education in public schools.

The nine justices have agreed to rule for the first time on the validity of agreements made by white owners of real estate that they will not sell or lease property to negroes.

Also up for a decision for the first time by the high tribunal is a question whether religious education classes held in public schools should be banned as violative of the constitution.

An Illinois mother who called herself a "rationalistic or atheist" said such classes were an unconstitutional union of church and state.

Two negro couples who purchased houses, Orsel McGhee and Minnie S. McGhee in Detroit and J. D. Shelley and Ethel Lee Shelley in St. Louis, asked the court to nullify property owners' agreements under which the couples were prevented from using the homes. They said others face the same situation in large cities from coast to coast.

Dred Scott Case Cited

Lower courts in the past have held that such agreements are private matters which are not the acts of the state.

Attorneys for the Detroit and St. Louis negroes asked the Supreme Court to declare that when state courts enforce such agreements the state becomes a party to the action and the enforcement becomes state acts. Such state acts, they assert, violate the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Some lawyers have commented that the legal situation now is about the same as in the famous Dred Scott decision of pre-Civil War time. They argue that an attempt is being made to solve a major part of a racial problem by judicial methods, rather than legislative.

(In the Dred Scott case the Supreme Court decided that Scott, a negro slave, not being a citizen, could not sue in a federal court. It also ruled that Congress could not prohibit slavery in the territories.)

Mother Files Religion Case

The Illinois religious instruction case was filed by Mrs. Vashti McCollum, wife of a University of Illinois professor and mother of three sons. She sought unsuccessfully to ban such education in Champaign public schools.

Religious education classes were established there through an association of representatives of the Jewish, Roman Catholic and Protestant faiths.

The high court likewise will decide in the new term whether it will review a Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision that the Kennett Township School Board may refuse to pay for hauling pupils to a Catholic parochial school. The board now pays bus fares for students attending public schools.

The high tribunal last term ruled that a township may legally pay bus fares for parochial school pupils, but it did not say that they must do so when requested.

ROBBED OF GEMS—Mrs. Sari Gabor Hilton (above), blonde "Miss Hungary of 1930," told New York City police she was robbed of jewelry valued at between $600,000 and $700,000 by a man who threatened to shoot her and her six-month-old daughter in their penthouse home. She is the former wife of Multi-Millionaire Hotel Owner Conrad Hilton.

Russia Expected To Spurn Balkans Case Compromise

Vishinsky To Speak To U. N. Group Today

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 5 (AP) — Compromise efforts in United Nations debate over Greece appeared headed for defeat today with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky reported ready to reject anything short of full Russian demands.

Vishinsky was slated to address the Assembly's 57-nation Political Committee tomorrow on the heels of tentative American acceptance of a French conciliation proposal. Vishinsky was understood to be prepared to turn aside this suggestion on the grounds that it left out two key points of the Russian plan —evacuation of foreign personnel from Greece and United Nations supervision of the American aid program.

French Proposal

The French plan provides for omitting any direct findings that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria have supported guerrillas and fomented border unrest as provided in the American resolution. The resolution still would call for an on-the-spot United Nations commission to study frontier incidents.

In agreeing to "explore" the plan, the United States suggested that it might be well to ask the three Soviet satellites whether they would co-operate with such a border group.

The Russian answer was expected to be a renewed demand for inclusion of the troop evacuation and economic supervision points and stipulation that the commission have powers to look into the operation of the present Greek government.

Soviet Strings Out Debate

Soviet tactics continued to call for stringing out the debate as long as possible in the hope of cutting into the United States' voting support. Vishinsky was expected to speak at length and a source close to the Russian leader estimated that the actual balloting on the resolutions would not come before next week.

The Assembly made tentative plans to go back into plenary session Wednesday in another effort to break the deadlock between the Soviet Ukraine and India on election of a successor to Poland on the Security Council.

Demands Grain Markets Boost Down Payment

Calls For Eggless, Poultryless Days

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—President Truman tonight asked all Americans to pledge themselves not to eat meat on Tuesdays and to abstain from poultry or eggs on Thursdays.

Mr. Truman, in a broadcast from the White House, announced that the government will "demand of the grain exchanges" that they increase their down-payment requirements on grain to at least one-third.

Also, Charles Luckman, chairman of the President's Citizens Food Committee, announced that the distilling industry, at a meeting here Wednesday, will be ask to shut down completely for 60 days. That would be in addition to the 50 per cent curtailment of grain use already pledged by about 60 per cent of the industry.

Mr. Truman, in sounding the demand on the grain markets, declared that the cost of living "must not be a football to be kicked about by gamblers in grain." If the grain exchanges refuse to make the margin change, "the government may find it necessary to limit the amount of trading," the President said.

As additional sacrifices to buttress his aid-for-Europe campaign, launched formally with tonight's speeches, Mr. Truman asked every family to "save a slice of bread every day" and asked public eating places to serve bread and butter only on request.

Luckman Asks Pledges

"The battle to save food in the United States is the battle to save our own prosperity and to save the free countries of Western Europe. Our self-denial will serve us in good stead in the years to come," he said.

Mr. Truman's message was preceded by that of Luckman, who requested that meatless Tuesdays and eggless and poultryless Thursdays be "observed for the duration of this emergency."

"This same pledge will be secured from hotels, schools, restaurants, cafeterias, roadside diners, factory canteens, railroad dining cars — wherever America eats," Luckman said.

Luckman also disclosed that:

1. A program is underway to reduce the amount of grain fed by farmers to livestock;

2. That he will ask on Wednesday a 60-day emergency shutdown "at the earliest possible moment" of the entire distilling industry.

3. That the government will immediately begin preparing and distributing recipes to save money, wheat and meat.

4. The nation's brewers will be asked to make a greater cut in grain usage than they proposed last night.

The presidential appeal—prepared for broadcast on the four national networks and for the first time transmitted by television from the White House—was reinforced by urgent messages from Secretary of State Marshall, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and Secretary of Commerce Harriman.

Marshall said that "food is a vital factor in our foreign policy" and can prevent a threatened "European collapse" which he said in turn could damage America. He asked that all citizens "tighten our belts—clean our plates—push ourselves away from the table."

Anderson Makes Appeal

The Western European countries, said Anderson, are victims of a "combination of bad circumstances almost without parallel in farming history x x x. Food is the cornerstone of their reconstruction. And we can—we will—supply it."

Said Harriman: "Even more than our natural sympathy is involved in this great appeal. Our peace and our prosperity—our very system of free life—are at stake."

Mr. Truman declared that the food-saving program gives every citizen the opportunity "to make a contribution to peace."

"An essential requirement of lasting peace in the world is the restoration of the countries of Western Europe as free, self-supporting democracies," Mr. Truman said.

Round-The-World Fliers Land At Amoy, China

SHANGHAI, Oct. 5—(AP)—Two Americans on a leisurely around-the-world flight in light planes ran into 60-mile-an-hour head winds and had to land at Amoy, only one-third of the way on their 900-mile course from Hong Kong to Shanghai, the China National Aviation Corporation reported tonight.

Elizabeth Will Promise To "Love, Cherish And Obey" Lt. Mountbatten

LONDON, Oct. 5 (AP) — Princess Elizabeth will promise to "love, cherish and obey" Lt. Philip Mountbatten at their November 20 wedding, Buckingham Palace announced tonight.

The Princess declined a chance to skip the word "obey." It is omitted in an alternative marriage service used in some Church of England ceremonies but not recognized by Parliament.

The palace said the form of solemnization of matrimony in the Book of Common Prayer will be used.

The rest of the service will "follow the form used at the marriage of the King and Queen in 1923."

The Archbishop of Canterbury and the Dean of Westminster will be the chief officiating clergymen at the Westminster Abbey ceremony. The Archbishop of York will read the address.

The wedding will bring to London the greatest array of royalty since the coronation of King George VI and his queen more than 10 years ago.

An announcement from Stockholm that Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf and Crown Princess Louise, of Sweden, would attend was the first corroboration of unofficial reports that members of at least six reigning families of Europe had been invited.

Others who probably will attend, authoritative quarters say, are Princess Juliana, of Holland; Prince Bernhard, Crown Prince Olaf and Princess Martha, of Norway; Prince Charles, of Belgium, and representatives of the Danish royal family. King Paul, of the Hellenes, a cousin of Elizabeth's betrothed Philip Mountbatten, has been invited, but the Greek political situation may keep him away.

Negro Fails In Attempt To Revolutionize Crime

CHICAGO, Oct. 5—(AP)—An unarmed negro walked into a North Clark Street cafe last night and handed the cashier this note:

"Madam, this is a holdup. xxxx On your shoulders rests the responsibility for the aversion of a tragedy. Speech may be sober but silence is golden."

The note then ordered the cashier, Miss Frances Kanda, to fill with cash a cigar box handed to her.

Miss Kanda silently walked into a back room and called police.

Detectives jailed the negro without charge. They said he identified himself as Lester Elvin Brown, 26, a pinsetter in a bowling alley and a doctor of philosophy from Langston (Okla.) University, and told them:

"I was just trying to revolutionize criminal methods."

Labor Act, Only Six Weeks Old, Faces Series Of Tests

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 — (AP) — The Taft-Hartley Act is only six weeks old today but already it is surrounded by a series of tests that will have important bearing on its future administration.

Foremost among these cases—because the point has caused such a furor with the unions—is one questioning whether the new labor law requires top AFL and CIO officers to file loyalty pledges. This, however, is only one of several.

The AFL and CIO leaders say they don't have to submit the pledges disclaiming Communism. Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, says they do. A case squarely testing the issue now is before the five man NLRB itself with a decision expected soon.

Other cases involving Taft-Hartley Act provisions in the mill include:

1. Two separate federal court actions brought by Denham against unions in which he invoked the new ban against the secondary boycott (refusal by one group of employes to work for an employer in an effort to force settlement of a dispute involving another group of employers).

A court hearing in one of these actions, directed against the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, is set for next Tuesday at Syracuse, N. Y. A hearing in the other, against an AFL Teamsters Union local, is fixed for October 13 at Chattanooga, Tenn.

2. The first complaint against a union for alleged failure to bargain with an employer. Denham brought it against the Baltimore local of the AFL International Typographical Union. An NLRB hearing on this complaint has been set back to October 14 at the union's request.

3. A back-log of nearly 4,000 cases —pending before the Taft-Hartley Act became law on August 22 but not yet finally determined by the NLRB.

The main question now in most of these back-log cases is this: Should they be settled under terms of the new law or the terms of the Wagner Act?

Government Order Fails To End Chile Coal Strike

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 5—(AP)—Most of Chile's coal mines were idle today, with about 20,000 workers on strike despite a government order that work be resumed under a new and higher wage scale.

The government, which temporarily took over the mines, gave the workers all day in which to decide whether they would accept the government-decreed increase. Union leaders said the men would consider the proposals.

Motoring Curtailed

MADRID, Oct. 5 (AP) — The Spanish government today decreed that all private automobiles with over 18 horsepower would be allowed to operate only four days a week, because of a gasoline shortage, while cars with less power would be permitted to circulate five days.

C. Of C. Urges Vigorous Competition As One Way To Prevent Depression

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 — (AP) — The United States Chamber of Commerce suggested tonight that one way to prevent depressions is to rely on vigorous business competition "to pass the benefits of progress on to labor and others as consumers."

It also said that "alternating booms and depressions would be mitigated by prevention of wage spirals."

Offering a series of proposals on how it felt business labor and the government could co-operate to keep the economic machine in high gear, the Chamber of Commerce declared:

"At times, selectiv downward adjustment of both prices and wages may be desirable. Demand condition should be the guide."

The Chamber's suggestions were advanced by the organization following a study by its committee on economic policy.

Suggested ideas for business included:

That if a substantial number of large industries maintain a fairly uniform rate of annual investment, including maintenance and replacement "this in itself would help to place a cushion under depression."

When demand drops off for a product, "a careful examination of costs, prices and type of product may indicate possibilities of tapping new but lower levels of demand, thereby mitigating recession tendency."

"Credit policies should avoid undue expansion in any line, and especially undue expansion of credit simultaneously in many lines or in the whole economy."

Approval Of Tax Revision Bill Is Seen By McClellan

Arkansas Democrat Claims GOP Support

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—(AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) predicted today that Congress will approve a tax revision bill early in the next session including his "community property amendment."

The Arkansas Democrat told a reporter that Republican leaders had promised him their support for favorable action on this provision. It would allow husbands and wives to split income tax purposes. This results in considerable savings in taxes upon medium and upper bracket incomes for married couples.

"I am going to urge Republican leaders to bring out a tax revision bill ahead of any tax reduction measure," McClellan said. "There is very little controversy about the revisions and we could pass that in a hurry."

Lost Senate Floor Battle

At the present time couples in 13 states and Hawaii have the "community property" advantages.

"I have talked with Treasury Secretary Snyder and his tax experts about this," McClelland said. "The House Ways and Means Committee has unanimously approved it and I can't see how it can be refused now."

McClellan made a stiff Senate floor battle to have the community property amendment written into the two tax bills pushed through the first session of the present Congress, but lost. Several Senate Republicans at that time pledged support later.

President Truman vetoed both Republican attempts to cut taxes and he was sustained first by the House and then by the Senate. But Republicans already have served notice they will try again as soon as Congress meets.

McClellan said there is strong Senate support for two other tax changes:

1. Elimination of so-called "double taxation" upon the dividends of corporation.

Would Increase Exemption

2. Increase of the present $500 personal exemption to $600.

The senator said that at present many corporations "must pay as high as 38 per cent upon any profits from which dividends are paid and then the individual receiving the dividend is taxed on this again."

He recalled that the increase in personal exemptions to $600 lost by a narrow 43-47 margin in the Senate earlier this year.

Congressional tax experts say approval of the "community property" tax provision would reduce government revenues by about $850,000,000 while the $600 exemption would lop off another $1,900,000,000.

Crash Into "Drive Carefully" Sign Fatal To Cyclist

WAKEFIELD, Pa., Oct. 5—(AP)—Carl B. Boon, 17, Peach Bottom, Pa., was killed when his motorcycle failed to make a curve and crashed into a highway sign.

The sign read:

"You are entering Pennsylvania—drive carefully."

Fireman Is Killed In Train Wreck

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 5 (AP)—The locomotive of the nine-car Blue Bonnet passenger train, en route to St. Louis from Dallas, left the rails and overturned near here today resulting in death to the fireman and severe injury to the engineer.

None of the passengers or other crew members was hurt.

The train was operated jointly by the Frisco and Katy Railroads.

Railroad spokesmen identified the fireman as Leroy A. Wright, 33, Muskogee, Okla., and the engineer as Harry J. Ferguson, 67, also of Muskogee, who was removed to a Springfield hospital suffering severe scalds and possible internal injuries.

The accident occurred at 6:20 a. m. as the train rounded a curve, railroad men said.

Saarlanders Favor Union With France

SAARBRUECKEN, Monday, Oct. 6 (AP)—Saarlanders yesterday elected a Parliament pledged to make their coal and industrial basin an economic part of France, returns showed early today.

The returns indicated that the German-speaking population of the Saar, which 12 years ago voted to join Nazi Germany, gave a vote of more than nine to one for three political parties which support economic union with France.

Only two of the men elected to the Saarland Assembly were from the Communist Party, which opposed union. The other 48 were from the three parties favorable to such a move. The Communists got only 8.4 per cent of the vote.

Chubby Heiress Has Found New Heart Interest

SANTA ANA, Calif., Oct. 5—(INS)—Beulah Louise Overell told International News Service tonight that she had found a new heart interest and was "definitely through" with George R. (Bud) Gollum.

The chubby heiress disclosed her new romance at a party given for newsmen at the home of her attorney, Otto A. Jacobs. However, she refused to identify the man.

Elizabeth Will Promise To "Love, Cherish And Obey" Lt. Mountbatten

LONDON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth will promise to "love, cherish and obey" Lt. Philip Mountbatten at their November 20 wedding, Buckingham Palace announced tonight.

The Princess declined a chance to skip the word "obey." It is omitted in an alternative marriage service used in some Church of England ceremonies but not recognized by Parliament.

The palace said the form of solemnization of matrimony in the Book of Common Prayer will be used.

The rest of the service will "follow the form used at the marriage of the King and Queen in 1923."

The Archbishop of Canterbury and the Dean of Westminster will be the chief officiating clergymen at the Westminster Abbey ceremony. The Archbishop of York will read the address.

The wedding will bring to London the greatest array of royalty since the coronation of King George VI and his queen more than 10 years ago.

An announcement from Stockholm that Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf and Crown Princess Louise, of Sweden, would attend was the first corroboration of unofficial reports that members of at least six reigning families of Europe had been invited.

Others who probably will attend, authoritative quarters say, are Princess Juliana, of Holland; Prince Bernhard, Crown Prince Olaf and Princess Martha, of Norway; Prince Charles, of Belgium, and representatives of the Danish royal family. King Paul, of the Hellenes, a cousin of Elizabeth's betrothed Philip Mountbatten, has been invited, but the Greek political situation may keep him away.

Negro Fails In Attempt To Revolutionize Crime

CHICAGO, Oct. 5—(AP)—An unarmed negro walked into a North Clark Street cafe last night and handed the cashier this note:

"Madam, this is a holdup. xxxx On your shoulders rests the responsibility for the aversion of a tragedy. Speech may be sober but silence is golden."

The note then ordered the cashier, Miss Frances Kanda, to fill with cash a cigar box handed to her.

Miss Kanda silently walked into a back room and called police.

Detectives jailed the negro without charge. They said he identified himself as Lester Elvin Brown, 26, a pinsetter in a bowling alley and a doctor of philosophy from Langston (Okla.) University, and told them:

"I was just trying to revolutionize criminal methods."

Anti-American Group Is Formed By Communists

Organization Hopes To Wreck Aid Plan

MOSCOW, Oct. 5 (AP)—A new Communist international organization was announced today to fight the Marshall plan and "United States imperialism."

Communist leaders of nine countries formed the organization. It is the first such grouping to which the Russians have pledged support since they declared the Comintern dead in 1943.

It is aimed at uniting the chief Communist strength in Europe.

Pravda, the official Communist newspaper here, as well as Communist organs in other European capitals, said Communist leaders from the nine countries met "somewhere in Poland" last month, appraised the world as split into Russian and American orbits, and ordered an "information bureau" set up to co-ordinate activities.

The nine countries whose Communist forces gathered were Russia, France, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Hungary.

Russia sent two of its Politburo leaders, and it can be taken for granted that their report to the conference was the principal basis for a "statement" of 1,000 words announced today.

Headquarters In Belgrade

In effect, the Communists served notice of their intention to wreck, if possible, the Marshall plan for European aid as well as the Truman Doctrine on totalitarianism, and any form of what they called United States imperialism.

The "information bureau" is to be established in Premier Marshal Tito's capital, Belgrade. Its establishment appears certain to lead to an intensification of the fight on United States policy in Europe.

Pravda said a joint resolution adopted at the conference pictured the world as split into camps led by the Societ Union and the United States. It hit out against what was called United States "expansionism" and "imperialistic lackeys." It placed in the latter category such European leaders at Prime Minister Attlee of Britain, Premier Paul Ramadier and Socialist Leader Leon Blum of France and Dr. Kurt Schumaker, leader of the Social Democratic Party in Germany.

They were assailed as "traitors to the working class."

The chief danger for the working class, said the resolution, was underlying its own strength and overestimating the strength of the "imperialist" camp. It scoffed at the idea that there would be another war, asserting that the strength of the factions opposing a new conflict were so great "the aggressors' plans will fail completely."

Politburo Represented

The Russian delegation to the Polish meeting was made up of Col. Andre Zdhanov and Georgi M. Malenkov, of the Politburo (the Political Bureau of the Central Committee of the All-Union Communist Party).

Zdhanov was among the Communists who signed the resolution in Moscow in May, 1943, calling for dissolution of the Comintern, the international organization founded in 1919 by Lenin to organize the working class parties of the world. (Dissolution of the Comintern was hailed by many Allied leaders as heralding greater co-operation between Russia and the western world. Premier Stalin declared the move would clear the way for "future organization of a companionship of nations based upon equality.")

Supreme Court Will Launch Its New Term Today

Tribunal Will Rule On Explosive Issues

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP) — The Supreme Court tomorrow opens its new term facing potentially explosive issues involving (1) negro housing and (2) religious education in public schools.

The nine justices have agreed to rule for the first time on the validity of agreements made by white owners of real estate that they will not sell or lease property to negroes.

Also up for a decision for the first time by the high tribunal is a question whether religious education classes held in public schools should be banned as violative of the constitution.

An Illinois mother who called herself a "rationalistic or atheist" said such classes were an unconstitutional union of church and state.

Two negro couples who purchased houses, Orsel McGhee and Minnie S. McGhee in Detroit and J. D. Shelley and Ethel Lee Shelley in St. Louis, asked the court to nullify property owners' agreements under which the couples were prevented from using the homes. They said others face the same situation in large cities from coast to coast.

Dred Scott Case Cited

Lower courts in the past have held that such agreements are private matters which are not the acts of the state.

Attorneys for the Detroit and St. Louis negroes asked the Supreme Court to declare that when state courts enforce such agreements the state becomes a party to the action and the enforcement becomes state acts. Such state acts, they assert, violate the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Some lawyers have commented that the legal situation now is about the same as in the famous Dred Scott decision of pre-Civil War time. They argue that an attempt is being made to solve a major part of a racial problem by judicial methods, rather than legislative.

(In the Dred Scott case the Supreme Court decided that Scott, a negro slave, not being a citizen, could not sue in a federal court. It also ruled that Congress could not prohibit slavery in the territories.)

Mother Files Religion Case

The Illinois religious instruction case was filed by Mrs. Vashti McCollum, wife of a University of Illinois professor and mother of three sons. She sought unsuccessfully to ban such education in Champaign public schools.

Religious education classes were established there through an association of representatives of the Jewish, Roman Catholic and Protestant faiths.

The high court likewise will decide in the new term whether it will review a Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision that the Kennett Township School Board may refuse to pay for hauling pupils to a Catholic parochial school. The board now pays bus fares for students attending public schools.

The high tribunal last term ruled that a township may legally pay bus fares for parochial school pupils, but it did not say that they must do so when requested.

ROBBED OF GEMS—Mrs. Sari Gabor Hilton (above), blonde "Miss Hungary of 1930," told New York City police she was robbed of jewelry valued at between $600,000 and $700,000 by a man who threatened to shoot her and her six-month-old daughter in their penthouse home. She is the former wife of Multi-Millionaire Hotel Owner Conrad Hilton.

Russia Expected To Spurn Balkans Case Compromise

Vishinsky To Speak To U. N. Group Today

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 5 (AP) — Compromise efforts in United Nations debate over Greece appeared headed for defeat today with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky reported ready to reject anything short of full Russian demands.

Vishinsky was slated to address the Assembly's 57-nation Political Committee tomorrow on the heels of tentative American acceptance of a French conciliation proposal. Vishinsky was understood to be prepared to turn aside this suggestion on the grounds that it left out two key points of the Russian plan—evacuation of foreign personnel from Greece and United Nations supervision of the American aid program.

French Proposal

The French plan provides for omitting any direct findings that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria have supported guerrillas and fomented border unrest as provided in the American resolution. The resolution still would call for an on-the-spot United Nations commission to study frontier incidents.

In agreeing to "explore" the plan, the United States suggested that it might be well to ask the three Soviet satellites whether they would co-operate with such a border group.

The Russian answer was expected to be a renewed demand for inclusion of the troop evacuation and economic supervision points and stipulation that the commission have powers to look into the operation of the present Greek government.

Soviet Strings Out Debate

Soviet tactics continued to call for stringing out the debate as long as possible in the hope of cutting into the United States' voting support. Vishinsky was expected to speak at length and a source close to the Russian leader estimated that the actual balloting on the resolutions would not come before next week.

The Assembly made tentative plans to go back into plenary session Wednesday in another effort to break the deadlock between the Soviet Ukraine and India on election of a successor to Poland on the Security Council.

Round-The-World Fliers Land At Amoy, China

SHANGHAI, Oct. 5—(AP)—Two Americans on a leisurely around-the-world flight in light planes ran into 60-mile-an-hour head winds and had to land at Amoy, only one-third of the way on their 900-mile course from Hong Kong to Shanghai, the China National Aviation Corporation reported tonight.

Demands Grain Markets Boost Down Payment

Calls For Eggless, Poultryless Days

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—President Truman tonight asked all Americans to pledge themselves not to eat meat on Tuesdays and to abstain from poultry or eggs on Thursdays.

Mr. Truman, in a broadcast from the White House, announced that the government will "demand of the grain exchanges" that they increase their down-payment requirements on grain to at least one-third.

Also, Charles Luckman, chairman of the President's Citizens Food Committee, announced that the distilling industry, at a meeting here Wednesday, will be ask to shut down completely for 60 days. That would be in addition to the 50 per cent curtailment of grain use already pledged by about 60 per cent of the industry.

Mr. Truman, in sounding the demand on the grain markets, declared that the cost of living "must not be a football to be kicked about by gamblers in grain." If the grain exchanges refuse to make the margin change, "the government may find it necessary to limit the amount of trading," the President said.

As additional sacrifices to buttress his aid-for-Europe campaign, launched formally with tonight's speeches, Mr. Truman asked every family to "save a slice of bread every day" and asked public eating places to serve bread and butter only on request.

Luckman Asks Pledges

"The battle to save food in the United States is the battle to save our own prosperity and to save the free countries of Western Europe. Our self-denial will serve us in good stead in the years to come," he said.

Mr. Truman's message was preceded by that of Luckman, who requested that meatless Tuesdays and eggless and poultryless Thursdays be "observed for the duration of this emergency."

"This same pledge will be secured from hotels, schools, restaurants, cafeterias, roadside diners, factory canteens, railroad dining cars — wherever America eats," Luckman said.

Luckman also disclosed that:

1. A program is underway to reduce the amount of grain fed by farmers to livestock;

2. That he will ask on Wednesday a 60-day emergency shutdown "at the earliest possible moment" of the entire distilling industry.

3. That the government will immediately begin preparing and distributing recipes to save money, wheat and meat.

4. The nation's brewers will be asked to make a greater cut in grain usage than they proposed last night.

The presidential appeal—prepared for broadcast on the four national networks and for the first time transmitted by television from the White House—was reinforced by urgent messages from Secretary of State Marshall, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and Secretary of Commerce Harriman.

Marshall said that "food is a vital factor in our foreign policy" and can prevent a threatened "European collapse" which he said in turn could damage America. He asked that all citizens "tighten our belts—clean our plates—push ourselves away from the table."

Anderson Makes Appeal

The Western European countries, said Anderson, are victims of a "combination of bad circumstances almost without parallel in farming history x x x. Food is the cornerstone of their reconstruction. And we can—we will—supply it."

Said Harriman: "Even more than our natural sympathy is involved in this great appeal. Our peace and our prosperity—our very system of free life—are at stake."

Mr. Truman declared that the food-saving program gives every citizen the opportunity "to make a contribution to peace."

"An essential requirement of lasting peace in the world is the restoration of the countries of Western Europe as free, self-supporting democracies," Mr. Truman said.

Labor Act, Only Six Weeks Old, Faces Series Of Tests

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 — (AP) — The Taft-Hartley Act is only six weeks old today but already it is surrounded by a series of tests that will have important bearing on its future administration.

Foremost among these cases—because the point has caused such a furor with the unions—is one questioning whether the new labor law requires top AFL and CIO officers to file loyalty pledges. This, however, is only one of several.

The AFL and CIO leaders say they don't have to submit the pledges disclaiming Communism. Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, says they do. A case squarely testing the issue now is before the five man NLRB itself with a decision expected soon.

Other cases involving Taft-Hartley Act provisions in the mill include:

1. Two separate federal court actions brought by Denham against unions in which he invoked the new ban against the secondary boycott (refusal by one group of employes to work for an employer in an effort to force settlement of a dispute involving another group of employers).

A court hearing in one of these actions, directed against the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, is set for next Tuesday at Syracuse, N. Y. A hearing in the other, against an AFL Teamsters Union local, is fixed for October 13 at Chattanooga, Tenn.

2. The first complaint against a union for alleged failure to bargain with an employer. Denham brought it against the Baltimore local of the AFL International Typographical Union. An NLRB hearing on this complaint has been set back to October 14 at the union's request.

3. A back-log of nearly 4,000 cases—pending before the Taft-Hartley Act became law on August 22 but not yet finally determined by the NLRB.

The main question now in most of these back-log cases is this: Should they be settled under terms of the new law or the terms of the Wagner Act?

Government Order Fails To End Chile Coal Strike

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 5—(AP)—Most of Chile's coal mines were idle today, with about 20,000 workers on strike despite a government order that work be resumed under a new and higher wage scale.

The government, which temporarily took over the mines, gave the workers all day in which to decide whether they would accept the government-decreed increase. Union leaders said the men would consider the proposals.

Motoring Curtailed

MADRID, Oct. 5 (AP) — The Spanish government today decreed that all private automobiles with over 18 horsepower would be allowed to operate only four days a week, because of a gasoline shortage, while cars with less power would be permitted to circulate five days.

C. Of C. Urges Vigorous Competition As One Way To Prevent Depression

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 — (AP) — The United States Chamber of Commerce suggested tonight that one way to prevent depressions is to rely on vigorous business competition "to pass the benefits of progress on to labor and others as consumers."

It also said that "alternating booms and depressions would be mitigated by prevention of wage spirals."

Offering a series of proposals on how it felt business labor and the government could co-operate to keep the economic machine in high gear, the Chamber of Commerce declared:

"At times, selectiv downward adjustment of both prices and wages may be desirable. Demand condition should be the guide."

The Chamber's suggestions were advanced by the organization following a study by its committee on economic policy.

Suggested ideas for business included:

That if a substantial number of large industries maintain a fairly uniform rate of annual investment, including maintenance and replacement "this in itself would help to place a cushion under depression."

When demand drops off for a product, "a careful examination of costs, prices and type of product may indicate possibilities of tapping new but lower levels of demand, thereby mitigating recession tendency."

"Credit policies should avoid undue expansion in any line, and especially undue expansion of credit simultaneously in many lines or in the whole economy."

Sales Tax Heads Making Tour Of Western Maryland

Speak Here Tuesday; In Oakland Tonight

In order to clarify questions concerning the state's new retail sales tax, State Comptroller James J. Lacy, Walter E. Kennedy, chief of the sales tax division, and his assistant, W. Randall Barrett, will begin a speaking tour of Western Maryland towns today, with their first appearance in Oakland tonight, and an open meeting here tomorrow night.

Harold W. Smith, Chamber of Commerce secretary, has charge of the meeting here, which will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the City Hall auditorium.

Lacy and his aides also plan to speak at Hagerstown Wednesday night and Frederick on Thursday night. In addition to these public meetings, they will visit Westernport, Frostburg, Hancock, Boonsboro, Middletown and Brunswick. The group has been unable to accept all invitations to speak at meetings, Lacy said, due to the press of state business in Annapolis and Baltimore.

Monetary returns for August showed that $1,920,231 was received from 38,305 returns. In July $1,683,862 was filed in 39,280 returns.

Out-of-state merchants paid Maryland $47,719 in sales tax collections in August, Kennedy reported last night from Baltimore.

The counties accounted for $742,731, and Baltimore merchants paid the other $1,129,781 of the $1,920,231 August total, he said.

State Comptroller James J. Lacy and Deputy Comptroller Joseph O'C. McCusker, declared it would be impossible to estimate proceeds from the tax accurately until the economic situation becomes more stable. Both recommended that no change be made in the sales tax structure for at least a year.

Following is a breakdown of August receipts from the tax: Allegany, $66,157; Anne Arundel, 49,390; Baltimore county, 108,017; Calvert, 9,551; Caroline, 11,470; Carroll, 23,848; Cecil, 16,330; Charles, 12,729; Dorchester, 14,664; Frederick, 47,542; Garrett, 9,507; Harford, 26,416; Howard, 9,448; Kent, 10,744; Montgomery, 56,433; Prince Georges, 56,636; Queen Annes, 7,553; St. Mary's, 11,885; Somerset, 8,139; Talbot, 18,003; Washington, 71,149; Wicomico, 57,286; Worcester, $9,539.

DEATHS

MRS. AGNES DIFFENBAUGH

Mrs. Agnes Dean Diffenbaugh, 73, died yesterday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock at her home in Corriganville after an illness of five years.

She was the widow of Elmer E. Diffenbaugh, former C. and P. Railroad worker, who died in December, 1946.

Mrs. Diffenbaugh was born in Green Ridge, a daughter of the late Leonard and Barbara Slider Dean and was a member of Corriganville Methodist Church.

Surviving are one brother, Charles H. Dean Washington, Pa., and several nieces and nephews in the Corriganville section.

Mr. Grose, who had been suffering from a heart condition, was found dead in bed Saturday morning at his home, 122 South Liberty Street.

He was a native of this city and a son of the late George W. and Anna Connor Grose. At one time, he was affiliated with his father and brother, Clarence E. Grose, the Dingle, in the tombstone business here.

Mr. Grose was a member of Cumberland Nest No. 90, Order of Owls.

Also surviving are his widow, Mrs. Lillian Friend Grose; two children, Mrs. Walter Shaffer, Hyndman, Pa., and Mrs. Ralph Croyle, this city, and eight grandchildren.

Miss Ann Sloan To Speak In Barton

An address on matters concerning child welfare in the Barton area will be delivered by Miss Anne Sloan, Lonaconing, chairman of Child Welfare for the American Legion's Department of Maryland, at a meeting of American Legion Auxiliary, Barton Post 189, tonight.

This will be Miss Sloan's first official visit since the state Legion convention. She will be introduced by Mrs. Mollie Kiddy, president of the Barton Auxiliary.

Plans to assist in the anniversary celebration of the Barton Legion Post Wednesday night at the Legion home will be discussed by auxiliary members.

Porch Resigns Position With Brotherhood

Harry A. Porch, 9 North Chase Street, general chairman of the grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad system for the past eight years, has announced his resignation to assume new duties as vice-president of the national organization of the Brotherhood.

Porch will be succeeded by H. A. Curtis, Wheeling, W. Va., who will take over general chairman of the grievance committee duties temporarily, until the election November 3.

Widely known among railroaders along the system, Porch came here eight years ago to assume the office of chairman. He had formerly been a general field organizer, with headquarters at Pittsburgh, Pa. He is a native of Philadelphia.

While in Cumberland, he took an active interest in civic affairs. He served as chairman of the Local Ration Board during a period of World War II. He is a member of the American Legion, Forty and Eight, Shriners, and was active in the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference.

Porch was elected to his new office at the national convention in San Francisco, Calif., in August, and is to assume his new duties November 1.

Since September 22, he has been a patient at Memorial Hospital but plans to leave there sometime this week, and then rest until November 1, when he will leave to take over his new position. There is a chance that he may be able to set up his office and headquarters in Cumberland, he indicated, stating he has many friends here and would like to remain a resident.

Legion Launches

Commander Allen said he is especially interested in Mountain District declaring, "you will see a lot of me up this way, and I hope to visit every Mountain District Post, sometime during the year."

News Briefs

Noel R. Michell, an official of the Akron, Canton and Youngstown Railroad will speak on "An American Philosophy" at the meeting of the Tri-State Traffic Club Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

A Cumberlander, DeSales F. McDade, Seaman First Class, son of Mrs. Clara McDade, 316 Baltimore Avenue, is now serving aboard the landing ship tank, USS LST 1126, which is holding individual ship exercises out of San Diego in preparation for amphibious exercises to be held off the coast of California next month.

Joseph D'Angelo, fireman, second class, USN, son of Mrs. May Bell D'Angelo, 136 West Third Street, Cumberland, is serving aboard the heavy cruiser USS Albany, which is now engaged in training Naval reserves on cruises in the North Atlantic.

The Ladies Aid Society of Allegany Hospital will hold its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Nurses Home on Decatur Street. Mrs. George Lyming will be hostess.

Purple Heart Chapter To Discuss Reburial

Mountain Chapter, Military Order of the Purple Heart, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Purple Heart Center, Greene Street, according to Adjutant George Leib.

Plans for reburial of returning soldier dead will be discussed and the chapter membership will consider the possibility of organizing a firing squad and Purple Heart funeral detail.

Hearing Set After Two-Car Collision

Marshall Webster Imes, Flintstone, and Herman E. Ridinger, RFD 1, Flintstone, have been charged with reckless driving, according to State Trooper William Baker, as the result of a collision at Pleasant Grove, six miles east of the city on Route 40, Saturday.

Trooper Baker said Imes was traveling west on Route 40 when he stopped, partly on the road and partly on the shoulder, to discharge a passenger. Ridinger's auto crashed against the rear end of Imes' car. Damage to both vehicles is placed at $225. The two men are to be heard in Trial Magistrates Court today.

Baker said, Darrell Francis Saunders, 217 Beall Street, has forfeited bond of $10.75 in Westernport, for exceeding 50 miles an hour on Route 36, last Wednesday.

"Twelfth Night" Scores Hit Here

Barter Theatre players, appearing at Allegany High School auditorium Saturday night in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," pleased a small but enthusiastic audience so well, they returned for five curtain calls, something that has not been seen here in many years.

Presented to Cumberland theatregoers by the Junior Association of Commerce in the cultural interests of the commuity, "Twelfth Night" was the first in a series of four plays to come here this season, featuring the famous Barter Players.

The company, traveling by bus, is one of three on current tour, since the Barter Summer Theatre closed for the season at Abingdon, Va., last month. This particular unit will return here for the presentation of "The Hasty Heart," March 20; and those who saw the players perform here Saturday, in Shakespeare's three-century old comedy, are anxious to see them in a more modern drama.

Labor Wants Members On Ray Report Study

Allegany County labor organizations served notice last week that they expect to be represented on the committee which will make a study of the recommendations made by Dr. Joseph M. Ray of the University of Maryland for improvements in city government here.

William Boyd Coleman, vice president of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, said that group will contact Mayor Thomas S. Post in order to make sure that labor is represented on the group to make the study.

Union Approves Traffic Changes

The Cumberland Police Department will receive a pat on the back from Local 924, Dairy Workers Union, AFL, for steps the department has taken recently to alleviate traffic congestion in downtown Cumberland, Jack F. Moore, president, reported over the weekend.

He said the secretary of the union has been instructed to draft a letter to the Mayor and City Council commending them for the traffic changes which have been placed into effect and to ask that the changes be made permanent.

Union officials said members of the union report that deliveries in the downtown area have been considerably easier since parking has been prohibited in certain areas.

A meeting will be held this week of the committee named to draw up a new contract for the union. Included are Joseph Garlitz, Ernest Screen, Aubra Beeghly, Robert Lippold, Harry Beall, Alex Wilson and William Ritchie.

The report of the committee will be submitted for ratification at the November meeting before being given to the negotiations committee.

K. Of P. Lodge Plans Initiation Tonight

Cumberland Lodge No. 60, Knights of Pythias, will initiate a class of five candidates into the rank of knight at ceremonies to be held in the lodge hall, South Mechanic Street, tonight at 8 o'clock.

Robert C. Wade, degree master, will be in charge of the initiation service and will be assisted by Odith M. Brotemarkle, supreme representative of the lodge.

Lester C. Murphy, chairman of the social committee, reported that refreshments will be served after the initiation.

Staggs Faces Two State Motor Charges

Daniel W. Staggs, 225 Baltimore Avenue, arrested Saturday night about 10:30 o'clock has been released on bond pending a hearing on two state motor vehicle charges.

Staggs was arrested by City Police J. Carl Stouffer and James W. Brown, following a collision on Johnson Street. Police said Staggs was headed toward the Blue Bridge across the Potomac River and his car collided with one operated by Jesse Elkins, Ridgeley, W. Va.

"You wait...you'll be proud of me, too!" said Harry Green

by DR. CYRIL O. HOULE
Dean, University College
The University of Chicago

Dr. Cyril O. Houle

MORE than 37 million adults in America wish they were going on with their educations : : : Over 28 million are doing it!

They've re-discovered the thrill of new ideas, new opportunities. They are better parents; they can take better jobs, they have more to talk about!

Harry Green and his wife Eleanor (I am changing their names, of course) are two of these twenty-eight millions who are making better lives for themselves and for their whole family. They got tired of feeling they were in a rut, worried as their children's new interests left them behind: The Greens decided to do something about it!

Each Develops a New Talent

Harry felt that to get ahead at the office; he should know more about accounting. Mrs. Green had always wanted to learn Spanish. And both of them were determined to re-discover good books: So they began to study again; he at night school; she in an afternoon conversation group:

Now they have more interests in common : : : and the children are proud of their wide-awake parents. Harry is doing a better job. And Mrs. Green is dreaming about a vacation trip to Mexico!

"But I'm too old to learn," you may say. On the contrary! Research has proved that it is not youth but practice that keeps minds able to learn: But you have to make a start : : :

This does not mean "going back to school" or memorizing more dates and facts. It means developing our own abilities to the fullest, either by studying something new; or by learning more of a subject we already know something about:

Which of these would you like to study?

1. Social Sciences
2. Nursing
3. Foreign Languages
4. Bookkeeping
5. Dressmaking
6. Philosophy
7. Sculpture
8. Foreign Affairs
9. Chemistry
10. Great Books

There are hundreds more subjects which grown-ups can study, many of them taught free. Ask in your own community about the things which interest you.

Where can you start? There are many places to go in your community. One of the following probably can help: Night schools, University extensions, study-by-mail courses : : : or your church, lodge, union, the place where you work : : : or settlement houses, community centers; discussion groups : : : or, the library. (Ask advice on books to read at home.)

Make a start at what interests you most. It won't cost much. Very likely much of it will be free: If you choose to go to a school or college, don't be afraid of "classes full of kids": : : Your fellow students will probably be as old or older than you are. No family which is planning its happiness can afford not to go on learning : : : Better jobs, better homes, better lives all around, depend on enlarging our horizons by systematic study—especially after we're grown-up!

How to PLAN for Family Happiness

• Planning to go on with your education is only part of sound money planning. You'll be more likely to have enough money on hand when you need it, if you'll follow these simple rules:

FOR TODAY... The first thing, for most families, is to take care of the larger fixed items such as rent, taxes, insurance, mortgage and installment payments, etc.

So start by adding up all your fixed items for the year, divide by 52, and set aside that amount weekly.

Also, every family should have a "rainy day" fund equal to at least four weeks' income. Set aside a little every week until you have that much. Then, you'll know how much you can spend for food, clothing, heat, light, amusements, and so forth.

FOR TOMORROW... We live in a changing world. Family needs and circumstances change . . . living costs . . . taxes. If you have not had your life insurance program reviewed lately, the chances are 2 to 1 that it should be brought up to date.

There are so many ways in which you can use your life insurance, that you should have the life insurance you now own checked to see if it is suited to your needs. This is a service that comes with your life insurance.

The person best equipped to help you with this is the well-trained life insurance agent. Get in touch with your agent, or write your life insurance company. INSTITUTE OF LIFE INSURANCE, 60 East 42nd Street, New York 17, N. Y.

Sales Tax Heads Making Tour Of Western Maryland

Speak Here Tuesday; In Oakland Tonight

In order to clarify questions concerning the state's new retail sales tax, State Comptroller James J. Lacy, Walter E. Kennedy, chief of the sales tax division, and his assistant, W. Randall Barrett, will begin a speaking tour of Western Maryland towns today, with their first appearance in Oakland tonight, and an open meeting here tomorrow night.

Harold W. Smith, Chamber of Commerce secretary, has charge of the meeting here, which will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the City Hall auditorium.

Lacy and his aides also plan to speak at Hagerstown Wednesday night and Frederick on Thursday night. In addition to these public meetings, they will visit Westernport, Frostburg, Hancock, Boonsboro, Middletown and Brunswick. The group has been unable to accept all invitations to speak at meetings, Lacy said, due to the press of state business in Annapolis and Baltimore.

Monetary returns for August showed that $1,920,231 was received from 38,305 returns. In July $1,683,862 was filed in 39,280 returns.

Out-of-state merchants paid Maryland $47,719 in sales tax collections in August, Kennedy reported last night from Baltimore.

The counties accounted for $742,731, and Baltimore merchants paid the other $1,129,781 of the $1,920,231 August total, he said.

State Comptroller James J. Lacy and Deputy Comptroller Joseph O'C. McCusker, declared it would be impossible to estimate proceeds from the tax accurately until the economic situation becomes more stable. Both recommended that no change be made in the sales tax structure for at least a year.

Following is a breakdown of August receipts from the tax: Allegany, $66,157; Anne Arundel, 49,390; Baltimore county, 108,017; Calvert, 9,551; Caroline, 11,470; Carroll, 23,848; Cecil, 16,330; Charles, 12,729; Dorchester, 14,664; Frederick, 47,542; Garrett, 9,507; Harford, 26,416; Howard, 9,448; Kent, 10,744; Montgomery, 56,433; Prince Georges, 56,636; Queen Annes, 7,553; St. Mary's, 11,885; Somerset, 8,139; Talbot, 18,003; Washington, 71,149; Wicomico, 57,286; Worcester, 39,839.

DEATHS

MRS. AGNES DIFFENBAUGH

Mrs. Agnes Dean Diffenbaugh, 73, died yesterday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock at her home in Corriganville after an illness of five years.

She was the widow of Elmer E. Diffenbaugh, former C. and P. Railroad worker, who died in December, 1946.

Mrs. Diffenbaugh was born in Green Ridge, a daughter of the late Leonard and Barbara Slider Dean and was a member of Corriganville Methodist Church.

Surviving are one brother, Charles H. Dean Washington, Pa., and several nieces and nephews in the Corriganville section.

Rev. W. J. Lloyd, pastor, will officiate and burial will be in Cook Mill Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Earl Lepley, Harry Delbrook, Allan Troutman, Allen Korns, Walter Witt and Ted Harclerode.

A lifelong resident of Wellersburg, she was the daughter of the late John and Susan Cramer Witt. She was a member of Evangelical and United Brethren Church.

Surviving are six children, Homer Beal, Wellersburg; Bertha Beal, Cumberland, Md.; Ellsworth Beal, Corrigansville; Mrs. Loretta Greiger, Mt. Savage, Md.; Lester Beal and Miss Ethel Beal, Wellersburg; three brothers, Samuel Witt, Connellsville, Pa.; Noah Witt, Manheim, W. Va.; Norman Witt, Bainbridge, Pa.; two sisters, Mrs. Agnes Bishop and Mrs. Grace Thomas, both of Pittsburgh.

BILLING CHILD RITES

A requiem mass for Paul Joseph Billing, 3-year-old son of George C. and Margaret A. Williams Billing, 419 Columbia Street, who died Saturday morning in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, will be conducted tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, George C. and John F. Billing, and a sister, Margaret A. Billing, all at home.

QUAN INFANT DIES

James Preston Quan, Jr., infant son of James P. and Jessie Marie Meekins Quan, 340 Central Avenue, died Friday in Allegany Hospital.

Also surviving are a sister, Marie Annette Quan, at home, and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meekins, this city.

CLIFTON GROSE RITES

A funeral service for Clifton R. Grose, 59, operator of the Mid-City Parking Lot on South Centre Street, will be conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the George Funeral Home.

Dr. Hixon T. Bowersox, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, will officiate and burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery. Pallbearers will be Lester Deneen, Fred Neus, William Keller, Nathan Hauger, Charles L. Parks and Howard M. Spiker.

Mr. Grose, who had been suffering from a heart condition, was found dead in bed Saturday morning at his home, 122 South Liberty Street.

He was a native of this city and a son of the late George W. and Anna Connor Grose. At one time, he was affiliated with his father and brother, Clarence E. Grose, the Dingle, in the tombstone business here.

Mr. Grose was a member of Cumberland Nest No. 90, Order of Owls.

Also surviving are his widow, Mrs. Lillian Friend Grose; two children, Mrs. Walter Shaffer, Hyndman, Pa., and Mrs. Ralph Croyle, this city, and eight grandchildren.

Miss Ann Sloan To Speak In Barton

An address on matters concerning child welfare in the Barton area will be delivered by Miss Anne Sloan, Lonaconing, chairman of Child Welfare for the American Legion's Department of Maryland, at a meeting of American Legion Auxiliary, Barton Post 189, tonight.

This will be Miss Sloan's first official visit since the state Legion convention. She will be introduced by Mrs. Mollie Kiddy, president of the Barton Auxiliary.

Plans to assist in the anniversary celebration of the Barton Legion Post Wednesday night at the Legion home will be discussed by auxiliary members.

Porch Resigns Position With Brotherhood

Harry A. Porch, 9 North Chase Street, general chairman of the grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad system for the past eight years, has announced his resignation to assume new duties as vice-president of the national organization of the Brotherhood.

Porch will be succeeded by H. A. Curtis, Wheeling, W. Va., who will take over general chairman of the grievance committee duties temporarily, until the election November 3.

Widely known among railroaders along the system, Porch came here eight years ago to assume the office of chairman. He had formerly been a general field organizer, with headquarters at Pittsburgh, Pa. He is a native of Philadelphia.

While in Cumberland, he took an active interest in civic affairs. He served as chairman of the Local Ration Board during a period of World War II. He is a member of the American Legion, Forty and Eight, Shriners, and was active in the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference.

Porch was elected to his new office at the national convention in San Francisco, Calif., in August, and is to assume his new duties November 1.

Since September 22, he has been a patient at Memorial Hospital but plans to leave there sometime this week, and then rest until November 1, when he will leave to take over his new position. There is a chance that he may be able to set up his office and headquarters in Cumberland, he indicated, stating he has many friends here and would like to remain a resident.

Commander Allen said he is especially interested in Mountain District declaring, "you will see a lot of me up this way, and I hope to visit every Mountain District Post, sometime during the year."

News Briefs

Noel R. Michell, an official of the Akron, Canton and Youngstown Railroad will speak on "An American Philosophy" at the meeting of the Tri-State Traffic Club Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

A Cumberlander, DeSales F. McDade, Seaman First Class, son of Mrs. Clara McDade, 316 Baltimore Avenue, is now serving aboard the landing ship tank, USS LST 1126, which is holding individual ship exercises out of San Diego in preparation for amphibious exercises to be held off the coast of California next month.

Joseph D'Angelo, fireman, second class, USN, son of Mrs. May Bell D'Angelo, 136 West Third Street, Cumberland, is serving aboard the heavy cruiser USS Albany, which is now engaged in training Naval reserves on cruises in the North Atlantic.

The Ladies Aid Society of Allegany Hospital will hold its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Nurses Home on Decatur Street. Mrs. George Lyming will be hostess.

Purple Heart Chapter To Discuss Reburial

Mountain Chapter, Military Order of the Purple Heart, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Purple Heart Center, Greene Street, according to Adjutant George Leib.

Plans for reburial of returning soldier dead will be discussed and the chapter membership will consider the possibility of organizing a firing squad and Purple Heart funeral detail.

Hearing Set After Two-Car Collision

Marshall Webster Imes, Flintstone, and Herman E. Ridinger, RFD 1, Flintstone, have been charged with reckless driving, according to State Trooper William Baker, as the result of a collision at Pleasant Grove, six miles east of the city on Route 40, Saturday.

Trooper Baker said Imes was traveling west on Route 40 when he stopped, partly on the road and partly on the shoulder, to discharge a passenger. Ridinger's auto crashed against the rear end of Imes' car. Damage to both vehicles is placed at $225. The two men are to be heard in Trial Magistrates Court today.

Baker said, Darrell Francis Saunders, 217 Beall Street, has forfeited bond of $10.75 in Westernport, for exceeding 50 miles an hour on Route 36, last Wednesday.

"Twelfth Night" Scores Hit Here

Barter Theatre players, appearing at Allegany High School auditorium Saturday night in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," pleased a small but enthusiastic audience so well they returned for five curtain calls, something that has not been seen here in many years.

Presented to Cumberland theatregoers by the Junior Association of Commerce in the cultural interests of the community, "Twelfth Night" was the first in a series of four plays to come here this season, featuring the famous Barter Players.

The company, traveling by bus, is one of three on current tour, since the Barter Summer Theatre closed for the season at Abingdon, Va., last month. This particular unit will return here for the presentation of "The Hasty Heart," March 20; and those who saw the players perform here Saturday, in Shakespeare's three-century old comedy, are anxious to see them in a more modern drama.

Labor Wants Members On Ray Report Study

Allegany County labor organizations served notice last week that they expect to be represented on the committee which will make a study of the recommendations made by Dr. Joseph M. Ray of the University of Maryland for improvements in city government here.

William Boyd Coleman, vice president of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, said that group will contact Mayor Thomas S. Post in order to make sure that labor is represented on the group to make the study.

Union Approves Traffic Changes

The Cumberland Police Department will receive a pat on the back from Local 924, Dairy Workers Union, AFL, for steps the department has taken recently to alleviate traffic congestion in downtown Cumberland, Jack F. Moore, president, reported over the weekend.

He said the secretary of the union has been instructed to draft a letter to the Mayor and City Council commending them for the traffic changes which have been placed into effect and to ask that the changes be made permanent.

Union officials said members of the union report that deliveries in the downtown area have been considerably easier since parking has been prohibited in certain areas.

A meeting will be held this week of the committee named to draw up a new contract for the union. Included are Joseph Garlitz, Ernest Screen, Aubra Beeghly, Robert Lippold, Harry Beall, Alex Wilson and William Ritchie.

The report of the committee will be submitted for ratification at the November meeting before being given to the negotiations committee.

John G. Lewis Is Taken By Death At Frostburg

Funeral To Be Held Tomorrow Afternoon

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — John G. Lewis, 76, died at his home at 108 Center Street here Saturday, following a lingering illness. A former Celanese employe, he resigned three years ago because of ill health. He had served as a constable here for many years.

He was the son of the late John and Ellen Jones Lewis, and was a lifelong resident of Frostburg. His wife, the former Harriet Myers, died several years ago.

He is survived by a son, William, of LaVale, three daughters, Mrs. Edith Race and Mrs. William P. Porter, Frostburg, and Mrs. A. D. Porter at home, a brother, Benjamin, Frostburg, three sisters, Mrs. Annie Reed and Mrs. Mollie DeVore, Westernport, and Mrs. Nellie Brode, Frostburg, five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday, 2:30 p. m., at the residence with Rev. W. D. Reese, pastor of Welsh Baptist Memorial Church, officiating. Interment will be in Allegany cemetery.

Lions To Entertain

The Frostburg Lions will hold its second annual charter night and banquet Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the Salem Reformed Church. District Governor Alvin Renn, Frederick, will be the guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson Brown, Water Street, who celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary last month will be guests of honor. Mrs. Carter Shyrock and her Quartet will be guest entertainers, while other diversions have been planned by William Older and Oliver Wittig, program chairmen. A delegation of Lions from Cumberland, Mt. Savage and Lonaconing will be present.

The club was formed two years ago with a membership of 25. It is now forty-two. The main project of the organization has been the well-baby clinic and the provision of funds for six operations for needy children.

Honored On Birthday

Mrs. Fred Thomas, Big Savage Mountain, entertained Friday evening, in honor of her husband who was observing his 29th birthday anniversary. An elaborate birthday cake was the center piece from which a buffet luncheon was served. About fifteen guests attended.

Club Elects Officers

The Pioneer Club of the Welsh Baptist Memorial Church have elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: Marian Hughes, president; LaVern Kerr, vice-president; Mary Jane Densmore, secretary and Annie Lindsay, treasurer.

Brief Items

Mr. and Mrs. Flyod Wilt, Eckhart, entertained with a party Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lapp, the occasion being their 5th wedding anniversary. Twenty-six guests attended.

nit, and whacked into a force play as Johnson crossed the plate for the sixth Yankee run. George Stirnweiss finally ended the agony with a roller to Casey, who tossed him out.

Dodgers Thump Reynolds

The game started out to be a Brooklyn runaway. Allie Reynolds, who licked the Dodgers in the second game of the series, was no puzzle at all to Shotton's lads this time. They ganged on him for two runs on three solid shots, a walk and a passed ball in the first inning, and drove him from the premises when the first three men to face him in the third—Pee Wee Reese, Jackie Robinson and Dixie Walker—connected for bell-ringing doubles.

Meanwhile, little Vic Lombardi, also making his second series start, had stifled the Yanks easily for two frames. But in the third the Bombers knocked him loose from his cap. Four of the first six men to face him blasted hits, and by the time Ralph Branca dashed in to the rescue two runs were across. The first two Yanks to face Branca also blazed away, and by the time he got Phil Rizzuto for the third out two more scores were in and the count was tied 4-4.

The next frame, in which the Yanks put across another run and forged ahead, produced the most vociferous and prolonged "rhubarb" of the series thus far. With two on and two out, Yogi Berra, replacing Johnny Lindell in the Yank line-up, lined a scorcher down the right field line to score Aaron Robinson, who had singled.

Stanky's Temper Flares

Only thing was, the Dodgers in general and Eddie Stanky in particular didn't think the ball hit fair, and they made quite an issue of it. Stanky, plainly the angriest Dodger of them all, threw his cap on the ground twice and stamped it as he argued with first base Umpire Ed Rommel. Finally another arbiter, Larry Goetz, pulled Stanky away from Rommel and enabled the game to continue.

It was the run from Berra's blow which loomed so large as the Brooks went to bat against Joe Page's left-handed shoots in the sixth. With the game's best reliefer in charge of things, supposedly, Yankee adherents were sitting back comfortably and lighting fresh cigars.

Then Bruce Edwards inaugurated the sixth with a single to right, and Carl Furillo banged a double to left. Lavagetto, making his third try as a pinch-hitter in three days, drove a long fly to center, on which Edwards cantered in—and the panic was on.

Bobby Bragan, Dodger relief catcher, hit for Ralph Branca and lashed a double to left, scoring Furillo. When Stanky followed with a single to right and took second on Robinson's error on the throw-in, it was curtains for Page. Big Bobo Newsom swaggered in, and Reese greeted him with a base-cleaning single into left-center. That was all, but it proved to have been enough.

In addition to knocking across the deciding runs, Reese otherwise had a large day. The crack Dodger shortstop also clouted a double and another single and scored twice, himself.

Dan Bankhead, Brooklyn pitcher, became the second Negro ever to have appeared in a World Series game when he went in as a pinch-runner for Bragan in the big sixth and scored on Reese's hit. Jackie Robinson, the first Negro to gain the distinction, hit a single and a double today and knocked across a run.

ing of his wife, Goldie Smith, 16, as she ran across a stone bridge near their home on Town Creek last April. The shooting allegedly followed an argument over taking the family to church, authorities said. Smith spent several weeks in Memorial Hospital, where his arm was amputated, as the result of a wound where he had turned his shotgun on himself.

Wills and Smith have been held in the county jail but the Bloss girl is at liberty under $2,500 bond.

George T. Harrison, a member of the commission and president of the Tilghman Packing Company, conducted the newsmen on a tour of company's plant when the Potomac made a noon-time stop at Tilghman's Island.

He explained that most of the labor-saving machinery used in seafood and vegetable canning was designed and built by plant workmen.

Host aboard the Potomac was Capt. Amos Creighton, commanding officer of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission patrol and enforcement fleet.

Umstot Funeral Service Is Set For 2:30 Today

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT — A funeral service for Mrs. Goldie Umstot, 47, 474 Hammond Street, who died Friday night at 10:30 o'clock following a heart attack will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence. Rev. R. L. Moore, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, will officiate. Interment will be in Philos Cemetery.

A native of Swanton, Mrs. Umstot was a daughter of Mrs. Lulu Wilt, Swanton, and the late Aden Wilt. She had resided in the Tri-Towns 29 years. She was a member of the Westernport Council No. 75, Daughters of America and Trinity Methodist Church.

Besides her husband, Earl M. Umstot and her mother, Mrs. Umstot is survived by three daughters, Mrs. James Hadley, Lonaconing; Mrs. Neal O'Leary, Keyser and Miss Helen Umstot at home and one son, Cpl. Earl M. Umstot, Jr., Fort Mead, Md.; four sisters, Mrs. Mabel Shade, Lonaconing; Mrs. Blanche Barnard and Mrs. Gertrude Ward, Swanton, and Mrs. Carrie Rounds, Piedmont; also five brothers, Daniel Wilt, Baltimore; Michael, Richard, Luther and Aden Wilt, Swanton.

Will Lay Line

Permission was granted the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company by the Mayor and Piedmont City Council Friday night, to make a tap on the city's water pipe line above the company's filtration plant to furnish raw water for its boilers. The company will lay 1,000 feet of 10 inch water line in that vicinity.

Will Have Lights

Christmas lights will be strung across the streets of the downtown business section of the town this year. They will be lighted the night the stores begin staying open at night for Christmas and continue through New Year's Day. Mayor Harold Fredlock also announced that the community Christmas tree would be placed on the G. C. Murphy Company's vacant lot at corner of Ashfield and Third Streets, instead of at the lower end of Ashfield Street.

See Demonstration

A large crowd witnessed the fire fighting demonstration given on the grounds of the Piedmont High School yesterday afternoon by six volunteer fire companies of this vicinity who were well pleased with the show. The fire companies taking part included Potomac No. 2, Westernport; Tri-Towns No. 1, Piedmont; McCoole, Luke, Bloomington and Beryl.

C. A. Nickell, Baltimore, representing the Mine Safety Appliance Company of that city, demonstrated their Chemox Oxygen Breathing Apparatus. He went into a burning building, accompanied by James Bonney of the Luke Company, wearing the same equipment while the building was afire. The wooden structure was built at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company in sections and erected on the grounds. The building was set afire by placing grass in it and lighting it.

Oil fires were started in metal containers and were put out with the various kinds of chemicals being demonstrated by the Luke Company.

McCoole Fire Company used its portable pump to pump water from the Piedmont swimming pool adjacent to the grounds relaying it to McCoole's booster pump on the truck. All fire companies took part.

Homer Ambrose, of the McCoole Fire Company, made the announcements over a loud speaker system on the squad car of the Potomac Fire Company. He reminded the spectators that it was the opening day of National Fire Prevention Week Oct. 5-11 inclusive. He said that firemen have been studying how to prevent fires thereby saving now are mapping out a program how to prevent fires there by saving life and property.

Program Is Given

A program entitled "Golden Wishes for You," was presented at the regular meeting of Bethlehem Chapter No. 14, Order of the Eastern Star at the Odd Fellow's hall, Friday night who observed "Advance Night." Those taking part in the program were Mesdames Hannah Umstot, worthy matron, Rosaleen Stultz, Clara Marteney, Margaret Wolfe, Gertrude Ferrell, Aurora Derham and Marguerite McIntyre.

Mrs. J. M. Clabaugh, Luke, deputy lecturer, a past matron of the chapter who paid her official visit made a short talk.

Mrs. Ethel Travis, who was initiated into the lodge was presented with a gift by relatives. Refreshments were served.

The officers' club of the chapter will meet Wednesday 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Marguerite McIntyre, Oakview, Westernport.

Brief Mention

The Wesleyan Service Guild will meet in the chapel of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, today 7:30 p. m. A nursery shower will be held to replenish the Sunday School Nursery Room. A social hour will follow in the recreation room. The hostesses will be Mesdames Violet Daddysman, Henrietta Kazlo and Laura Belle Kelly.

Lafayette Lodge No. 3, Knights of Pythias, Piedmont, will confer the rank of page on a class of candidates at the regular meeting tonight.

Celanese Worker Hurt When Tire Blows Out

Miss Jane A. Marshall, 30, 28 West Main Street, Lonaconing, is a patient at Miners Hospital, where she was admitted early yesterday morning following an auto crash on Route 36 at Knapps Meadow.

The car in which she was a passenger was driven by Thomas Wheeler Dodds, Barton, and the couple, along with three persons were en route to work at the Celanese plant. According to State Trooper William G. McElfish, who investigated, a tire blew out on the machine and the vehicle turned over after leaving the road at about 6:15 a. m. Other occupants were unhurt, but Miss Marshall suffered a double fracture of her right arm.

Through the years, Columbia Gas System has expanded its supplies of natural gas through contracts with major cross-country pipeline companies. The distribution of this gas is controlled by dispatchers. A Columbia system dispatcher allocates a portion of the eastward flow to the Pittsburgh Group of companies. In Pittsburgh, another dispatcher controls the gas flow throughout the network of pipelines owned by the affiliated companies.

Another benefit from this integrated system of working is the constant availability of men and materials for emergencies. If any part of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. pipelines, pumping facilities or regulator stations were badly damaged and extensive repairs were immediately necessary, men, trucks and materials would immediately move in from hundreds of miles away.

Carl C. Robbins, Cumberland, is the distribution district manager for the company. In addition to supervising Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. distribution activities, Mr. Robbins also has similar responsibilities for the affiliated Gettysburg Gas Co. in Gettysburg, Pa. He has his headquarters in the new gas company office building which was opened in May, 1945 at 149 Baltimore Street.

With a history extending back nearly half a century, and with 20 years of gas service improvements under Columbia Gas System direction, the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. is today supplying natural gas to more than 31,000 customers in an area covering parts of two states.

Schlosser Freed In Death Of Girl Struck By Auto

Found Not Guilty Of Manslaughter

Ralph Allen Schlosser, 21, Cresaptown, has been exonerated in connection with the death of Doris Elaine Rosenberger, 15, Roberts Place, who was struck and fatally injured September 20, by an automobile, on U. S. Route 220 near her home. He was charged with manslaughter.

Trial Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., before whom Schlosser was arraigned Saturday, declared the State failed to show that "Schlosser was grossly negligent" as charged.

Schlosser told authorities he was driving between 30 and 35 miles per hour when the accident occurred. He said the girl apparently attempted to cross the highway from a private driveway at her home. Harold Fields, a passenger in the Schlosser's car, said he did not see the girl until she was struck, and also told the Court that Schlosser was not driving beyond 30 or 35 miles per hour.

The victim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rosenberger, were among witnesses appearing in the case, and it was revealed the girl died in Allegany Hospital about 15 minutes after the accident. She suffered fractures of the skull and left ankle, and inter-cranial hemorrhage.

Harry I. Stegmaier and William H. Geppert were attorneys for Schlosser.

Unable to pay a fine of $20, Robert Howard Warnick, Lonaconing, was given a 20-day jail term Saturday in Trial Magistrates Court for reckless driving. He entered a plea of guilty.

State Trooper William F. Baker arrested Warnick Friday on Route 40 at LaVale. He said the man's car was "weaving" about the road.

Lawrence C. Weaver, Route 2, this city, was fined $6.45 Saturday in Trail Magistrates Court for exceeding 30 miles an hour on Route 220 at Bowling Green Thursday. State Trooper Milton Hart made the arrest.

BIRTHS

Memorial Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

WAA Materials Sold To Schools

Institutions of higher learning in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia are receiving millions of dollars worth of war materials and books, outmoded or in long supply at military warehouses, through War Assets Administration, it has been announced.

More than $1,000,000 has been awarded 30 institutions in this area, with another $3,000,000 earmarked for delivery. The cost to the schools is only five per cent of fair valuation, in order that the schools have an abundant supply of what otherwise would be equipment of no further usage.

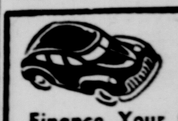

Among the donations are a $20,000 radar set to both the University of Virginia and the University of Maryland. Other area schools participating are Davis-Elkins College, West Virginia University, Washington and Lee, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Virginia Military Academy, Johns Hopkins and Catholic University of America.

Guida Bishop, 16, Still Missing From Her Home

Guida Bishop, 16, daughter of Mrs. Anna Bishop, RFD No. 4, who left home Friday morning and failed to report for work at Allegany Hospital, is still missing, city police said last night.

The girl's mother asked police to locate her, and said she left home accompanied by two men in an automobile. The mother said one of the men in believed to reside in New York. Police were told the girl took practically all her clothes when she left.

She is described as being 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighs about 130 pounds, has blue eyes and chestnut colored hair. She was wearing a nurses' white uniform with white shoes and hose.

nit, and whacked into a force play as Johnson crossed the plate for the sixth Yankee run. George Stirnweiss finally ended the agony with a roller to Casey, who tossed him out.

Dodgers Thump Reynolds

The game started out to be a Brooklyn runaway. Allie Reynolds, who licked the Dodgers in the second game of the series, was no puzzle at all to Shotton's lads this time. They ganged on him for two runs on three solid shots, a walk and a passed ball in the first inning, and drove him from the premises when the first three men to face him in the third—Pee Wee Reese, Jackie Robinson and Dixie Walker—connected for bell-ringing doubles.

Meanwhile, little Vic Lombardi, also making his second series start, had stifled the Yanks easily for two frames. But in the third the Bombers knocked him loose from his cap. Four of the first six men to face him blasted hits, and by the time Ralph Branca dashed in to the rescue two runs were across. The first two Yanks to face Branca also blazed away, and by the time he got Phil Rizzuto for the third out two more scores were in and the count was tied 4-4.

The next frame, in which the Yanks put across another run and forged ahead, produced the most vociferous and prolonged "rhubarb" of the series thus far. With two on and two out, Yogi Berra, replacing Johnny Lindell in the Yank line-up, lined a scorcher down the right field line to score Aaron Robinson, who had singled.

Stanky's Temper Flares

Only thing was, the Dodgers in general and Eddie Stanky in particular didn't think the ball hit fair, and they made quite an issue of it. Stanky, plainly the angriest Dodger of them all, threw his cap on the ground twice and stamped it as he argued with first base Umpire Ed Rommel. Finally another arbiter, Larry Goetz, pulled Stanky away from Rommel and enabled the game to continue.

It was the run from Berra's blow which loomed so large as the Brooks went to bat against Joe Page's left-handed shoots in the sixth. With the game's best reliefer in charge of things, supposedly, Yankee adherents were sitting back comfortably and lighting fresh cigars.

Then Bruce Edwards inaugurated the sixth with a single to right, and Carl Furillo banged a double to left. Lavagetto, making his third try as a pinch-hitter in three days, drove a long fly to center, on which Edwards cantered in—and the panic was on.

Bobby Bragan, Dodger relief catcher, hit for Ralph Branca and lashed a double to left, scoring Furillo. When Stanky followed with a single to right and took second on Robinson's error on the throw-in, it was curtains for Page. Big Bobo Newsom swaggered in, and Reese greeted him with a base-cleaning single into left-center. That was all, but it proved to have been enough.

In addition to knocking across the deciding runs, Reese otherwise had a large day. The crack Dodger shortstop also clouted a double and another single and scored twice, himself.

Dan Bankhead, Brooklyn pitcher, became the second Negro ever to have appeared in a World Series game when he went in as a pinch-runner for Bragan in the big sixth and scored on Reese's hit. Jackie Robinson, the first Negro to gain the distinction, hit a single and a double today and knocked across a run.

ing of his wife, Goldie Smith, 16, as she ran across a stone bridge near their home on Town Creek last April. The shooting allegedly followed an argument over taking the family to church, authorities said. Smith spent several weeks in Memorial Hospital, where his arm was amputated, as the result of a wound where he had turned his shotgun on himself.

Wills and Smith have been held in the county jail but the Bloss girl is at liberty under $2,500 bond.

George T. Harrison, a member of the commission and president of the Tilghman Packing Company, conducted the newsmen on a tour of company's plant when the Potomac made a noon-time stop at Tilghman's Island.

He explained that most of the labor-saving machinery used in seafood and vegetable canning was designed and built by plant workmen.

Host aboard the Potomac was Capt. Amos Creighton, commanding officer of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission patrol and enforcement fleet.

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT — A funeral service for Mrs. Goldie Umstot, 47, 474 Hammond Street, who died Friday night at 10:30 o'clock following a heart attack will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence. Rev. R. L. Moore, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, will officiate. Interment will be in Philos Cemetery.

A native of Swanton, Mrs. Umstot was a daughter of Mrs. Lulu Wilt, Swanton, and the late Aden Wilt. She had resided in the Tri-Towns 29 years. She was a member of the Westernport Council No. 75, Daughters of America and Trinity Methodist Church.

Besides her husband, Earl M. Umstot and her mother, Mrs. Umstot is survived by three daughters, Mrs. James Hadley, Lonaconing; Mrs. Neal O'Leary, Keyser and Miss Helen Umstot at home and one son, Cpl. Earl M. Umstot, Jr., Fort Mead, Md.; four sisters, Mrs. Mabel Shade, Lonaconing; Mrs. Blanche Barnard and Mrs. Gertrude Ward, Swanton, and Mrs. Carrie Rounds, Piedmont; also five brothers, Daniel Wilt, Baltimore; Michael, Richard, Luther and Aden Wilt, Swanton.

Will Lay Line

Permission was granted the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company by the Mayor and Piedmont City Council Friday night, to make a tap on the city's water pipe line above the company's filtration plant to furnish raw water for its boilers. The company will lay 1,000 feet of 10 inch water line in that vicinity.

Will Have Lights

Christmas lights will be strung across the streets of the downtown business section of the town this year. They will be lighted the night the stores begin staying open at night for Christmas and continue through New Year's Day. Mayor Harold Fredlock also announced that the community Christmas tree would be placed on the G. C. Murphy Company's vacant lot at corner of Ashfield and Third Streets, instead of at the lower end of Ashfield Street.

See Demonstration

A large crowd witnessed the fire fighting demonstration given on the grounds of the Piedmont High School yesterday afternoon by six volunteer fire companies of this vicinity who were well pleased with the show. The fire companies taking part included Potomac No. 2, Westernport; Tri-Towns No. 1, Piedmont; McCoole, Luke, Bloomington and Beryl.

C. A. Nickell, Baltimore, representing the Mine Safety Appliance Company of that city, demonstrated their Chemox Oxygen Breathing Apparatus. He went into a burning building, accompanied by James Bonney of the Luke Company, wearing the same equipment while the building was afire. The wooden structure was built at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company in sections and erected on the grounds. The building was set afire by placing grass in it and lighting it.

Oil fires were started in metal containers and were put out with the various kinds of chemicals being demonstrated by the Luke Company.

McCoole Fire Company used its portable pump to pump water from the Piedmont swimming pool adjacent to the grounds relaying it to McCoole's booster pump on the truck. All fire companies took part.

Homer Ambrose, of the McCoole Fire Company, made the announcements over a loud speaker system on the squad car of the Potomac Fire Company. He reminded the spectators that it was the opening day of National Fire Prevention Week Oct. 5-11 inclusive. He said that firemen have been studying how to prevent fires thereby saving how are mapping out a program how to prevent fires there by saving life and property.

Program Is Given

A program entitled "Golden Wishes for You," was presented at the regular meeting of Bethlehem Chapter No. 14, Order of the Eastern Star at the Odd Fellow's hall, Friday night who observed "Advance Night." Those taking part in the program were Mesdames Hannah Umstot, worthy matron, Rosaleen Stultz, Clara Marteney, Margaret Wolfe, Gertrude Ferrell, Aurora Derham and Marguerite McIntyre.

tirement program, group life insurance policies, and unified safety activities.

Through the years, Columbia Gas System has expanded its supplies of natural gas through contracts with major cross-country pipeline companies. The distribution of this gas is controlled by dispatchers. A Columbia system dispatcher allocates a portion of the eastward flow to the Pittsburgh Group of companies. In Pittsburgh, another dispatcher controls the gas flow throughout the network of pipelines owned by the affiliated companies.

Another benefit from this integrated system of working is the constant availability of men and materials for emergencies. If any part of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. pipelines, pumping facilities or regulator stations were badly damaged and extensive repairs were immediately necessary, men, trucks and materials would immediately move in from hundreds of miles away.

Carl C. Robbins, Cumberland, is the distribution district manager for the company. In addition to supervising Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. distribution activities, Mr. Robbins also has similar responsibilities for the affiliated Gettysburg Gas Co. in Gettysburg, Pa. He has his headquarters in the new gas company office building which was opened in May, 1945 at 149 Baltimore Street.

With a history extending back nearly half a century, and with 20 years of gas service improvements under Columbia Gas System direction, the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. is today supplying natural gas to more than 31,000 customers in an area covering parts of two states.

Schlosser Freed In Death Of Girl Struck By Auto

Found Not Guilty Of Manslaughter

Ralph Allen Schlosser, 21, Cresaptown, has been exonerated in connection with the death of Doris Elaine Rosenberger, 15, Roberts Place, who was struck and fatally injured September 20, by an automobile, on U. S. Route 220 near her home. He was charged with manslaughter.

Trial Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., before whom Schlosser was arraigned Saturday, declared the State failed to show that "Schlosser was grossly negligent" as charged.

Schlosser told authorities he was driving between 30 and 35 miles per hour when the accident occurred. He said the girl apparently attempted to cross the highway from a private driveway at her home. Harold Fields, a passenger in the Schlosser's car, said he did not see the girl until she was struck, and also told the Court that Schlosser was not driving beyond 30 or 35 miles per hour.

The victim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rosenberger, were among witnesses appearing in the case, and it was revealed the girl died in Allegany Hospital about 15 minutes after the accident. She suffered fractures of the skull and left ankle, and inter-cranial hemorrhage.

Harry I. Stegmaier and William H. Geppert were attorneys for Schlosser.

Unable to pay a fine of $20, Robert Howard Warnick, Lonaconing, was given a 20-day jail term Saturday in Trial Magistrates Court for reckless driving. He entered a plea of guilty.

State Trooper William F. Baker arrested Warnick Friday on Route 40 at LaVale. He said the man's car was "weaving" about the road.

Lawrence C. Weaver, Route 2, this city, was fined $6.45 Saturday in Trail Magistrates Court for exceeding 30 miles an hour on Route 220 at Bowling Green Thursday. State Trooper Milton Hart made the arrest.

WAA Materials Sold To Schools

Institutions of higher learning in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia are receiving millions of dollars worth of war materials and books, outmoded or in long supply at military warehouses, through War Assets Administration, it has been announced.

More than $1,000,000 has been awarded 30 institutions in this area, with another $3,000,000 earmarked for delivery. The cost to the schools is only five per cent of fair valuation, in order that the schools have an abundant supply of what otherwise would be equipment of no further usage.

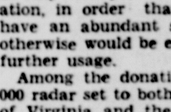

Among the donations are a $20,000 radar set to both the University of Virginia and the University of Maryland. Other area schools participating are Davis-Elkins College, West Virginia University, Washington and Lee, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Virginia Military Academy, Johns Hopkins and Catholic University of America.

Guida Bishop, 16, Still Missing From Her Home

Guida Bishop, 16, daughter of Mrs. Anna Bishop, RFD No. 4, who left home Friday morning and failed to report for work at Allegany Hospital, is still missing, city police said last night.

The girl's mother asked police to locate her, and said she left home accompanied by two men in an automobile. The mother said one of the men in believed to reside in New York. Police were told the girl took practically all her clothes when she left.

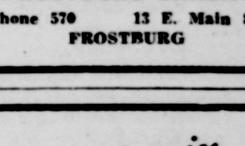

She is described as being 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighs about 130 pounds, has blue eyes and chestnut colored hair. She was wearing a nurses' white uniform with white shoes and hose.

Chief Villian Of Fires Is Human Carelessness

By direction of President Truman, the week which began yesterday will be observed as Fire Prevention Week. In his proclamation, the President invited all business, labor, civic, religious and charitable groups and organizations, and all agencies of the press, radio and the moving picture industry, to cooperate fully "with the objective of initiating a fire prevention campaign continuing throughout the year."

The word "continuing" goes to the heart of the matter. It will serve no purpose if we think of fire prevention for a single week and then promptly forget it. The officially designated week must simply be a starting point. The fight against one of the worst destroyers of life and property must go on unabated.

According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, U. S. fire losses may exceed $700,000,000 this year—the highest in our history. That is twice the destruction caused by the burning of San Francisco—and more than three times the devastation wreaked by the German air force on Britain in any single year. Deaths by fire will probably exceed 10,000 and may also set a new and ghastly record.

Those figures alone should be enough to awaken America to the fact that fire loss has become a grave emergency. And every one of us should remember that fire respects no one—your home, your life, may be taken next. During the Week everyone will be given the opportunity to learn the causes of fire, and how to prevent it. Then it will be up to the people.

Here are some figures on needless habits which cause preventable fires:

Carelessness with matches and smoking starts 93,000 blazes a year.

Children playing with matches cause 26,000 fires.

Negligence in using and storing inflammable cleaning fluids causes 28,000 fires a year.

Chief fire-starters under the heading of structural hazards are these:

Defective wiring and misuse of electrical apparatus, 47,000 fires.

Improperly installed and poorly maintained heating equipment, 45,000 fires.

Faulty and dirty chimneys, 40,000 fires.

Inflammable roofs, 39,000 fires.

All of these causes of fires are old stuff. Even a child knows about them. Yet fires from these causes are repeated by the hundreds every day. They take an appalling toll of life and property. The per capita loss from fire in the United States before the war was $1.95 a year. Last year this figure rose to $4.01. The National Fire Protection Association thinks it may go to $5 this year. Nearly all of these fires could be avoided.

The chief villian is human carelessness.

Using Machines To Save Lives In World War Two

"Obvious logistical superiority in mobility and firepower enabled Patton's immortal Third Army to capture and disarm 1,280,688 Germans—or five times its own average total strength of 261,588." So in the Autumn number of Ordnance writes James L. Walsh, adding the moral: "It wasn't essential to kill; it was only necessary to be ready, willing and able to do so."

The writer, a distinguished Ordnance officer in World War I and now president of the Army Ordnance Association, arrays the testimony that underscores the moral. General Eisenhower said: "While some of our Allies were compelled to throw up a wall of flesh and blood as their chief defense against the agressor's onslaught, we were able to use machines and technology to save lives." Chief of Staff Marshall said: "As staggering as were our casualties, the forces opposing us suffered many times more heavily;1,592,600 Germans, Italians and Japanese troops were killed for the 201,367 American soldiers who died," Secretary of War Patterson said: "We won the gas war without firing a gas shell or dropping a gas bomb," because the enemy knew the American power to retaliate and dared not start; won also the biological war (bacteria, fungi, etc.) because "the enemy so respected our retaliatory potential that we were spared the horrors of this type of warfare."

During World War II American scientists, engineers and industrialists, says Walsh, "provided the machines and technology to save lives. They shortened the war and reduced battle-death expectancy by 80 percent. Their continued interest in scientific and industrial preparedness may well avert war altogether."

Everything else has been tried—isolation, neutrality, moral suasion, stalling, "notes"—always in vain. To the American type of preparedness, which mobilizes science and industry and which means the saving of lives, and eventual assurance of freedom from outside attack, the Army Ordance Association is dedicated.

A Probe For Facts

In a few days a new inquiry into war contracts will get under way. The House Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments will investigate "frauds and overpayments" that, according to Chairman Bender, run into millions.

There appears to be a solid basis for this estimate in a report submitted to Congress by Controller General Warren. The General Accounting Office, said the report, had examined 4,789 accounts and had found evidence of fraud or overpayments in more than 5 per cent of that number. The limited examination made by the office, Mr. Warren charged, had revealed "at least" 79 settlements that were "induced by fraud" and the sums involved ran "well in excess of $2,000,000."

As there are 318,000 accounts in all, it would seem as though the committee has undertaken a task that should be rewarding. At any rate, it is justified in going deeper into the matter. The public will await with interest the appearance of Mr. Warren, who will be the first witness, when public hearings begin.

It is possible that Mr. Warren's conclusions will not be borne out when the cases he refers to are thoroughly scrutinized. It is possible that a number of contract terminations he considers fraudulent were actually the result of inadvertence. But if the committee does a sober and honest job of probing, no one will complain.

Next year's presidential election may be unusual in that all of the mud may have been slung before it starts.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

VIRUS VACCINES

NO ONE has succeeded in developing a wonder drug to combat virus infections. The exception is para-aminobenzoic acid which is used in typhus and Rocky Mountain spotted fever. But the efect of this chemical is hardly comparable to the influence of the sulfonamides and penicillin on bacterial disorders.

After the virus invades, it lives within the cells of the host, where it sets up housekeeping and multiplies. The young ones are apparently pushed from their nests and passed, via the tissue juices, into other cells to start homes of their own. Since they are difficult to eradicate the medicos have turned their attention toward prevention.

In virus diseases against which we have no vaccines, the fight must be taken to its source. Many are transmitted thru the bite of insects and by controling these pests, fewer individuals become victims. This means the use of preparations like DDT, repellents, and protective clothing.

The ordinary virus ailments are spread via the air. The cold is a good example and the organisms are broadcast with every sneeze and cough. Here the only solutions are isolation or cleansing the air that we breathe. Plans for the latter are in progress and the project comes under the heading of air sanitation. In addition we must keep resistance high so that the system is in better condition to withstand the onslaught of the germs or at least keep them from multiplying once they gain admission. There is little scientific data on this phase except that in certain animals a poor diet decreases resistance and increases the likelihood of infection.

Immunization has already proved its worth in many types of virus maladies. The best illustration is smallpox. This is a form of active immunization because a miniature pox is produced on the arm or leg to which the body develops antibodies that safeguard us for several years. A different type of vaccine is available for typhus. This preparation, when combined with rapid delousing by DDT, warded off serious outbreaks during the war.

Yellow fever vaccine remains active for more than a year and was utilized extensively by the armed services in areas where the disturbance was prevalent. If, at the same time, mosquitoes are controled, an unbeatable combination exists. Influenza A and B vaccines are newcomers that are being used with added frequency. On one occasion they were administered prior to an epidemic and afforded protection to two-thirds of those who received the injections.

Some of the virus vaccines are useful after exposure to diseases such as rabies and smallpox. Immune serum globulin for measles is a similar form of protection. We still lack protective substances for many of our most common virus infections, including colds, chicken pox, infantile diarrhea, mumps, German measles, and poliomyelitis. Scientific institutions all over the world are engaged in trying to solve this problem.

SCARS PERSIST

B. W. writes: Are chicken pox scars permanent?

REPLY

Yes. As a rule, the skin is not marred as markedly as in smallpox. But many victims of chicken pox are left with one or two scars on the face, in the region of the eyes.

BROWN SPOT

J. W. writes: What is a cold freckle?

REPLY

The term usually refers to a certain type of yellowish or brownish spot that appears on parts of the body not exposed to the sun.

THIS IS NATURAL

M. Z. writes: One of my kidneys was removed and now the remaining one is enlarging. Is this of any significance?

REPLY

In the absence of one kidney, the other will become larger since it must do the work of two. If it is otherwise normal, there is no need to be concerned.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

There is a big economy drive on in Hollywood. The movie studios have decided to cut down expenses and start saving for a rainy day.

Things are really bad at one studio — they even ran out of stage money.

And I know one producer who used to have sixteen "yes" men — now he is down to two "maybes" and a "could be".

The economy wave is really on. Over in Azusa a theater is showing "the two Mrs. Carrolls" — one at a time.

I saw a picture last night where the hero failed to show up at the end to marry the girl — he just didn't have the car fare.

The stars are saving already — only this morning I noticed Turhen Bey wearing last year's fez, no fooling.

Things are so bad the Westerners

Things are so bad the Westmores

Of course, my "road" pictures will be affected by the economy drive. From now on we're going to use alleys.

The westerns are really the hardest hit. I know one big western star who was fired in the economy drive — they found a horse that could play the guitar and fight better.

And they laid off one of Trigger's makeup men — from now on he's going to have his tail combed with a mixmaster.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. — Most people have the idea Great Britain is so tired, she's finished. However, a young British Member of Parliament, Henry Usborne, arrived in Washington the other day with more enthusiastic energy, more idealism and more persuasiveness than the proverbial go-getting American.

Usborne is a small manufacturer in the British Midlands, makes machinery for laundries. However, it was not to sell laundry equipment that he came to the USA. It was to sell the idea of a world government. And so far he has got surprisingly enthusiastic response from a lot of important people.

Greatest enthusiasm came from the atomic scientists — including Professor Einstein and Dr. Leo Szilard. Having given the world an instrument for wrecking the world, they feel they should also try to find some means of saving the world.

"The world's leaders are deadlocked," Usborne told the atomic scientists and others in Washington. They have reached a position where Russia is balanced off against the United States and, like a locomotive on dead center, they can't get off dead center.

"Any move the United States makes for peace, no matter how sincere," Usborne argued, "is suspected by Russia, merely because it is made by the United States. No matter how ardently your statesmen strive for peace, they can't win. And the statesmen of Western Europe have a feeling of hopelessness too. They can't win either.

People vs. Their Leaders

"So maybe," continues Usborne, "that is where just the plain common people of the world can do something—the people who have to fight wars. Perhaps if they now step in with a mass demand for a world government—a great mass demand by millions of people, then it's possible they can do what the world's leaders cannot do."

Usborne points out that the United Nations, now split wide open and failing to function, can never solve the world's present impasse. It gets more deadlocked every time it meets. But if several million people in the United States, France, England and the Scandinavian countries elect their own delegates to a world conference in Geneva, then a United States of Europe or a United States of the World could gradually germinate.

Usborne figures it will take at least two years to hold a world conference; but he also figures the time to begin working toward it is now.

"I don't want the movement to grow too fast over here," Usborne explains, "because if the United States begins advocating world government too vigorously, then Russia will regard it as an American proposition.

"So let us get a start first in England, France and Scandinavia," says this indefatigable Britisher who talks with such determination that you can't help being convinced not only that Britain is not dead, but that he may have the germ of an idea which can really save the peace.

Bob Taft's Pickets

Bob Taft's advance huskster on his Washington state barnstorm was gravel-voiced Senator Harry Cain. Before the jump-off into the Pacific Northwest, the two held a last-minute huddle in San Francisco.

"Harry," asked Taft uneasily, "what do you think about the picketing against my speeches?"

"If they try to stop," rumbled the Washington Republican, I'll personally subsidize them. No one in my state paid any attention to you until the picketing started."

Under The Dome

According to Senatorial colleagues, when Bob Taft has lunch in the Senate restaurant, he orders two portions of meat . . . Harold Stassen was talking to his Washington office manager, Earl Hart, about Hart's daughter, who is studying music. "I used to play the piano rather well," said Hart, "in fact I almost made a career of it." "When I get in the White House," responded Stassen, "you'll be the piano-player, Earl, not me"... . Before Senator McGrath got the job of Democratic National Committeeman, Truman made one last attempt to give it to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson. "If I leave my food job for a political job," replied Anderson, "it would hurt the Administration." Truman concurred .... When Gael Sullivan announced his resignation as Democratic director—later withdrawn—he got an immediate offer of $25,000 from Capitol Airlines: also a call from North Dakota's Republican Senator Langer offering to get him a job in the Northwest.

General Eisenhower's greatest asset is his personal charm. When he emerged from a conference the other day, a bevy of giggling bobbysovers demanded his autograph. "Who are these young ladies waiting for," asked the General, flashing his famous grin, "Frank Sinatra?" .... Before Herbert Hoover left for his economic survey of Germany, he insisted upon taking the refugee German economist, Gustav Stoelper. The State Department, suspicious of Stoelper, objected, but Hoover stubbornly refused to go without him. Finally the State Department relented on condition Hoover not permit Stoelper to see unauthorized visitors on the trip . . . Capt. William Broderick and Lieut. Marlin Wilson of the Capitol police rate kudos for their alert nabbing of that demented tourist, armed with a loaded .38 revolver in a shoulder holster. So does Marjorie Amidon of Representative John Hennings' (Tenn.) staff, who tipped off the police before any damage was done.

In its $11,000,000 probe for Communists, the Government is feverishly fingerprinting its vast army of federal workers. Overlooked is the fact that these same workers passed through the same messy routine when they were first employed, and their original fingerprints are on file—at the FBI....At least one staunch Republican will side with Howard Hughes when the Senate hearing reopens under the klieg lights next month. The unexpected convert is Sen. Harry Cain of Washington who inspected Hughes' plant in California, came away impressed . . . . Senator Owen Brewster is leaning over backward these days to be unbiased in his new role as Chairman of the Joint Congressional Air Policy Committee. The Maine Republican picked as executive secretary for his advisory board Langdon P. Marvin Jr.—godson of Franklin D. Roosevelt and an outspoken foe of Brewster's pet "one instrument" policy . . . . Washington state politicians have a special reason for keeping a wary eye on the Eisenhower boom. They are worried that the same boom might propel Eisenhower's erstwhile aide, Col. James Stack of Tacoma, Wash., into the Governor's mansion. Both Republican and Democratic leaders tried to find out what Stack's politics are, but he laughed them off with typical Eisenhower abandon.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, (C.P.) — Best guess in Congress now is that, when all the argument is over, the Marshall plan for European rehabilitation will be cut about one-third. Some members think it may be cut in half. But veterans on foreign affairs say a one-third reduction is a better bet.

Brewster

Another thing regarded as certain is that Congress will provide for United States supervision of the way the aid furnished is spent.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders say there is no prospect that money will be ladled out to European countries to be spent as they desire.

Expectation is that the United States will be called upon to finance nearly all of the 22 billion dollar program. One administration leader estimated that Latin American countries would not put up one billion dollars. And indications are that Canada will not contribute a large sum.

A one-third reduction in the program would bring it down to about 15 billions. The feeling is that Congress under no circumstances is likely to approve more than that sum for European aid over a four-year period.

Look for a fast, active session of Congress when the House and Senate reconvene Jan. 6. Despite the manifold problems facing them, neither the Republicans nor Democrats will be in a mood for a lengthy session. The reason? A presidential election year.

The national conventions will be held in June and July. Congress will undoubtedly recess in the meantime. As a result, if anything is to be accomplished, the work must be done largely by May.

Committees will be able to get to work without delay at the next session. In fact, the more important ones, such as ways and means, appropriations, and possibly foreign affairs, will get under way in November or December in advance of the opening date.

On top of Andrei Vishinsky's sword-rattling speech before the U. N. General Assembly, the Russian embassy in Washington is laying new claims to having won the Pacific war against the Japanese almost single handed.

The current issue of the Soviet Information bulletin, published by the Embassy, makes no mention of the United States and British contributions to the world victory, let alone the victory in the Far East.

One might almost think that the United States had not participated in the Japanese war, let alone winning it without any important aid from any other source. Says the bulletin:

"The Soviet people and its army defeated militarist Japan and together with the other allies compelled its surrender. History will never forget that in the armed struggle against Fascism and aggression the Soviet Union played the principal role. This is the fact with which even those who would like to take advantages of the defeat of Japanese militarism for their own narrow, selfish interests must reckon."

Senator Owen Brewster (R), Massachusetts, got the chairmanship of the important Congressional Aviation Board because he and his Senate war investigating committee got in hot water with the Howard Hughes hearing.

GOP leadership, including some who never rated Brewster very high agreed that something had to be done to offset the adverse publicity the Maine senator got for himself and the party when his attack on Hughes backfired. So Brewster went to the head of the Aviation Board, which by its power to recommend America's future air policy becomes one of the most significant groups in the aviation field. Brewster hopes to redeem himself and his party as chairman of the congressional group.

At a dinner Brewster hosted for President Truman's civilian air policy commission, however, he was reported to have ribbed some of his guests for their lack of detailed aviation knowledge.

The aviation industry is afraid that conflict between the GOP-controlled Congress and the administration-appointed commission may retard vitally needed progress.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Millenium

The most spectacular single element about the new Coca Cola show (C. B. S. 6:30 p. m. EST Sundays) is its advertising. "The Pause That Refreshes on the Air," says the announcer, Roger Pryor, at the opening of the show. "Presented by the Coca Cola Company." In the middle of the program Mr. Pryor declares—and I quote him in full—"The Pause That Refreshes is brought to you each week at this time by the Coca Cola Company." At the end of the half hour, the listener is advised, wherever he is and whatever he's doing, to pause and refresh himself. That's all. Nothing about Coca Cola's tangy goodness. Not a word about that tired feeling. If anything is locked into Coca Cola, we are not informed about it.

This brings radio advertising right back to the point where it first undertook the support of radio. In the early days long, long ago, programs were presented simply "by courtesy of" whoever was paying the bills. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the first broadcaster to accept advertising on the air, refused to countenance any direct appeals for the product. Now by exercise of phenomenal self-control, the Coca Cola Company returns voluntarily to this basic principle and listeners everywhere must find it as startling as the pistol shots and galloping hooves that disfigure so many other commercials. The program is indeed a pause that refreshes.

Everything else about this musical program is as tasteful and subdued as its advertising. The music is provided by Percy Faith and his huge orchestra; the vocals are handled by Ginny Simms and both of them are assisted now and then by a choir. As programs of popular music go, this is an unusually sophisticated one. It dwells almost exclusively on the popular favorites of a few years back ("What Is This Thing Called Love?", "Old Black Magic" or "Easy To Love") and avoids the overplayed favorites of today. (The sooner that guy smokes himself to death the better, say I.)

Mr. Faith's orchestra, in case you never heard it, leans toward the Andre Kostelanetz school, though it has enough individuality to make that comparison odious. The orchestra is loaded with violins and the arrangements stress vivid tone color, a phrase from the entire violin section alternating with a phrase, let us say, from a single woodwind. Once in awhile, the arrangers get a trifle over-enthusiastic and the result is a sort of papier mache Tschaikowsky or, if that doesn't suggest anything to you, the sort of baroque and wildly exaggerrated music you hear in movies just as the heroine gets to thinking about her long-lost boy friend.

Since good taste appears to be what Coca Cola is striving for, the company could hardly have picked a better singer for the role than Ginny Simms. Miss Simms is a veteran of many years of popular singing and oddly enough she has discarded rather than picked up vocal tricks as she went along. It takes both experience and self-confidence to sing a song simply, relying on voice rather than technique, and that is exactly what she does. It's a voice of haunting sweetness and there's enough of it to make two or three popular singers.

The program offers one other blessing to harassed listeners. Applause, a noise more gratifying to entertainers than to the rest of us, is restricted to the end of the program. With its energies thus dammed for half an hour, the audience responds at the end tumultuously and every handclap, I should say, is well deserved.

CONCLUSIVE OPINION FROM A DISTINGUISHED MIND: Drew Pearson, the sage of Washington, took exception the other night to the Soviet publication which compared President Truman with Adolf Hitler. "They made a mistake calling Harry Truman a Hitler," said Mr. Pearson, clearing up a matter that must have worried a lot of people. "Harry Truman has nothing in common with Hitler."

THESE DAYS

Ex-Communist Witnesses

There is no way of getting at the full facts of the damage done to this country by Communists and other subversive agents of foreign governments except through public witnessing by those who have, for one reason or another, turned on their former masters and associates.

The motives for change are different. Some were disappointed in their ambitions to become proletarian leaders; others discovered that whereas they believed that they were serving a fine ideal, they were really being used to betray their own country. Such men as Jay Lovestone and Ben Gitlow have devoted themselves, at risk and sacrifice, to protect this country as they once sought to destroy its government. I have among my friends and acquaintances literally dozens of men and women who, during the Hitler-Stalin Alliance, were so ashamed of Soviet synicism that from ardent Communists they became ardent anti-Communists. Such a man as Dr. J. B. Matthews, while never a Communist, was associated with that party as a fellow traveler; yet, I venture to say that no man has fought that party more ably and more consistently once he discovered the essential wickedness of the movement.

The risk these ex-Communists take is very real. Already there is a growing list of Americans who have lost their lives in this fight Juliet Stuart Poyntz disappeared in New York in broad daylight as she was about to make a dramatic switch. Carlo Tresca was shot down on its streets. Walter Krivitsky was mysteriously killed in Washington. George W. Albert was murdered in San Francisco. And there have been others.

In fighting Communists, our government is absolutely dependent upon the ex-Communists; yet, it does nothing to protect them from the brutality of Communist lawyers who use tactics in hearings that ought not to be permitted in any court of law or hearing before government officials. Rather than submit to shameless browbeating and unbridled vituperation, these witnesses will take to cover and then the government will have no corroborative evidence. Of course, that is what the Communist lawyers seeks to accomplish. They seek publicly to intimidate the witnesses.

The usual tactics of Communist lawyers are to discredit and demoralize the witness for the government by character assassination, slander, vituperation, innuendo, smear. Government attorneys have thus far demonstrated an utter incapacity to protect their own witnesses in recent cases from such attacks. They have permitted Communist attorneys to drag in all sorts of extraneous issues and turn the proceedings into a circus. They are so baffled by the indecencies of the Communist lawyers that they become mentally paralyzed.

For reasons not apparent, a latitude is permitted Communist counsel that is not usual in American courts. Since when is it right for counsel and witness to engage in a running argument as to each other's private life? The word "rat" has a gangster connotation; it is not the language of a courtroom.

Some of the ex-Communists have told me that while government witnesses are treated with visible discourtesy, the Communists under indictment and investigation are shown every consideration. Current witness fees are set at such a low figure ($4.50 per diem) that the witness pays out of his own pocket for lost wages and living expenses during the proceedings. In some cases his absence from his job may mean its loss. Where a witness is employed in an industry with a Communist-controlled union, this is bound to happen.

If the government is seriously trying to tackle the Communist menace, then the first step is to employ qualified experts in such cases. Amateurs can bring only discredit upon the government. Every effort should be made to insure the cooperation and protection of friendly witnesses. If the Administration is sincere in its desire to expose the anti-American machinations of the Communists, the cooperation of witnesses should receive the highest public commendation from the presiding officer at such proceedings. As it is, it appears that the government treats its own witnesses with contempt.

This is something that requires immediate consideration, for otherwise no former Communist will assist the government to free itself from the Fifth Column at work in this country. They do it now under these unfavorable conditions out of noble patriotism.

Prospective Home Builders Are Advised To Wait A Little Longer

By ROGER W. BABSON

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 5—Next to specific questions about securities, the people out here, at the present time, seem most interested in problems concerning the residential building outlook. Many are asking whether they should build now or wait. Others want to know whether they should build at all or buy an older-type house. I shall discuss these problems today.

Specifically, I advise your waiting a little longer if you can possibly do so. Pressure on building materials and building labor is still very strong. This means that your freedom to insist on quality is still restricted. Those of you who want the best should be in a better position to demand it next year than now.

As far as price is concerned, I do not believe you will save any money by waiting until next year. Your saving will be in quality, which, after all, is most important when you are making a 20-, 30-, or 50-year investment. It also is wise to wait until you can get a firm contract price and build under an architect's supervision.

What About Demand?

The years 1939 through 1946 saw a net increase in families of about 9,600,000. During that period, however, there were only 2,600,000 net dwellings added to the total. At the beginning of this year, I therefore estimate an accumulated demand for about 7,000,000 dwelling units. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that there were 359,000 units completed in the first half of 1947. During the last half of the year, there should be 700,000 more completions. Yet, 1,000,000 more couples will get married in 1947!

Hence, it can be seen that the pressure of demand remains extremely high. This prevents any sharp early decline in the cost of construction. I, however, would predict that during 1948 the price of building will remain close to present levels; but with improved quality of construction and less labor union interference. In fact, I expect building costs to stabilize not far from current levels.

If your need for a house is imminent and pressing, you might consider buying an old house if the location is right. However, if you can wait, I suggest you wait and then build a new and modern home. In buying an old house, be doubly certain that needed repairs are not too extensive as renovation costs are now very expensive. In selecting an old house, be very careful to avoid extremes in size and architecture as the "out-of-style" types will be the first to crash valuewise when the demand fades.

Bear in mind that the future value of your house will be governed by the price district in which you buy or build. Never build a $15,000 home in a $10,000 price district. If you do, you may be throwing away $5,000 immediately. Generally, depreciation occurs on the house only, and appreciation occurs on the land only, while money spent on personal desires either on a new home or on remodeling an old one, must be charged off when reselling. Watch out for restrictions.

Mortgage Outlook

During the months ahead, I do not expect any change in the mortgage money situation. The pressure of savings seeking investment should continue low interest rates and an easy attitude on the part of bank appraisers. The biggest demand for mortgage money will be for multiple dwelling units. High costs of homes forces many in the lower-income groups to seek small rentals in apartment dwellings. Hence, the demand for such houses will reach a higher level and there will be more of some types of government housing subsidies.

The weather here in the Central West is wonderful; most crops are bountiful and the people are superbly gracious. These great broad farms and rich natural resources and independent people make me want to stay here forever!

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

I hope it will not be long before an authentic life of the late Fiorello H. La Guardia will be written and widely sold and read. The story of his life is an inspiring one. He was the son of an Italian immigrant, born in New York City, in a tenement on the East Side. For nearly a dozen years he was an able and distinguished Congressman, and later Mayor of New York City for three terms—the longest of any other Mayor in the city's history—and by universal acclaim the best. I am proud of the fact that I had the privilege of voting the three times for him for Mayor.

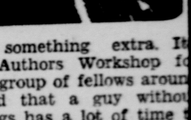

But the significant thing about this man was that he could climb to such a notable height in political life, and imprint his personality upon a city, a nation, and the world, in the way that he did. He had to have free America in which to do so. He was a fighter. He was absolutely uncontrolled. He had his city and his nation always at heart, and he loved both. His sympathy was always with "the under dog"—the little fellow. He was a little fellow himself, in stature, but not in mind.

La Guardia was absolutely fearless. He was colorful and engaging, and the plain people trusted him, for they knew he was for them. The late William Allen White once referred to him as embodying many of the traits of Abraham Lincoln, though he was a fiery, excitable type—but forever seeking to establish clean government, efficiently conducted. No other public servant of Italian parentage ever reached so high a place of honor in America.

Here was a little fellow who gave of his strength of body and courage of heart without stint. He was forever on the go. Long hours meant nothing to him—only accomplishment for the good of those whom he served. Up to a few weks before his fatal illness his thoughts were of the troubled conditions of the world. He was a great citizen of the world—one all too valuable to lose, yet trailing his memory will be the example of his great devotion to high and notable purposes. The common folks have lost a champion.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

"There's a fellow in the waiting room who wants to talk to you about baskets," said the phone operator.

"Tell him to get lost," I said. "I got a basket."

Two hours later the girl rang again. "Ths basket fellow is still up here. Says he has to see you."

"All right," I sighed. "Send him down, and have someone with a fielder's glove ready to catch him on the first bounce."

The young man who came in started talking before he had the door closed behind him. "I'm a press agent," he said. "I want you to write a piece about my client."

"I try to write columns," I snapped. "Not ads. In 400 pieces I've never once mentioned my cabaret by name."

"This is different," he began.

"They're all different," I cut in. "But they all wind up as the story of the actress who is never so happy as when she's at home among her pots."

"I think you ought to listen," said the young man quietly

"What's so special about these baskets you're publicizing?" I asked.

"These baskets," said the press agent, "happen to be guys without arms and legs. Then there are others whose arms and legs are paralyzed. And still others with partial disabilities."

"You mean disabled veterans?"

"Yep."

"Aren't they being taken care of by General Bradley and the VA?"

"This is something extra. It's called the Authors Workshop for Veterans. A group of fellows around town figured that a guy without arms and legs has a lot of time to think. And if he can think, maybe he can write. Or at least dictate. We figured if we got such a guy interested in writing, he might open his eyes in the morning and have a reason to keep them open. Everybody working on this project is working for free."

"How are you making out?"

"Fine," said the young man. "About 250 vets in the New York area are sending us manuscripts regularly. We have an office at 136 West 42nd Street. A lot of top-flight authors, editors and publishers are giving us a hand. They read the stuff and make criticisms and suggestions. If it's any good, they help sell it."

"Any results so far?" I asked.

"Nothing spectacular," said the press agent. "Unless you count what it's doing for the veterans. We want you to write a piece about this because we're anxious for veterans all over the country—disabled or otherwise—to know about the Authors Workshop. If they'll send us their manuscripts, we'll do what ever we can to help. Who knows—we may turn up some good writers."

"I can't write such a column," I said. "It's too grim. My readers expect popcorn and palaver from me."

Chief Villian Of Fires Is Human Carelessness

By direction of President Truman, the week which began yesterday will be observed as Fire Prevention Week. In his proclamation, the President invited all business, labor, civic, religious and charitable groups and organizations, and all agencies of the press, radio and the moving picture industry, to cooperate fully "with the objective of initiating a fire prevention campaign continuing throughout the year."

The word "continuing" goes to the heart of the matter. It will serve no purpose if we think of fire prevention for a single week and then promptly forget it. The officially designated week must simply be a starting point. The fight against one of the worst destroyers of life and property must go on unabated.

According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, U. S. fire losses may exceed $700,000,000 this year—the highest in our history. That is twice the destruction caused by the burning of San Francisco—and more than three times the devastation wreaked by the German air force on Britain in any single year. Deaths by fire will probably exceed 10,000 and may also set a new and ghastly record.

Those figures alone should be enough to awaken America to the fact that fire loss has become a grave emergency. And every one of us should remember that fire respects no one—your home, your life, may be taken next. During the Week everyone will be given the opportunity to learn the causes of fire, and how to prevent it. Then it will be up to the people.

Here are some figures on needless habits which cause preventable fires:

Carelessness with matches and smoking starts 93,000 blazes a year.

Children playing with matches cause 26,000 fires.

Negligence in using and storing inflammable cleaning fluids causes 28,000 fires a year.

Defective wiring and misuse of electrical apparatus, 47,000 fires.

Improperly installed and poorly maintained heating equipment, 45,000 fires.

Inflammable roofs, 39,000 fires.

All of these causes of fires are old stuff. Even a child knows about them. Yet fires from these causes are repeated by the hundreds every day. They take an appalling toll of life and property. The per capita loss from fire in the United States before the war was $1.95 a year. Last year this figure rose to $4.01. The National Fire Protection Association thinks it may go to $5 this year. Nearly all of these fires could be avoided.

The chief villian is human carelessness.

Using Machines To Save Lives In World War Two

"Obvious logistical superiority in mobility and firepower enabled Patton's immortal Third Army to capture and disarm 1,280,688 Germans—or five times its own average total strength of 261,588." So in the Autumn number of Ordnance writes James L. Walsh, adding the moral: "It wasn't essential to kill; it was only necessary to be ready, willing and able to do so."

The writer, a distinguished Ordnance officer in World War I and now president of the Army Ordnance Association, arrays the testimony that underscores the moral. General Eisenhower said: "While some of our Allies were compelled to throw up a wall of flesh and blood as their chief defense against the agressor's onslaught, we were able to use machines and technology to save lives." Chief of Staff Marshall said: "As staggering as were our casualties, the forces opposing us suffered many times more heavily; 1,592,600 Germans, Italians and Japanese troops were killed for the 201,367 American soldiers who died," Secretary of War Patterson said: "We won the gas war without firing a gas shell or dropping a gas bomb," because the enemy knew the American power to retaliate and dared not start; won also the biological war (bacteria, fungi, etc.) because "the enemy so respected our retaliatory potential that we were spared the horrors of this type of warfare."

During World War II American scientists, engineers and industrialists, says Walsh, "provided the machines and technology to save lives. They shortened the war and reduced battle-death expectancy by 80 percent. Their continued interest in scientific and industrial preparedness may well avert war altogether."

Everything else has been tried—isolation, neutrality, moral suasion, stalling, "notes"—always in vain. To the American type of preparedness, which mobilizes science and industry and which means the saving of lives, and eventual assurance of freedom from outside attack, the Army Ordance Association is dedicated.

A Probe For Facts

In a few days a new inquiry into war contracts will get under way. The House Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments will investigate "frauds and overpayments" that, according to Chairman Bender, run into millions.

There appears to be a solid basis for this estimate in a report submitted to Congress by Controller General Warren. The General Accounting Office, said the report, had examined 4,789 accounts and had found evidence of fraud or overpayments in more than 5 per cent of that number. The limited examination made by the office, Mr. Warren charged, had revealed "at least" 79 settlements that were "induced by fraud" and the sums involved ran "well in excess of $2,000,000."

As there are 318,000 accounts in all, it would seem as though the committee has undertaken a task that should be rewarding. At any rate, it is justified in going deeper into the matter. The public will await with interest the appearance of Mr. Warren, who will be the first witness, when public hearings begin.

It is possible that Mr. Warren's conclusions will not be borne out when the cases he refers to are thoroughly scrutinized. It is possible that a number of contract terminations he considers fraudulent were actually the result of inadvertence. But if the committee does a sober and honest job of probing, no one will complain.

Next year's presidential election may be unusual in that all of the mud may have been slung before it starts.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

VIRUS VACCINES

NO ONE has succeeded in developing a wonder drug to combat virus infections. The exception is para-aminobenzoic acid which is used in typhus and Rocky Mountain spotted fever. But the efect of this chemical is hardly comparable to the influence of the sulfonamides and penicillin on bacterial disorders.

After the virus invades, it lives within the cells of the host, where it sets up housekeeping and multiplies. The young ones are apparently pushed from their nests and passed, via the tissue juices, into other cells to start homes of their own. Since they are difficult to eradicate the medicos have turned their attention toward prevention.

In virus diseases against which we have no vaccines, the fight must be taken to its source. Many are transmitted thru the bite of insects and by controling these pests, fewer individuals become victims. This means the use of preparations like DDT, repellents, and protective clothing.

The ordinary virus ailments are spread via the air. The cold is a good example and the organisms are broadcast with every sneeze and cough. Here the only solutions are isolation or cleansing the air that we breathe. Plans for the latter are in progress and the project comes under the heading of air sanitation. In addition we must keep resistance high so that the system is in better condition to withstand the onslaught of the germs or at least keep them from multiplying once they gain admission. There is little scientific data on this phase except that in certain animals a poor diet decreases resistance and increases the likelihood of infection.

Immunization has already proved its worth in many types of virus maladies. The best illustration is smallpox. This is a form of active immunization because a miniature pox is produced on the arm or leg to which the body develops antibodies that safeguard us for several years. A different type of vaccine is available for typhus. This preparation, when combined with rapid delousing by DDT, warded off serious outbreaks during the war.

Yellow fever vaccine remains active for more than a year and was utilized extensively by the armed services in areas where the disturbance was prevalent. If, at the same time, mosquitoes are controled, an unbeatable combination exists. Influenza A and B vaccines are newcomers that are being used with added frequency. On one occasion they were administered prior to an epidemic and afforded protection to two-thirds of those who received the injections.

Some of the virus vaccines are useful after exposure to diseases such as rabies and smallpox. Immune serum globulin for measles is a similar form of protection. We still lack protective substances for many of our most common virus infections, including colds, chicken pox, infantile diarrhea, mumps, German measles, and poliomyelitis. Scientific institutions all over the world are engaged in trying to solve this problem.

SCARS PERSIST

B. W. writes: Are chicken pox scars permanent?

REPLY

Yes. As a rule, the skin is not marred as markedly as in smallpox. But many victims of chicken pox are left with one or two scars on the face, in the region of the eyes.

BROWN SPOT

J. W. writes: What is a cold freckle?

REPLY

The term usually refers to a certain type of yellowish or brownish spot that appears on parts of the body not exposed to the sun.

THIS IS NATURAL

M. Z. writes: One of my kidneys was removed and now the remaining one is enlarging. Is this of any significance?

REPLY

In the absence of one kidney, the other will become larger since it must do the work of two. If it is otherwise normal, there is no need to be concerned.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

There is a big economy drive on in Hollywood. The movie studios have decided to cut down expenses and start saving for a rainy day.

Things are really bad at one studio — they even ran out of stage money.

And I know one producer who used to have sixteen "yes" men — now he is down to two "maybes" and a "could be".

The economy wave is really on. Over in Azusa a theater is showing "the two Mrs. Carrolls" — one at a time.

I saw a picture last night where the hero failed to show up at the end to marry the girl — he just didn't have the car fare.

Things are so bad the Westerners

Things are so bad the Westmores

Of course, my "road" pictures will be affected by the economy drive. From now on we're going to use alleys.

The westerns are really the hardest hit. I know one big western star who was fired in the economy drive — they found a horse that could play the guitar and fight better.

And they laid off one of Trigger's makeup men — from now on he's going to have his tail combed with a mixmaster.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. — Most people have the idea Great Britain is so tired, she's finished. However, a young British Member of Parliament, Henry Usborne, arrived in Washington the other day with more enthusiastic energy, more idealism and more persuasiveness than the proverbial go-getting American.

Usborne is a small manufacturer in the British Midlands, makes machinery for laundries. However, it was not to sell laundry equipment that he came to the USA. It was to sell the idea of a world government. And so far he has got surprisingly enthusiastic response from a lot of important people.

Greatest enthusiasm came from the atomic scientists — including Professor Einstein and Dr. Leo Szilard. Having given the world an instrument for wrecking the world, they feel they should also try to find some means of saving the world.

"The world's leaders are deadlocked," Usborne told the atomic scientists and others in Washington. They have reached a position where Russia is balanced off against the United States and, like a locomotive on dead center, they can't get off dead center.

"Any move the United States makes for peace, no matter how sincere," Usborne argued, "is suspected by Russia, merely because it is made by the United States. No matter how ardently your statesmen strive for peace, they can't win. And the statesmen of Western Europe have a feeling of hopelessness too. They can't win either.

People vs. Their Leaders

"So maybe," continues Usborne, "that is where just the plain common people of the world can do something—the people who have to fight wars. Perhaps if they now step in with a mass demand for a world government—a great mass demand by millions of people, then it's possible they can do what the world's leaders cannot do."

Usborne points out that the United Nations, now split wide open and failing to function, can never solve the world's present impasse. It gets more deadlocked every time it meets. But if several million people in the United States, France, England and the Scandinavian countries elect their own delegates to a world conference in Geneva, then a United States of Europe or a United States of the World could gradually germinate.

Usborne figures it will take at least two years to hold a world conference; but he also figures the time to begin working toward it is now.

"I don't want the movement to grow too fast over here," Usborne explains, "because if the United States begins advocating world government too vigorously, then Russia will regard it as an American proposition.

"So let us get a start first in England, France and Scandinavia," says this indefatigable Britisher who talks with such determination that you can't help being convinced not only that Britain is not dead, but that he may have the germ of an idea which can really save the peace.

Bob Taft's Pickets

Bob Taft's advance huskster on his Washington state barnstorm was gravel-voiced Senator Harry Cain. Before the jump-off into the Pacific Northwest, the two held a last-minute huddle in San Francisco.

"Harry," asked Taft uneasily, "what do you think about the picketing against my speeches?"

"If they try to stop," rumbled the Washington Republican, I'll personally subsidize them. No one in my state paid any attention to you until the picketing started."

Under The Dome

According to Senatorial colleagues, when Bob Taft has lunch in the Senate restaurant, he orders two portions of meat . . . Harold Stassen was talking to his Washington office manager, Earl Hart, about Hart's daughter, who is studying music. "I used to play the piano rather well," said Hart, "in fact I almost made a career of it." "When I get in the White House," responded Stassen, "you'll be the piano-player, Earl, not me"..... Before Senator McGrath got the job of Democratic National Committeeman, Truman made one last attempt to give it to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson. "If I leave my food job for a political job," replied Anderson, "it would hurt the Administration." Truman concurred .... When Gael Sullivan announced his resignation as Democratic director—later withdrawn—he got an immediate offer of $25,000 from Capitol Airlines: also a call from North Dakota's Republican Senator Langer offering to get him a job in the Northwest.

General Eisenhower's greatest asset is his personal charm. When he emerged from a conference the other day, a bevy of giggling bobby-sovers demanded his autograph. "Who are these young ladies waiting for," asked the General, flashing his famous grin, "Frank Sinatra?" .... Before Herbert Hoover left for his economic survey of Germany, he insisted upon taking the refugee German economist, Gustav Stoelper. The State Department, suspicious of Stoelper, objected, but Hoover stubbornly refused to go without him. Finally the State Department relented on condition Hoover not permit Stoelper to see unauthorized visitors on the trip . . . Capt. William Broderick and Lieut. Marlin Wilson of the Capitol police rate kudos for their alert nabbing of that demented tourist, armed with a loaded .38 revolver in a shoulder holster. So does Marjorie Amidon of Representative John Hennings' (Tenn.) staff, who tipped off the police before any damage was done.

In its $11,000,000 probe for Communists, the Government is feverishly fingerprinting its vast army of federal workers. Overlooked is the fact that these same workers passed through the same messy routine when they were first employed, and their original fingerprints are on file—at the FBI....At least one staunch Republican will side with Howard Hughes when the Senate hearing reopens under the klieg lights next month. The unexpected convert is Sen. Harry Cain of Washington who inspected Hughes' plant in California, came away impressed .... Senator Owen Brewster is leaning over backward these days to be unbiased in his new role as Chairman of the Joint Congressional Air Policy Committee. The Maine Republican picked as executive secretary for his advisory board Langdon P. Marvin Jr.—godson of Franklin D. Roosevelt and an outspoken foe of Brewster's pet "one instrument" policy . . . . Washington state politicians have a special reason for keeping a wary eye on the Eisenhower boom. They are worried that the same boom might propel Eisenhower's erstwhile aide, Col. James Stack of Tacoma, Wash., into the Governor's mansion. Both Republican and Democratic leaders tried to find out what Stack's politics are, but he laughed them off with typical Eisenhower abandon.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, (C.P.) — Best guess in Congress now is that, when all the argument is over, the Marshall plan for European rehabilitation will be cut about one-third. Some members think it may be cut in half. But veterans on foreign affairs say a one-third reduction is a better bet.

Brewster

Another thing regarded as certain is that Congress will provide for United States supervision of the way the aid furnished is spent.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders say there is no prospect that money will be ladled out to European countries to be spent as they desire.

Expectation is that the United States will be called upon to finance nearly all of the 22 billion dollar program. One administration leader estimated that Latin American countries would not put up one billion dollars. And indications are that Canada will not contribute a large sum.

A one-third reduction in the program would bring it down to about 15 billions. The feeling is that Congress under no circumstances is likely to approve more than that sum for European aid over a four-year period.

Look for a fast, active session of Congress when the House and Senate reconvene Jan. 6. Despite the manifold problems facing them, neither the Republicans nor Democrats will be in a mood for a lengthy session. The reason? A presidential election year.

The national conventions will be held in June and July. Congress will undoubtedly recess in the meantime. As a result, if anything is to be accomplished, the work must be done largely by May.

Committees will be able to get to work without delay at the next session. In fact, the more important ones, such as ways and means, appropriations, and possibly foreign affairs, will get under way in November or December in advance of the opening date.

On top of Andrei Vishinsky's sword-rattling speech before the U. N. General Assembly, the Russian embassy in Washington is laying new claims to having won the Pacific war against the Japanese almost single handed.

The current issue of the Soviet Information bulletin, published by the Embassy, makes no mention of the United States and British contributions to the world victory, let alone the victory in the Far East.

One might almost think that the United States had not participated in the Japanese war, let alone winning it without any important aid from any other source. Says the bulletin:

"The Soviet people and its army defeated militarist Japan and together with the other allies compelled its surrender. History will never forget that in the armed struggle against Fascism and aggression the Soviet Union played the principal role. This is the fact with which even those who would like to take advantages of the defeat of Japanese militarism for their own narrow, selfish interests must reckon."

Senator Owen Brewster (R), Massachusetts, got the chairmanship of the important Congressional Aviation Board because he and his Senate war investigating committee got in hot water with the Howard Hughes hearing.

GOP leadership, including some who never rated Brewster very high agreed that something had to be done to offset the adverse publicity the Maine senator got for himself and the party when his attack on Hughes backfired. So Brewster went to the head of the Aviation Board, which by its power to recommend America's future air policy becomes one of the most significant groups in the aviation field. Brewster hopes to redeem himself and his party as chairman of the congressional group.

At a dinner Brewster hosted for President Truman's civilian air policy commission, however, he was reported to have ribbed some of his guests for their lack of detailed aviation knowledge.

The aviation industry is afraid that conflict between the GOP-controlled Congress and the administration-appointed commission may retard vitally needed progress.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Millenium

The most spectacular single element about the new Coca Cola show (C. B. S. 6:30 p. m. EST Sundays) is its advertising. "The Pause That Refreshes on the Air," says the announcer, Roger Pryor, at the opening of the show. "Presented by the Coca Cola Company." In the middle of the program Mr. Pryor declares—and I quote him in full—"The Pause That Refreshes is brought to you each week at this time by the Coca Cola Company." At the end of the half hour, the listener is advised, wherever he is and whatever he's doing, to pause and refresh himself. That's all. Nothing about Coca Cola's tangy goodness. Not a word about that tired feeling. If anything is locked into Coca Cola, we are not informed about it.

This brings radio advertising right back to the point where it first undertook the support of radio. In the early days long, long ago, programs were presented simply "by courtesy of" whoever was paying the bills. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the first broadcaster to accept advertising on the air, refused to countenance any direct appeals for the product. Now by exercise of phenomenal self-control, the Coca Cola Company returns voluntarily to this basic principle and listeners everywhere must find it as startling as the pistol shots and galloping hooves that disfigure so many other commercials. The program is indeed a pause that refreshes.

Everything else about this musical program is as tasteful and subdued as its advertising. The music is provided by Percy Faith and his huge orchestra; the vocals are handled by Ginny Simms and both of them are assisted now and then by a choir. As programs of popular music go, this is an unusually sophisticated one. It dwells almost exclusively on the popular favorites of a few years back ("What Is This Thing Called Love?", "Old Black Magic" or "Easy To Love") and avoids the overplayed favorites of today. (The sooner that guy smokes himself to death the better, say I.)

Mr. Faith's orchestra, in case you never heard it, leans toward the Andre Kostelanetz school, though it has enough individuality to make that comparison odious. The orchestra is loaded with violins and the arrangements stress vivid tone color, a phrase from the entire violin section alternating with a phrase, let us say, from a single woodwind. Once in awhile, the arrangers get a trifle over-enthusiastic and the result is a sort of papier mache Tschaikowsky or, if that doesn't suggest anything to you, the sort of baroque and wildly exaggerrated music you hear in movies just as the heroine gets to thinking about her long-lost boy friend.

Since good taste appears to be what Coca Cola is striving for, the company could hardly have picked a better singer for the role than Ginny Simms. Miss Simms is a veteran of many years of popular singing and oddly enough she has discarded rather than picked up vocal tricks as she went along. It takes both experience and self-confidence to sing a song simply, relying on voice rather than technique, and that is exactly what she does. It's a voice of haunting sweetness and there's enough of it to make two or three popular singers.

The program offers one other blessing to harassed listeners. Applause, a noise more gratifying to entertainers than to the rest of us, is restricted to the end of the program. With its energies thus dammed for half an hour, the audience responds at the end tumultuously and every handclap, I should say, is well deserved.

CONCLUSIVE OPINION FROM A DISTINGUISHED MIND: Drew Pearson, the sage of Washington, took exception the other night to the Soviet publication which compared President Truman with Adolf Hitler. "They made a mistake calling Harry Truman a Hitler," said Mr. Pearson, clearing up a matter that must have worried a lot of people. "Harry Truman has nothing in common with Hitler."

Ex-Communist Witnesses

There is no way of getting at the full facts of the damage done to this country by Communists and other subversive agents of foreign governments except through public witnessing by those who have, for one reason or another, turned on their former masters and associates.

The motives for change are different. Some were disappointed in their ambitions to become proletarian leaders; others discovered that whereas they believed that they were serving a fine ideal, they were really being used to betray their own country. Such men as Jay Lovestone and Ben Gitlow have devoted themselves, at risk and sacrifice, to protect this country as they once sought to destroy its government. I have among my friends and acquaintances literally dozens of men and women who, during the Hitler-Stalin Alliance, were so ashamed of Soviet synicism that from ardent Communists they became ardent anti-Communists. Such a man as Dr. J. B. Matthews, while never a Communist, was associated with that party as a fellow traveler; yet, I venture to say that no man has fought that party more ably and more consistently once he discovered the essential wickedness of the movement.

The risk these ex-Communists take is very real. Already there is a growing list of Americans who have lost their lives in this fight Juliet Stuart Poyntz disappeared in New York in broad daylight as she was about to make a dramatic switch. Carlo Tresca was shot down on its streets. Walter Krivitsky was mysteriously killed in Washington. George W. Albert was murdered in San Francisco. And there have been others.

In fighting Communists, our government is absolutely dependent upon the ex-Communists; yet, it does nothing to protect them from the brutality of Communist lawyers who use tactics in hearings that ought not to be permitted in any court of law or hearing before government officials. Rather than submit to shameless browbeating and unbridled vituperation, these witnesses will take to cover and then the government will have no corroborative evidence. Of course, that is what the Communist lawyers seeks to accomplish. They seek publicly to intimidate the witnesses.

The usual tactics of Communist lawyers are to discredit and demoralize the witness for the government by character assassination, slander, vituperation, innuendo, smear. Government attorneys have thus far demonstrated an utter incapacity to protect their own witnesses in recent cases from such attacks. They have permitted Communist attorneys to drag in all sorts of extraneous issues and turn the proceedings into a circus. They are so baffled by the indecencies of the Communist lawyers that they become mentally paralyzed.

For reasons not apparent, a latitude is permitted Communist counsel that is not usual in American courts. Since when is it right for counsel and witness to engage in running argument as to each other's private life? The word "rat" has a gangster connotation; it is not the language of a courtroom.

Some of the ex-Communists have told me that while government witnesses are treated with visible discourtesy, the Communists under indictment and investigation are shown every consideration. Current witness fees are set at such a low figure ($4.50 per diem) that the witness pays out of his own pocket for lost wages and living expenses during the proceedings. In some cases his absence from his job may mean its loss. Where a witness is employed in an industry with a Communist-controlled union, this is bound to happen.

If the government is seriously trying to tackle the Communist menace, then the first step is to employ qualified experts in such cases. Amateurs can bring only discredit upon the government. Every effort should be made to insure the cooperation and protection of friendly witnesses. If the Administration is sincere in its desire to expose the anti-American machinations of the Communists, the cooperation of witnesses should receive the highest public commendation from the presiding officer at such proceedings. As it is, it appears that the government treats its own witnesses with contempt.

This is something that requires immediate consideration, for otherwise no former Communist will assist the government to free itself from the Fifth Column at work in this country. They do it now under these unfavorable conditions out of noble patriotism.

Prospective Home Builders Are Advised To Wait A Little Longer

By ROGER W. BABSON

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 5—Next to specific questions about securities, the people out here, at the present time, seem most interested in problems concerning the residential building outlook. Many are asking whether they should build now or wait. Others want to know whether they should build at all or buy an older-type house. I shall discuss these problems today.

Specifically, I advise your waiting a little longer if you can possibly do so. Pressure on building materials and building labor is still very strong. This means that your freedom to insist on quality is still restricted. Those of you who want the best should be in a better position to demand it next year than now.

As far as price is concerned, I do not believe you will save any money by waiting until next year. Your saving will be in quality, which, after all, is most important when you are making a 20-, 30-, or 50-year investment. It also is wise to wait until you can get a firm contract price and build under an architect's supervision.

What About Demand?

The years 1939 through 1946 saw a net increase in families of about 9,600,000. During that period, however, there were only 2,600,000 net dwellings added to the total. At the beginning of this year, I therefore estimate an accumulated demand for about 7,000,000 dwelling units. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that there were 359,000 units completed in the first half of 1947. During the last half of the year, there should be 700,000 more completions. Yet, 1,000,000 more couples will get married in 1947!

Hence, it can be seen that the pressure of demand remains extremely high. This prevents any sharp early decline in the cost of construction. I, however, would predict that during 1948 the price of building will remain close to present levels; but with improved quality of construction and less labor union interference. In fact, I expect building costs to stabilize not far from current levels.

If your need for a house is imminent and pressing, you might consider buying an old house if the location is right. However, if you can wait, I suggest you wait and then build a new and modern home. In buying an old house, be doubly certain that needed repairs are not too extensive as renovation costs are now very expensive. In selecting an old house, be very careful to avoid extremes in size and architecture as the "out-of-style" types will be the first to crash valuewise when the demand fades.

Bear in mind that the future value of your house will be governed by the price district in which you buy or build. Never build a $15,000 home in a $10,000 price district. If you do, you may be throwing away $5,000 immediately. Generally, depreciation occurs on the house only, and appreciation occurs on the land only, while money spent on personal desires either on a new home or on remodeling an old one, must be charged off when reselling. Watch out for restrictions.

Mortgage Outlook

During the months ahead, I do not expect any change in the mortgage money situation. The pressure of savings seeking investment should continue low interest rates and an easy attitude on the part of bank appraisers. The biggest demand for mortgage money will be for multiple dwelling units. High costs of homes forces many in the lower-income groups to seek small rentals in apartment dwellings. Hence, the demand for such houses will reach a higher level and there will be more of some types of government housing subsidies.

The weather here in the Central West is wonderful; most crops are bountiful and the people are superbly gracious. These great broad farms and rich natural resources and independent people make me want to stay here forever!

"There's a fellow in the waiting room who wants to talk to you about baskets," said the phone operator.

"Tell him to get lost," I said. "I got a basket."

Two hours later the girl rang again. "Ths basket fellow is still up here. Says he has to see you."

"All right," I sighed. "Send him down, and have someone with a fielder's glove ready to catch him on the first bounce."

The young man who came in started talking before he had the door closed behind him. "I'm a press agent," he said. "I want you to write a piece about my client."

"I try to write columns," I snapped. "Not ads. In 400 pieces I've never once mentioned my cabaret by name."

"This is different," he began.

"They're all different," I cut in. "But they all wind up as the story of the actress who is never so happy as when she's at home among her pots."

"I think you ought to listen," said the young man quietly

"What's so special about these baskets you're publicizing?" I asked.

"These baskets," said the press agent, "happen to be guys without arms and legs. Then there are others whose arms and legs are paralyzed. And still others with partial disabilities."

"You mean disabled veterans?"

"Yep."

"Aren't they being taken care of by General Bradley and the VA?"

"This is something extra. It's called the Authors Workshop for Veterans. A group of fellows around town figured that a guy without arms and legs has a lot of time to think. And if he can think, maybe he can write. Or at least dictate. We figured if we got such a guy interested in writing, he might open his eyes in the morning and have a reason to keep them open. Everybody working on this project is working for free."

"How are you making out?"

"Fine," said the young man. "About 250 vets in the New York area are sending us manuscripts regularly. We have an office at 136 West 42nd Street. A lot of top flight authors, editors and publishers are giving us a hand. They read the stuff and make criticisms and suggestions. If it's any good, they help sell it."

"Any results so far?" I asked.

"Nothing spectacular," said the press agent. "Unless you count what it's doing for the veterans. We want you to write a piece about this because we're anxious for veterans all over the country—disabled or otherwise—to know about the Authors Workshop. If they'll send us their manuscripts, we'll do what ever we can to help. Who knows—we may turn up some good writers."

"I can't write such a column," I said. "It's too grim. My readers expect popcorn and palaver from me."

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5—(INS)—When you talk baseball these days (and who isn't) you're talking Jackie Robinson. This morning, I can tell you that this great negro baseball player comes to Hollywood after the World Series to make a picture for PRC.

Jackie Robinson

It's called "Courage" and the deal was made with the sanction of Branch Rickey, owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers, for whom Jackie does his ball playing.

This ends a flurry of rumors about his movie plans. Last week it was hot for Jackie to appear in "The Life of Babe Ruth" for Roy Del Ruth. But that script isn't ready and Jackie has to start training in January.

Once again "The Robe" is being discussed with a thought of making the picture in Rome. That's where all the scenes are laid, and it would be possible to make it at much less cost there.

Film rights of the widely publicized book by Dr. Lloyd C. Douglas, belong to Frank Ross who will make it for RKO.

Mervyn Le Roy, who spent two years of his life helping to get the script ready, will not direct it. He's committed on the MGM lot to do some big things.

Nora Eddington gets Errol Flynn in "Don Juan," as well as in real life. She told me that she doesn't come into the picture until almost the finale.

"But," she said laughing, "I'm the one that lands Mr. Don Juan." Nora has become such a charming, beautiful woman. Gone is that young unsureness, that fear her marriage wouldn't work out. Errol too, has changed.

They were having dinner with Hazel Brooks, Cedric Gibbons and Mrs. Gary Cooper.

Cathy Downs telephoned that she and John Champion have called off their engagement. At first I accused her of announcing her engagement as a publicity stunt because Champion was assistant producer on her picture.

Cathy hotly denied this, saying, "I'm 21 and that's young. When I get married I want it to last. I don't want to be divorced. I like John tremendously, but he and I both agreed to wait and if we really care, to marry later."

They met while both were working at Monogram. It was just a case of propinquity and not really love, she says.

As of today, Joan Crawford is not marrying Greg Bautzer. Joan says her heart is in New York and always has been—Joanie, can we believe you?

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Couldn't believe my eyes—Gene Tierney and Orson Welles making eyes at each other—and what eyes! They were in a party Otto Preminger gave.

Saw Joan Caulfield, looking like a rose, dining with Charlie Feldman at Romanoff's.

Merle Oberon showed me the wire on her teeth and said that her jaw had actually been fractured.

Betty Avery Drown and Ken Schmidt, a twosome at the Mocambo, are announcing their marriage plans any edition.

Townsend Netcher's Santa Monica house is being repaired, repainted and refurnished in readiness for his bride-to-be, Harriet Taylor.

Irene Dunne has been sick with a bad sore throat and out of the "I Remember Mama" cast for a week. You know when Irene stays off a picture she's really pretty sick.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Deer Makes Hunting Hazardous Sport

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — The deer wouldn't let them hunt deer, explained Architect C. A. Caulkins, Jr., and his son, Kenneth, 13, as they bandaged minor wounds.

The two said they entered a Sonoma valley farm yard to ask permission to hunt. Instead of a farmer, they met a four-point buck. It charged. They grabbed its horns, fought a losing wrestling match, finally escaped through a fence, cut and bruised.

SALLY'S SALLIES

Fire "Most Democratic Thing," Gov. Lane Says

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5—(AP)—"Fire is the most democratic thing in the world," Gov. Lane declared today in a radio address opening Fire Prevention Week in Maryland.

"It attacks the young, the aged, the weak, the strong, the rich, the poor, the intellectual, the well-informed and those not so well informed with ever increasing regularity."

Protection of the lives and property of a free people as well as protection of their privileges is the duty of both the citizens and the government in a democracy, he said in an address.

Thank God For Muscle-Rub!
WRITES MR. ROBERT JORDAN, COLON, MICH.
Advises every sufferer from Rheumatic—Arthritic—Sciatic—Neuritic Pains to try Muscle-Rub.
Here's the true story of a man who took treatments, used all kind of remedies for his sciatic, neuritic pains without being helped in the slightest degree. Mr. Robert Jordan of Colon, Mich., suffered agony from pains in his hip—knee—calf of legs. The pain at times was so bad that he couldn't sit down. He tried several different treatments, many different medicines, all of which did him no good. He couldn't work. Life was misery for him.
Then one day he saw an advertisement of Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. He used it as directed and in 3 days the pains were relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.
No wonder he advises every rheumatic sufferer to try Muscle-Rub for fast pain relief. Get a bottle today at

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Is Worried Because Boy Friend Threatens To Commit Suicide

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

In my mail lately there have been a number of letters from girls who are worried because their boy friends threaten to commit suicide unless the girls marry them.

A typical letter says:

"I am a girl of 19 who has been engaged for nine months to a boy of the same age. My boy friend has asked me to marry him right away and has told me that, if I will not do this, he is going to make away with himself. I really believe he will attempt such a thing, and I could never live it down if something like that happened.

"I have asked him to wait until my birthday, which is in January, but all I get for an answer is no. I would like to know what I should do in a case like this. I don't want to be married right away, but I do love him very much."

Now, whether it is a boy of 19, or a man 10, 20, or 30 years older, anybody who threatens to commit suicide if he can't get what he wants is one of the best people in the world to stay away from. A man of this type, who tries to get his own way with threats, gives himself away as a childish character that is unable to handle either himself or the situations with which life confronts him. He is like a baby who holds his breath until he is black in the face in order to frighten his mother into doing something he wants her to do and which he cannot get her to do any other way.

There would be nothing but lifelong misery ahead for any girl who married a man of this kind, for her marriage would simply be a series of crises in which her husband would continue to get his own way because he would be afraid not to give it to him.

In every instance of this kind which has been brought to my attention, the girl is already afraid not to accede to her young man's wishes, lest he actually carry out his threat. She should, however, get two things very clearly in mind.

The first is that it would be very doubtful indeed that the chap would go so far as to make good on his threat. This sort of thing has been going on probably since men and women were created, and the percentage of disappointed lovers who brandish the threat of suicide as a weapon over the loved one's head, and actually use it, is very small. As a rule, once it has been made clear to them that they cannot have their way, they drop their bluster and turn their attention in some other direction.

The second thing for any girl to remember who finds her self with such a situation on her hands is that, if the young man did commit suicide, she should in no way consider herself to blame, and should refuse to allow her self the luxury of thinking that a man loved her so much that he couldn't live without her and chose death rather than give her up. This would definitely not be the case, because this kind of man would almost certainly commit an act of this sort sooner or later for one thing if not another.

51,123 SEE CARDS SUBDUE BEARS, 31-7

CHICAGO, Oct. 5 (AP)—A record Chicago professional football crowd of 51,123 today watched the power-laden Chicago Cardinals trim the National Football League champion Chicago Bears, 31-7, as Pitchin' Paul Christman tossed two touchdown passes and himself sneaked to a third score.

The standing-room throng at Comiskey Park saw the Bears fade for their second straight league defeat after grabbing a 7-0 lead in the first period on a 40-yard run by Quarterback Si dLuckman.

The Cards scored one touchdown in the second period, easily slammed up off a polished performed to two more in the third and nance for their second straight victory with Pat Harder's 26 yard field goal and a six-yard pass from Christman to end Billy Dewell in the final period.

Green Bay Packers Conquer Rams, 17-14

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 5 (AP) — A hard-charging line paved the way to a 17-14 Green Bay Packers victory over the Los Angeles Rams today in a National Football League game before 31,613 fans at State Fair Park.

Ike Williams Will Fight At Detroit

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—(AP)—Lightweight Champion Ike Williams, middleweight contender Marcel Cerdan, heavyweight Tami Mauriello and former NBA Middleweight Champion Al Hostak are among the fighters who will see action this week.

Williams, of Trenton, N. J., clashes in a non-title ten with Talmadge Bussey of Detroit in the Motor City Friday night. The other three top-notchers are slated for action Tuesday night in ten-rounders.

Cerdan meets Billy Walker of Portland, Ore., at Montreal, Mauriello opposes a fellow New Yorker, Teddy Randolph, at Buffalo, N. Y., while Hostak battles in his home town, Seattle, against Georgie Duke of San Francisco.

On the Monday night card Chicago Stadium will feature a pair of tens matching lightweights Johnny Bratton of Chicago against Gene Burton of New York, and Light Heavyweights Chuck Hunter of Cleveland vs. Bob Satterfield of Chicago.

Other fights include:

Monday: At Baltimore: Lee Q. Murray, New York, vs. Curtis Sheppard, Baltimore, heavyweights, 10.

"Just Stopping In At Wolf Furniture Store On My Way North"

"From what I see, my friend, I'd advise you to do two things. First of all—make this store your stopping-off place for really worth-while Christmas presents. Secondly—do your shopping early this year.

"No need to remind you of the scarcities that exist nowadays in practically everything. And furniture—that gift of all gifts—is no exception.

"Right now, though, I can tell you that Wolf's are thoroughly and completely stocked in all departments. So why not drop in now and make your selection. Liberal terms are always available here and that helps a lot at Christmas time, believe me!"

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Is Worried Because Boy Friend Threatens To Commit Suicide

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

In my mail lately there have been a number of letters from girls who are worried because their boy friends threaten to commit suicide unless the girls marry them.

A typical letter says:

"I am a girl of 19 who has been engaged for nine months to a boy of the same age. My boy friend has asked me to marry him right away and has told me that, if I will not do this, he is going to make away with himself. I really believe he will attempt such a thing, and I could never live it down if something like that happened.

"I have asked him to wait until my birthday, which is in January, but all I get for an answer is no. I would like to know what I should do in a case like this. I don't want to be married right away, but I do love him very much."

Now, whether it is a boy of 19, or a man 10, 20, or 30 years older, anybody who threatens to commit suicide if he can't get what he wants is one of the best people in the world to stay away from. A man of this type, who tries to get his own way with threats, gives himself away as a childish character that is unable to handle either himself or the situations with which life confronts him. He is like a baby who holds his breath until he is black in the face in order to frighten his mother into doing something he wants her to do and which he cannot get her to do any other way.

There would be nothing but lifelong misery ahead for any girl who married a man of this kind, for her marriage would simply be a series of crises in which her husband would continue to get his own way because he would be afraid not to give it to him.

In every instance of this kind which has been brought to my attention, the girl is already afraid not to accede to her young man's wishes, lest he actually carry out his threat. She should, however, get two things very clearly in mind.

The first is that it would be very doubtful indeed that the chap would go so far as to make good on his threat. This sort of thing has been going on probably since men and women were created, and the percentage of disappointed lovers who brandish the threat of suicide as a weapon over the loved one's head, and actually use it, is very small. As a rule, once it has been made clear to them that they cannot have their way, they drop their bluster and turn their attention in some other direction.

The second thing for any girl to remember who finds her self with such a situation on her hands is that, if the young man did commit suicide, she should in no way consider herself to blame, and should refuse to allow her self the luxury of thinking that a man loved her so much that he couldn't live without her and chose death rather than give her up. This would definitely not be the case, because this kind of man would almost certainly commit an act of this sort sooner or later for one thing if not another.

51,123 SEE CARDS SUBDUE BEARS, 31-7

CHICAGO, Oct. 5 (AP)—A record Chicago professional football crowd of 51,123 today watched the powerladen Chicago Cardinals trim the National Football League champion Chicago Bears, 31-7, as Pitchin' Paul Christman tossed two touchdown passes and himself sneaked to a third score.

The standing-room throng at Comiskey Park saw the Bears fade for their second straight league defeat after grabbing a 7-0 lead in the first period on a 40-yard run by Quarterback Si dLuckman.

The Cards scored one touchdown in the second period, easily slamwound up off a polished performed to two more in the third and mance for their second straight victory with Pat Harder's 26 yard field goal and a six-yard pass from Christman to end Billy Dewell in the final period.

Ike Williams Will Fight At Detroit

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—(AP)—Lightweight Champion Ike Williams, middleweight contender Marcel Cerdan, heavyweight Tami Mauriello and former NBA Middleweight Champion Al Hostak are among the fighters who will see action this week.

Williams, of Trenton, N. J., clashes in a non-title ten with Talmadge Bussey of Detroit in the Motor City Friday night. The other three topnotchers are slated for action Tuesday night in ten-rounders.

Cerdan meets Billy Walker of Portland, Ore., at Montreal, Mauriello opposes a fellow New Yorker, Teddy Randolph, at Buffalo, N. Y., while Hostak battles in his home town, Seattle, against Georgie Duke of San Francisco.

On the Monday night card Chicago Stadium will feature a pair of tens matching lightweights Johnny Bratton of Chicago against Gene Burton of New York, and Light Heavyweights Chuck Hunter of Cleveland vs. Bob Satterfield of Chicago.

Other fights include:

Monday: At Baltimore: Lee Q. Murray, New York, vs. Curtis Sheppard, Baltimore, heavyweights, 10.

"Just Stopping In At Wolf Furniture Store On My Way North"

"From what I see, my friend, I'd advise you to do two things. First of all—make this store your stopping-off place for really worth-while Christmas presents. Secondly—do your shopping early this year.

"No need to remind you of the scarcities that exist nowadays in practically everything. And furniture—that gift of all gifts—is no exception.

"Right now, though, I can tell you that Wolf's are thoroughly and completely stocked in all departments. So why not drop in now and make your selection. Liberal terms are always available here and that helps a lot at Christmas time, believe me!"

Amvets Defeat Hyndman 16-11 In Series Finale

Locals Wallop Clapper To Cop Bi-State Title

3,000 See Slugfest, Teams Make 31 Hits

Manager Norman Gerdeman's Cumberland Amvets tucked away the championship of the Bi-State Baseball League for the 1947 season by winning the third and deciding game of their series with the Hyndman (Pa.) Firemen yesterday at Community Park by the score of 16 to 11.

A crowd of more than 3,000 persons, including 2,900 cash customers, probably the largest ever to witness a sandlot contest here, attended the wild contest in which 31 hits were made, including eleven for extra bases and an even dozen fielding misplays were committed by the teams. Two weeks ago Hyndman routed the Amvets here by the score of 22-7 and the locals squared the series by grabbing a 3-1 decision in the Pennsylvania town.

"Boots" Puts Amvets Ahead

Poffenberger, who retired in favor of Danny Drew in the 6th after the Amvets held the long end of a 14-6 score, actually provided the wallop from which the Firemen never recovered. After two away in the second frame Scarpelli walked, Riehl singled and Clark drew a pass to load the bases. Then "Boots" cleaned the bases with a triple when his drive to center took a high hop over Bob Cook's head. "Boots" scored the 4th run of the inning when DeLuca's grounder took a hop over Deremer's head for a base hit.

The Amvets sandwiched three hits with a wild pitch, passed ball and three errors for four runs in the third and added five tallies in the 4th by combining five hits with an error and sacrifice. Bob Cook, who supplanted Paul Clapper, Hyndman's starting pitcher during the 4th frame outburst, yielded three runs and six hits in the last 4⅔ stanzas.

Danny Drew ,who relieved the tiring Poffenberger at the start of the 6th, gave up eight hits and five runs in four innings.

Riehl, Bruner Slug Ball

Heading the hit parade in the grand finale of the 1947 campaign were Lou Riehl of the Amvets and "Buck" Bruner of the Firemen with four safeties each. Riehl rapped a triple, double and two singles, pilfered two bases and scored two runs. Bruner hit a homer, double and two singles.

The crowd within the park was so large that it was necessary to rope off the field to prevent spectators interfering with the players. Box:

Baugh's Passing Enables Redskins To Edge Steelers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—(AP)—That old, reliable Sammy Baugh, threw three touchdown passes today to enable the Washington Redskins to come from behind and sneak past the Pittsburgh Steelers, 27-26.

Baugh was pretty much the whole show of this narrow squeak National League football victory.

With the Redskins trailing 20-26 and only six minutes to go, Baugh guided Washington on an 80 yard march down the field. One of his passes, to Eddie Saenz, was good for 35 yards. Another, on fourth down with 10 yards to go, went to Fullback Sal Rosato, who made it first down on the one.

Tom Farmer hunched it over to tie it at 26, and when Dick Poillon kicked the extra point, there was the ball game.

Or, anyway, it was almost the ball game. Joe Glamp, who had kicked a 15-yard field goal for Pittsburgh earlier in the afternoon, missed one from 27 yards out, with only 60 seconds to go. The ball hit the goal post and bounced back.

Besides engineering the winning touchdown march, Baugh passed for three other scores. One was to Bob Nussbaumer for 55 yards, another was to Poillon for three yards, and the other was to Hugh Taylor for 35 yards.

Baugh wasn't content with the whole show for Washington. He didn't mean to, but he also got in some good licks for Pittsburgh.

Tony Compagno, Steeler back, grabbed a Baugh pass and ran the interception 64 yards for a touchdown. And the Steelers picked up another two points when Baugh, back to pass behind his goal, stepped back and out of the playing field for an automatic safety.

Record Pro Grid Crowd Of 80,067 Sees Cleveland Browns Win, 26-17

Ohioans Annex Fifth In Row From Yankees

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5—(INS)—The Cleveland Browns racked up their fifth straight All-American Conference game by defeating the New York Yankees, 26 to 17 in a bruising battle witnessed by a sellout throng of 80,067 fans in Cleveland Stadium.

New York jumped to an early lead on Harvey Johnson's 42 yard field goal in the first period but the Browns stormed back with 17 points in the second quarter on two touchdowns and a 25-yard field goal by Lou Groza.

Bob Cowan took a flat pass from Otto Graham and raced 42 yards for the first Cleveland score. Tommy Colella broke loose a few minutes later and dodged and fought his way over from the 25-yard stripe. Groza booted both points.

The Yankees bounced back in the third quarter to tie up the ball game at 17-17. "Spec" Sanders passed 10 yards to Lloyd Cheathan in the end zone for the first tally. A few plays later Bob Sweiger intercepted a Graham pass on the Browns' ten yard line and ran over unmolested. Johnson converted both times.

Mac Speedie took a 10 yard pass from Graham in the same quarter to put the Browns ahead again, 23-17. Groza's kick was blocked. In the final canto, Groza added another three points by kicking a field goal from the 43 yard stripe.

The win was Cleveland's fifth this season in league competition, against no losses, and was the second loss absorbed by New York this season. The crowd established a new pro football attendance record for Cleveland, breaking the old mark of 71,134 October last year.

Sanders also set a new conference record by punting 84 yards in the second quarter.

Baltimore Colts And Forty Niners Play Tie Contest

Coast Team Rallies And Game Ends 28-28

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5—(AP)—The San Francisco 49'ers came from behind with two quick touchdowns in the fourth period to gain a 28-28 tie with the surprising Baltimore Colts in a tingling All-America Football Conference game today before a crowd of 29,556 persons.

It was the first tie game of the season in the conference, yet for a while it looked like Baltimore would upset the favored Californians as the Colts broke a 14-14 halftime deadlock to score twice in the third quarter.

But Frankie Albert, 49'ers quarterback, engineered two brilliant plays to put San Francisco back in the game.

With the ball on his own 48, Albert passed to Alyn Beals on the Colt 45, and Beals flipped a lateral to John Strzykalski, who galloped all the way. Minutes later, Albert faded back on the 49'er 38 yard line, fired a long pass to Earle Parsons on the five and he ran across without being molested. Joe Vetrano's fourth placekick for extra point knotted the score.

Billy Hillenbrand and Bud Schwenk, the big Colt flies in the San Francisco ointment, collaborated on three touchdowns, and Schwenk passed to end Lamar Davis for the other.

Schwenk passed six yards in the first period to Hillenbrand for No. 1, and Billy romped 45 yards to score. San Francisco drove 64 yards to tie it up after the next kickoff, Standlee sliding off the weak side from the four.

In the second quarter, Schwenk passed from the 49'er 36 to Hillenbrand on the 16, and he continued over the goal. But again San Francisco came back, with Albert passing 26 yards to Parsons on the goal line.

San Francisco stopped Baltimore on the one early in the third quarter, but moments later the Colts were back in there, with Schwenk flipping to Davis into the end zone from the three.

Schwenk tossed 20 yards to Hillenbrand on the 49'er eight and two plays later Hillenbrand ended the quarter by sweeping right end to score from eight yards out. Augie Lio booted all four Colt extra points from placement.

Albert completed 12 of 16 passes for a 217 yard total, while Schwenk completed 18 of 29 for 241 yards.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES DEFEAT GIANTS, 23-0

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5 (AP) — Operating behind a forward wall as unyielding as granite, the Philadelphia Eagles rocketed to their second straight National Football League victory today, blanking the New York Giants 23 to 0 before a Shibe Park crowd of 29,823.

The Eagle line, led by big Al Wistert and Vic Sears, limited the Giants to a mere 39 yards on the ground and at the same time the Eagles held Steve Owens' crew to 67 yards in the air and that doesn't include the numerous times would-be Giant passers were hurled for losses.

Only once during the contest did the Giants manage to get inside the Eagles' 20-yard line and that was in the dying moments to the game when a penalty gave them the ball on the Eagles' 18.

Jack Kramer Wins

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5 (AP)—Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, seeded No. 1, won the Pacific Coast singles title today with a hard-fought 6-4, 6-2, 8-6 finals triumph over second seeded Tom Brown of San Francisco.

Margaret Osborne of San Francisco captured the women's singles with a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Dorothy Head of Alameda.

Dr. K. P. Heintz Beats Mattingly In Golf Tourney

Advances To Finals With 4-3 Triumph

Dr. Karl P. Heintz, veteran linksman of the Cumberland Country Club, provided another surprise in the club's fall golf tournament yesterday when he eliminated young Ed Mattingly, 4 and 3, to reach the finals of the championship flight.

Mattingly was the second youngster to fall before Dr. Heintz, the latter having defeated Charles C. "Bill" Catherman, Jr., a week ago, 2 and 1. Catherman won the title last year.

In a fifth flight match, Dr. Fuller Whitworth eliminated Henry W. Price, 2 and 1, while in the 6th flight Wilbur Buchanan won from Dr. J. K. Mirkin, 1 up, 19th hole.

George Garlitz and Harry Givens were returned winners in the straight handicap tournament held over the weekend at the club. Garlitz won in the one to 11 handicap bracket and Givens headed the players with handicaps of 12 or more.

The following won special prizes for par three holes: John Creegan No. 1; Dr. James E. McLean, No. six; Victor Pascoe, No. 12 and C. H. Griggs No. 15.

Thirty-one players participated in the tourney.

RIDGELEY ELEVEN DEFEATS ALLEGANY BY SCORE OF 26-6

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Ridgeley High School gridders took the measure of Allegany High School's eleven Saturday night at the local stadium by the score of 26 to 6.

It was Ridgeley's second straight win of the season and Allegany's second setback against a single victory.

Ridgeley scored two touchdowns and an extra point in the first period and duplicated the performance in the third quarter. Allegany marked up its one touchdown in the final stanza on Vernall's pass to Abrams in the end zone.

Roy Comer raced 15 yards for Ridgeley's first score and "Bub" Powers galloped 13 for the second six-pointer. Joe Moss plunged the first extra point.

Comer and Moss scored touchdowns in that order in the third period and the latter smashed over for the extra point.

Ridgeley made 13 first downs to Allegany's 11. The Hawks tried three passes, completed one and had one intercepted. AHS completed two of seven passes and one was snatched by the opposition. The winners gained nine yards on the one completed pass and the Campers gained 39 yards. RHS was set back 25 yards on penalties and Allegany 7. The Hawks gained 258 net yards on ground plays and AHS racked up 136. Each team lost 14 yards rushing.

LIONS TOP BOSTON, BILL DUDLEY STARS

BOSTON, Oct. 5—(AP)—With the sharp-shooting assistance of Clyde Le Force, the spectacular Bill Dudley put on a one-man football show to give his Detroit Lions a 21-7 National Football League victory over the Boston Yanks today before a 19,580 crowd at Fenway Park. Dudley scored twice by air and fed Ted Cook a touchdown heave. Late in the game Harley Dancewicz tossed a 29-yarder to Bill Chipley to save the Yanks from a whitewashing in their second league start.

Le Force started the Lions on their way early in the opening period by running back a Boston punt to Detroit's 20 and then feeding Kelley Mote a 15-yarder. The Lions' aerial ace then contacted Dudley on the Yanks' 45 and that former Virginia speedster zig-zagged the rest of the way for his first touchdown.

One play after the resulting kickoff, Dudley broke the Yanks' hearts by snatching a Paul Governall pass and bursting into a 40-yard scoring dash.

74,065 Pay $393,210 To See Sixth Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—(INS)—The crowd of 74,065 at today's Yankee-Dodger game set new world series attendance single game record, for the second time during the current series.

Net receipts for today's game were $327,659.70, and gross receipts $393,210. The commissioner's share is $49,148.95, and the leagues' and clubs' shares $278,510.75.

World Series Play By Play

FIRST INNING

Dodgers: Stanky lined the third pitch over Johnson's head for a single. Reese bounced a single over Reynolds' head, the ball just eluding Stirnweiss' outstretched glove and rolling into center field with Stanky stopping at second. Robinson raised a high fly into the left field corner which appeared an easy out but Lindell lost the ball in the sun and it went for a single to load the bases. Walker grounded into a fast double play, Rizzuto fielding his grounder past the mound, stepping on second to force Robinson and heaving to Phillips at first to nip Walker. Stanky scored on the play and Reese moved to third. Robinson, trying to take Rizzuto out of the play, hit him hard and Rizzuto fell to the ground apparently hurt. After a few moments, however, Rizzuto arose and appeared none the worse for the mishap. Walker was not credited with a run batted in. Reynolds' first pitch to Hermanski skipped by Lollar and Reese crossed the plate. Lollar was charged with a passed ball. The Dodger bench jockeys, trying to upset Reynolds, were waving towels at the Yankee pitcher. Reynolds' fourth ball to Hermanski soared way over Lollar's head, but Hermanski was unable to go beyond first as Lollar made a quick retrieve of the ball. Edwards bounced to Johnson who threw him out.

Two runs, three hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees: Stirnweiss lined to Walker. Henrich swung at a three and one pitch and raised a high pop to Stanky. Lindell stroked a single past the outstretched glove of Jorgensen into left field. DiMaggio grounded out, Stanky to Robinson.

SECOND INNING

Dodgers: DiMaggio camped under Furillo's fly. Stirnweiss scooped up Jorgensen's hot grounder and threw him out. DiMaggio loped in to take Lombardi's fly behind second base. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees: Johnson looked at two called strikes, took a called ball, and then swung and missed the next one. Phillips took a called strike, missed the next one, then grounded weakly to Robinson who made the putout at first, unassisted. Rizzuto shot a one bouncer to Reese who tossed him out with plenty to spare. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING

Dodgers: DiMaggio moved back to take Stanky's fly. Reese smashed a double just inside the third baseline, the ball rolling out into the left field corner. Robinson smashed a line drive into left field, the ball bouncing into the stands for an automatic double with Reese crossing the plate. Henrich missed trying to make a shoestring catch of Walker's low liner in right field and Dixie was credited with a double as Robinson scored. Dressen walked out the mound and this time signalled the end for Reynolds. Karl Drews, a righthander, replaced Reynolds in the box. Stirnweiss threw out Hermanski with Walker moving to third. DiMaggio raced back to haul in Edwards' drive. Two runs, three hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees: Lollar drove a long double to left field, as Hermanski missed trying to make a diving catch directly in front of the stands. Drews fouled off three pitches, then struck out. Lombardi's first pitch to Stirnweiss was wild, bouncing in front of the plate, and Lollar raced into third ahead of Edwards' throw. Stirnweiss' grounder bounced off Jorgensen's shins for an error and Stirnweiss was safe at first as Lollar crossed the plate. Henrich singled sharply to left-center field and Stirnweiss was out as he tried to go to third on a fine throw from Furillo to Jorgensen. Henrich went to second. Lindell singled to right center field scoring Henrich. DiMaggio drilled a single through Jorgensen's legs into left field, Lindell stopping at second. That was all for Lombardi and Ralph Branca, a righthander, replaced him. Johnson rifled a single past Robinson scoring Lindell and sending DiMaggio to third. Bobby Brown, a lefthanded hitter, batted for Phillips, and singled to left scoring DiMaggio with the tying run and sending Johnson to third. Rizzuto sent a lazy liner directly into the hands of Stanky. Four runs, six hits, one error, two left.

FOURTH INNING

Dodgers: Furillo singled over second base. Jorgenson grounded to Stirnweiss who threw to Rizzuto, forcing Furillo at second. Branca bounced back to the box and Rizzuto made a great sprawling catch of Drew's heave to force Jorgensen at second. Stirnweiss made a fine gloved hand stop of Stanky's grounder near second base and flipped to Rizzuto to force Branca. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Yankees: A. Robinson drilled a single into center.

Drews was called out on strikes.

Stirnweiss also was called out on strikes.

Henrich slammed a single to the right of Stanky sending A. Robinson to second. Berra lined a single inside the right field foul line scoring A. Robinson and sending Henrich to third. The Dodger players put up a strenuous argument, claiming the ball was foul. DiMaggio grounded sharply to Jorgensen who threw to Stanky at second forcing Berra. One run, three hits, no errors, two left.

FIFTH INNING

Dodgers: Reese walked on five pitches. J. Robinson bounded to Johnson who threw to Stirnweiss forcing Reese. Drews was taken out and relieved by Joe Page. Walker fouled off four straight pitches and then went down swinging Ed Miksis, a righthanded hitter, batted for Hermanski. Miksis popped to Rizzuto who made the catch in short left field.

Yankees: Miksis went in to play left field for the Dodgers. Branca knocked down Johnson's smash to the box and threw him out. Stanky caught McQuinn's high pop fly between first and second. Rizzuto cracked his bat raising a high pop fly over short which Reese dropped after getting his glove on it. It went for a single. Stanky threw out A. Robinson.

SIXTH INNING

Dodgers: Edwards punched a single into right field. Furillo lined a double into left field sending Edwards to third. Harry Lavagetto, a righthanded batter, was sent in to hit for Jorgensen. Lavagetto sent a fly to Berra in right field and Edwards easily scored after the catch. Bobby Bragan went to bat for Branca.

Bragan smashed a low double over third base into left field. Furillo easily scoring to put the Dodgers ahead, 6-5.

Dan Bankhead was sent in to run for Bragan.

Stanky chopped a single into right field sending Bankhead to third.

Henrich made a running catch of J. Robinson's line drive close to the left field seats. Walker fouled to Johnson who made the catch alongside the Dodger dugout. Four runs, five hits, one error, one left.

Al Clark, a righthanded batter, went in to hit for Newsom.

Stirnweiss walked. Henrich hit a terrific smash into the right field stands which went foul by several feet, then sent a foul fly which Edwards caught after a long run. Berra punched a single over Lavagetto's head into left field, Stirnweiss stopping at second. Gionfriddo made a sensational one-handed catch of DiMaggio's drive right in front of the bullpen in the deepest left field, 415 feet from the plate. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

SEVENTH INNING

Dodgers: Vic Raschi, a righthander, went in to pitch for the Yankees. Gionfriddo went out, Johnson to McQuinn. Edwards went down swinging. Stirnweiss threw out Furillo. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees: Johnson hit Hatten's first pitch high in the air to Walker who made the catch. McQuinn fouled off seven pitches, then walked. Rizzuto also walked. Furillo raced back and pulled down. A. Robinson's fly with his gloved-hand. His quick throw to the infield held the runners on their bases. Ralph Houk, a righthanded batter, swung for Raschi. Hatten allowed Houk's trick bounder trickle off his glove and Houk beat the throw to first for an infield single. Furillo caught Stirnweiss' liner. No runs, one hit, no errors, three left.

EIGHTH INNING

Dodgers: Charley Wensloff, a righthander, became the sixth Yankee hurler. Johnson grabbed Lavagetto's wicked grounder behind third base and whipped across the diamond to McQuinn for the out. Hatten grounded out to Wensloff. Johnson threw out Stanky. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees: Henrich flied to Walker who made a leaping catch with his back against the wall in right field, 344 feet from the plate. Berra flied to Furillo in right-center field. Lavagetto fielded DiMaggio's sharp smash on one bounce and threw across to J. Robinson for the out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

NINTH INNING

Dodgers: Reese hit sharply to Stirnweiss who threw him out. Rizzuto raced out in short left field to catch J. Robinson's pop fly. McQuinn failed to come up with Walker's bounder along the first base line and Dixie was safe on first on the error. Gionfriddo flied to DiMaggio. No runs, no hits, one error, none left.

Yankees: Johnson singled into the hole between third and short.

McQuinn worked the count to three and two and then walked.

Hugh Casey replaced Hatten on the mound for the Dodgers.

Furillo raced back and made a running catch of Rizzuto's long liner.

A. Robinson singled over short into left field, Johnson stopping at third and McQuinn at second. Lonnie Frey, a lefthanded hitter, batted for Wensloff. Frey bounced to J. Robinson who whipped to Reese forcing A. Robinson as Johnson scored and McQuinn went to third. Stirnweiss tapped back to Casey who threw him out at first to end the game. One run, two hits, no errors, two left.

DUQUESNE CRUSHED BY SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5—(AP)—The University of San Francisco, fielding the strongest football team in its history, rolled up a 51 to 0 score over a hapless Duquesne University eleven here today before a crowd of 10,000 fans.

The local Dons presented their new coach, Ed McKeever, formerly of Notre Dame and Cornell University, with his third consecutive win, and crushed the Dukes from the east coast with a devastating ground attack and sure-fire passes across.

Johnny Lindell Lost To Yankees

Rib Injury Keeps .500 Hitter Out Of Finale

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 5 (INS)—Manager Bucky Harris of the Yankees announced after today's world series game that Outfielder Johnny Lindell will not start against the Dodgers in tomorrow's deciding game, due to a rib injury.

Lindell was lifted today after he had scored a run in the Yankee defeat and obviously was in pain. He was injured in yesterday's game at Brooklyn sliding into second base.

The starting outfield tomorrow will be the same as the one which played out the game today after Lindell was taken out at the start of the fourth inning.

Tommy Henrich will be in right field in place of Lindell. Joe DiMaggio will be in center, as usual, and Yogi Berra, the catcher-outfielder, will be in right field, Henrich's usual position. Aaron Robinson will catch.

The loss of Lindell will be felt keenly by the Yankees because he has been an outstanding player in the series. In 18 times at bat he has made nine hits for a percentage of .500, has scored three runs and driven in seven. His hits included three doubles and a triple.

Potomac State Wins Over Morris Harvey

Potomac State's Catamounts registered their second victory of the 1947 football campaign Saturday night when they defeated the Morris Harvey College Golden Eagles at Charleston, W. Va., by the score of 31-7.

Ruyak, Szafran, Basil, Peters and Banato scored the Cat's touchdowns. Basil intercepted a pass to score and Banato caught McProuty's pass for a touchdown. The three other State touchdowns were made on line smashes. The Eagles scored their lone touchdown in the final quarter when Davis stole the ball from Banato and dashed 72 yards to the goal line.

Amvets Defeat Hyndman 16-11 In Series Finale

Locals Wallop Clapper To Cop Bi-State Title

3,000 See Slugfest, Teams Make 31 Hits

Manager Norman Gerdeman's Cumberland Amvets tucked away the championship of the Bi-State Baseball League for the 1947 season by winning the third and deciding game of their series with the Hyndman (Pa.) Firemen yesterday at Community Park by the score of 16 to 11.

A crowd of more than 3,000 persons, including 2,900 cash customers, probably the largest ever to witness a sandlot contest here, attended the wild contest in which 31 hits were made, including eleven for extra bases and an even dozen fielding misplays were committed by the teams. Two weeks ago Hyndman routed the Amvets here by the score of 22-7 and the locals squared the series by grabbing a 3-1 decision in the Pennsylvania town.

"Boots" Puts Amvets Ahead

Poffenberger, who retired in favor of Danny Drew in the 6th after the Amvets held the long end of a 14-6 score, actually provided the wallop from which the Firemen never recovered. After two away in the second frame Scarpelli walked, Riehl singled and Clark drew a pass to load the bases. Then "Boots" cleaned the bases with a triple when his drive to center took a high hop over Bob Cook's head. "Boots" scored the 4th run of the inning when DeLuca's grounder took a hop over Deremer's head for a base hit.

The Amvets sandwiched three hits with a wild pitch, passed ball and three errors for four runs in the third and added five tallies in the 4th by combining five hits with an error and sacrifice. Bob Cook, who supplanted Paul Clapper, Hyndman's starting pitcher during the 4th frame outburst, yielded three runs and six hits in the last 4⅔ stanzas.

Danny Drew ,who relieved the tiring Poffenberger at the start of the 6th, gave up eight hits and five runs in four innings.

Riehl, Bruner Slug Ball

Heading the hit parade in the grand finale of the 1947 campaign were Lou Riehl of the Amvets and "Buck" Bruner of the Firemen with four safeties each. Riehl rapped a triple, double and two singles, pilfered two bases and scored two runs. Bruner hit a homer, double and two singles.

The crowd within the park was so large that it was necessary to rope off the field to prevent spectators interfering with the players. Box:

Baugh's Passing Enables Redskins To Edge Steelers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—(AP)—That old, reliable Sammy Baugh, threw three touchdown passes today to enable the Washington Redskins to come from behind and sneak past the Pittsburgh Steelers, 27-26.

Baugh was pretty much the whole show of this narrow squeak National League football victory.

With the Redskins trailing 20-26 and only six minutes to go, Baugh guided Washington on an 80 yard march down the field. One of his passes, to Eddie Saenz, was good for 35 yards. Another, on fourth down with 10 yards to go, went to Fullback Sal Rosato, who made it first down on the one.

Tom Farmer hunched it over to tie it at 26, and when Dick Poillon kicked the extra point, there was the ball game.

Or, anyway, it was almost the ball game. Joe Glamp, who had kicked a 15-yard field goal for Pittsburgh earlier in the afternoon, missed one from 27 yards out, with only 60 seconds to go. The ball hit the goal post and bounced back.

Besides engineering the winning touchdown march, Baugh passed for three other scores. One was to Bob Nussbaumer for 55 yards, another was to Poillon for three yards, and the other was to Hugh Taylor for 35 yards.

Baugh wasn't content with the whole show for Washington. He didn't mean to, but he also got in some good licks for Pittsburgh.

Tony Compagno, Steeler back, grabbed a Baugh pass and ran the interception 64 yards for a touchdown. And the Steelers picked up another two points when Baugh, back to pass behind his goal, stepped back and out of the playing field for an automatic safety.

Record Pro Grid Crowd Of 80,067 Sees Cleveland Browns Win, 26-17

Ohioans Annex Fifth In Row From Yankees

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5—(INS)—The Cleveland Browns racked up their fifth straight All-American Conference game by defeating the New York Yankees, 26 to 17 in a bruising battle witnessed by a sellout throng of 80,067 fans in Cleveland Stadium.

New York jumped to an early lead on Harvey Johnson's 42 yard field goal in the first period but the Browns stormed back with 17 points in the second quarter on two touchdowns and a 25-yard field goal by Lou Groza.

Bob Cowan took a flat pass from Otto Graham and raced 42 yards for the first Cleveland score. Tommy Colella broke loose a few minutes later and dodged and fought his way over from the 25-yard stripe. Groza booted both points.

The Yankees bounced back in the third quarter to tie up the ball game at 17-17. "Spec" Sanders passed 10 yards to Lloyd Cheathan in the end zone for the first tally. A few plays later Bob Sweiger intercepted a Graham pass on the Browns' ten yard line and ran over unmolested. Johnson converted both times.

Mac Speedie took a 10 yard pass from Graham in the same quarter to put the Browns ahead again, 23-17. Groza's kick was blocked. In the final canto, Groza added another three points by kicking a field goal from the 43 yard stripe.

The win was Cleveland's fifth this season in league competition, against no losses, and was the second loss absorbed by New York this season. The crowd established a new pro football attendance record for Cleveland, breaking the old mark of 71,134 October last year.

Sanders also set a new conference record by punting 84 yards in the second quarter.

Baltimore Colts And Forty Niners Play Tie Contest

Coast Team Rallies And Game Ends 28-28

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5—(AP)—The San Francisco 49'ers came from behind with two quick touchdowns in the fourth period to gain a 28-28 tie with the surprising Baltimore Colts in a tingling All-America Football Conference game today before a crowd of 29,556 persons.

It was the first tie game of the season in the conference, yet for a while it looked like Baltimore would upset the favored Californians as the Colts broke a 14-14 halftime deadlock to score twice in the third quarter.

But Frankie Albert, 49'ers quarterback, engineered two brilliant plays to put San Francisco back in the game.

With the ball on his own 48, Albert passed to Alyn Beals on the Colt 45, and Beals flipped a lateral to John Strzykalski, who galloped all the way. Minutes later, Albert faded back on the 49'er 38 yard line, fired a long pass to Earle Parsons on the five and he ran across without being molested. Joe Vetrano's fourth placekic.. for extra point knotted the score.

Billy Hillenbrand and Bud Schwenk, the big Colt flies in the San Francisco ointment, collaborated on three touchdowns, and Schwenk passed to end Lamar Davis for the other.

Schwenk passed six yards in the first period to Hillenbrand for No. 1, and Billy romped 45 yards to score. San Francisco drove 64 yards to tie it up after the next kickoff, Standlee sliding off the weak side from the four.

In the second quarter, Schwenk passed from the 49'er 36 to Hillenbrand on the 16, and he continued over the goal. But again San Francisco came back, with Albert passing 26 yards to Parsons on the goal line.

San Francisco stopped Baltimore on the one early in the third quarter, but moments later the Colts were back in there, with Schwenk flipping to Davis into the end zone from the three.

Schwenk tossed 20 yards to Hillenbrand on the 49'er eight and two plays later Hillenbrand ended the quarter by sweeping right end to score from eight yards out. Augie Lio booted all four Colt extra points from placement.

Albert completed 12 of 16 passes for a 217 yard total, while Schwenk completed 18 of 29 for 241 yards.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES DEFEAT GIANTS, 23-0

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5 (AP) — Operating behind a forward wall as unyielding as granite, the Philadelphia Eagles rocketed to their second straight National Football League victory today, blanking the New York Giants 23 to 0 before a Shibe Park crowd of 29,823.

The Eagle line, led by big Al Wistert and Vic Sears, limited the Giants to a mere 39 yards on the ground and at the same time the Eagles held Steve Owens' crew to 67 yards in the air and that doesn't include the numerous times would-be Giant passers were hurled for losses.

Only once during the contest did the Giants manage to get inside the Eagles' 20-yard line and that was in the dying moments to the game when a penalty gave them the ball on the Eagles' 18.

Jack Kramer Wins

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5 (AP)—Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, seeded No. 1, won the Pacific Coast singles title today with a hard-fought 6-4, 6-2, 8-6 finals triumph over second seeded Tom Brown of San Francisco.

Margaret Osborne of San Francisco captured the women's singles with a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Dorothy Head of Alameda.

Dr. K. P. Heintz Beats Mattingly In Golf Tourney

Advances To Finals With 4-3 Triumph

Dr. Karl P. Heintz, veteran linksman of the Cumberland Country Club, provided another surprise in the club's fall golf tournament yesterday when he eliminated young Ed Mattingly, 4 and 3, to reach the finals of the championship flight.

Mattingly was the second youngster to fall before Dr. Heintz, the latter having defeated Charles C. "Bill" Catherman, Jr., a week ago, 2 and 1. Catherman won the title last year.

In a fifth flight match, Dr. Fuller Whitworth eliminated Henry W. Price, 2 and 1, while in the 6th flight Wilbur Buchanan won from Dr. J. K. Mirkin, 1 up, 19th hole.

George Garlitz and Harry Givens were returned winners in the straight handicap tournament held over the weekend at the club. Garlitz won in the one to 11 handicap bracket and Givens headed the players with handicaps of 12 or more.

The following won special prizes for par three holes: John Creegan No. 1; Dr. James E. McLean, No. six; Victor Pascoe, No. 12 and C. H. Griggs No. 15.

Thirty-one players participated in the tourney.

RIDGELEY ELEVEN DEFEATS ALLEGANY BY SCORE OF 26-6

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Ridgeley High School gridders took the measure of Allegany High School's eleven Saturday night at the local stadium by the score of 26 to 6.

It was Ridgeley's second straight win of the season and Allegany's second setback against a single victory.

Ridgeley scored two touchdowns and an extra point in the first period and duplicated the performance in the third quarter. Allegany marked up its one touchdown in the final stanza on Vernall's pass to Abrams in the end zone.

Roy Comer raced 15 yards for Ridgeley's first score and "Bub" Powers galloped 13 for the second six-pointer. Joe Moss plunged the first extra point.

Comer and Moss scored touchdowns in that order in the third period and the latter smashed over for the extra point.

Ridgeley made 13 first downs to Allegany's 11. The Hawks tried three passes, completed one and had one intercepted. AHS completed two of seven passes and one was snatched by the opposition. The winners gained nine yards on the one completed pass and the Campers gained 39 yards. RHS was set back 25 yards on penalties and Allegany 7. The Hawks gained 258 net yards on ground plays and AHS racked up 136. Each team lost 14 yards rushing.

LIONS TOP BOSTON, BILL DUDLEY STARS

BOSTON, Oct. 5—(AP)—With the sharp-shooting assistance of Clyde Le Force, the spectacular Bill Dudley put on a one-man football show to give his Detroit Lions a 21-7 National Football League victory over the Boston Yanks today before a 19,580 crowd at Fenway Park. Dudley scored twice by air and fed Ted Cook a touchdown heave. Late in the game Harley Dancewicz tossed a 29-yarder to Bill Chipley to save the Yanks from a whitewashing in their second league start.

Le Force started the Lions on their way early in the opening period by running back a Boston punt to Detroit's 20 and then feeding Kelley Mote a 15-yarder. The Lions' aerial ace then contacted Dudley on the Yanks' 45 and that former Virginia speedster zig-zagged the rest of the way for his first touchdown.

One play after the resulting kickoff, Dudley broke the Yanks' hearts by snatching a Paul Governali pass and bursting into a 40-yard scoring dash.

World Series Play By Play

FIRST INNING

Dodgers: Stanky lined the third pitch over Johnson's head for a single. Reese bounced a single over Reynolds' head, the ball just eluding Stirnweiss' outstretched glove and rolling into center field with Stanky stopping at second. Robinson raised a high fly into the left field corner which appeared an easy out but Lindell lost the ball in the sun and it went for a single to load the bases. Walker grounded into a fast double play, Rizzuto fielding his grounder past the mound, stepping on second to force Robinson and heaving to Phillips at first to nip Walker. Stanky scored on the play and Reese moved to third. Robinson, trying to take Rizzuto out of the play, hit him hard and Rizzuto fell to the ground apparently hurt. After a few moments, however, Rizzuto arose and appeared none the worse for the mishap. Walker was not credited with a run batted in. Reynolds' first pitch to Hermanski skipped by Lollar and Reese crossed the plate. Lollar was charged with a passed ball. The Dodger bench jockeys, trying to upset Reynolds, were waving towels at the Yankee pitcher. Reynolds' fourth ball to Hermanski soared way over Lollar's head, but Hermanski was unable to go beyond first as Lollar made a quick retrieve of the ball. Edwards bounced to Johnson who threw him out.

Two runs, three hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees: Stirnweiss lined to Walker. Henrich swung at a three and one pitch and raised a high pop to Stanky. Lindell stroked a single past the outstretched glove of Jorgensen into left field. DiMaggio grounded out, Stanky to Robinson.

SECOND INNING

Dodgers: DiMaggio camped under Furillo's fly. Stirnweiss scooped up Jorgensen's hot grounder and threw him out. DiMaggio loped in to take Lombardi's fly behind second base. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees: Johnson looked at two called strikes, took a called ball, and then swung and missed the next one. Phillips took a called strike, missed the next one, then grounded weakly to Robinson who made the putout at first, unassisted. Rizzuto shot a one bouncer to Reese who tossed him out with plenty to spare. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING

Dodgers: DiMaggio moved back to take Stanky's fly. Reese smashed a double just inside the third baseline, the ball rolling out into the left field corner. Robinson smashed a line drive into left field, the ball bouncing into the stands for an automatic double with Reese crossing the plate. Henrich missed trying to make a shoestring catch of Walker's low liner in right field and Dixie was credited with a double as Robinson scored. Dressen walked out the mound and this time signalled the end for Reynolds. Karl Drews, a righthander, replaced Reynolds in the box. Stirnweiss threw out Hermanski with Walker moving to third. DiMaggio raced back to haul in Edwards' drive. Two runs, three hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees: Lollar drove a long double to left field, as Hermanski missed trying to make a diving catch directly in front of the stands. Drews fouled off three pitches, then struck out. Lombardi's first pitch to Stirnweiss was wild, bouncing in front of the plate, and Lollar raced into third ahead of Edwards' throw. Stirnweiss' grounder bounced off Jorgensen's shins for an error and Stirnweiss was safe at first as Lollar crossed the plate. Henrich singled sharply to left-center field and Stirnweiss was out as he tried to go to third on a fine throw from Furillo to Jorgensen. Henrich went to second. Lindell singled to right center field scoring Henrich. DiMaggio drilled a single through Jorgensen's legs into left field, Lindell stopping at second. That was all for Lombardi and Ralph Branca, a righthander, replaced him. Johnson rifled a single past Robinson scoring Lindell and sending DiMaggio to third. Bobby Brown, a lefthanded hitter, batted for Phillips, and singled to left scoring DiMaggio with the tying run and sending Johnson to third. Rizzuto sent a lazy liner directly into the hands of Stanky. Four runs, six hits, one error, two left.

FOURTH INNING

Dodgers: Furillo singled over second base. Jorgenson grounded to Stirnweiss who threw to Rizzuto, forcing Furillo at second. Branca bounced back to the box and Rizzuto made a great sprawling catch of Drew's heave to force Jorgensen at second. Stirnweiss made a fine gloved hand stop of Stanky's grounder near second base and flipped to Rizzuto to force Branca. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Yankees: A. Robinson drilled a single into center.

Drews was called out on strikes.

Stirnweiss also was called out on strikes.

Henrich slammed a single to the right of Stanky sending A. Robinson to second. Berra lined a single inside the right field foul line scoring A. Robinson and sending Henrich to third. The Dodger players put up a strenuous argument, claiming the ball was foul. DiMaggio grounded sharply to Jorgensen who threw to Stanky at second forcing Berra. One run, three hits, no errors, two left.

FIFTH INNING

Dodgers: Reese walked on five pitches. J. Robinson bounded to Johnson who threw to Stirnweiss forcing Reese. Drews was taken out and relieved by Joe Page. Walker fouled off four straight pitches and then went down swinging Ed Miksis, a righthanded hitter, batted for Hermanski. Miksis popped to Rizzuto who made the catch in short left field.

Yankees: Miksis went in to play left field for the Dodgers. Branca knocked down Johnson' smash to the box and threw him out. Stanky caught McQuinn's high pop fly between first and second. Rizzuto cracked his bat raising a high pop fly ove short which Reese dropped after getting his glove on it. It went for a single. Stanky threw out A. Robinson.

SIXTH INNING

Dodgers: Edwards punched a single into right field. Furillo lined a double into left field sending Edwards to third. Harry Lavagetto, a righthanded batter, was sent in to hit for Jorgensen. Lavagetto sent a fly to Berra in right field and Edwards easily scored after the catch. Bobby Bragan went to bat for Branca.

Bragan smashed a low double over third base into left field. Furillo easily scoring to put the Dodgers ahead, 6-5.

Dan Bankhead was sent in to run for Bragan.

Stanky chopped a single into right field sending Bankhead to third.

Henrich made a running catch of J. Bobinson's line drive close to the left field seats. Walker fouled to Johnson who made the catch alongside the Dodger dugout. Four runs, five hits, one error, one left.

Al Clark, a righthanded batter, went in to hit for Newsom.

Stirnweiss walked. Henrich hit a terrific smash into the right field stands which went foul by several feet, then sent a foul fly which Edwards caught after a long run. Berra punched a single over Lavagetto's head into left field, Stirnweiss stopping at second. Gionfriddo made a sensational one-handed catch of DiMaggio's drive right in front of the bullpen in the deepest left field, 415 feet from the plate. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

SEVENTH INNING

Dodgers: Vic Raschi, a righthander, went in to pitch for the Yankees. Gionfriddo went out, Johnson to McQuinn. Edwards went down swinging. Stirnweiss threw out Furillo. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees: Johnson hit Hatten's first pitch high in the air to Walker who made the catch. McQuinn fouled off seven pitches, then walked. Rizzuto also walked. Furillo raced back and pulled down. A. Robinson's fly with his gloved-hand. His quick throw to the infield held the runners on their bases. Ralph Houk, a righthanded batter, swung for Raschi. Hatten allowed Houk's trick bounder trickle off his glove and Houk beat the throw to first for an infield single. Furillo caught Stirnweiss' liner. No runs, one hit, no errors, three left.

EIGHTH INNING

Dodgers: Charley Wensloff, a righthander, became the sixth Yankee hurler. Johnson grabbed Lavagetto's wicked grounder behind third base and whipped across the diamond to McQuinn for the out. Hatten grounded out to Wensloff. Johnson threw out Stanky. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

NINTH INNING

Dodgers: Reese hit sharply to Stirnweiss who threw him out. Rizzuto raced out in short left field to catch J. Robinson's pop fly. McQuinn failed to come up with Walker's bounder along the first base line and Dixie was safe on first on the error. Gionfriddo flied to DiMaggio. No runs, no hits, one error, none left.

Yankees: Johnson singled into the hole between third and short.

McQuinn worked the count to three and two and then walked.

Hugh Casey replaced Hatten on the mound for the Dodgers.

Furillo raced back and made a running catch of Rizzuto's long liner.

A. Robinson singled over short into left field, Johnson stopping at third and McQuinn at second. Lonnie Frey, a lefthanded hitter, batted for Wensloff. Frey bounced to J. Robinson who whipped to Reese forcing A. Robinson as Johnson scored and McQuinn went to third. Stirnweiss tapped back to Casey who threw him out at first to end the game. One run, two hits, no errors, two left.

DUQUESNE CRUSHED BY SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5—(AP)—The University of San Francisco, fielding the strongest football team in its history, rolled up a 51 to 0 score over a hapless Duquesne University eleven here today before a crowd of 10,000 fans.

The local Dons presented their new coach, Ed McKeever, formerly of Notre Dame and Cornell University, with his third consecutive win, and crushed the Dukes from the east coast with a devastating ground attack and sure-fire passes.

Johnny Lindell Lost To Yankees

Rib Injury Keeps .500 Hitter Out Of Finale

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 5 (INS)—Manager Bucky Harris of the Yankees announced after today's world series game that Outfielder Johnny Lindell will not start against the Dodgers in tomorrow's deciding game, due to a rib injury.

Lindell was lifted today after he had scored a run in the Yankee defeat and obviously was in pain. He was injured in yesterday's game at Brooklyn sliding into second base.

The starting outfield tomorrow will be the same as the one which played out the game today after Lindell was taken out at the start of the fourth inning.

Tommy Henrich will be in right field in place of Lindell. Joe DiMaggio will be in center, as usual, and Yogi Berra, the catcher-outfielder, will be in right field, Henrich's usual position. Aaron Robinson will catch.

Potomac State Wins Over Morris Harvey

Potomac State's Catamounts registered their second victory of the 1947 football campaign Saturday night when they defeated the Morris Harvey College Golden Eagles at Charleston, W. Va., by the score of 31-7.

Ruyak, Szafran, Basil, Peters and Banato scored the Cat's touchdowns. Basil intercepted a pass to score and Banato caught McProuty's pass for a touchdown. The three other State touchdowns were made on line smashes. The Eagles scored their lone touchdown in the final quarter when Davis stole the ball from Banato and dashed 72 yards to the goal line.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our darling son and brother, John Edward Wilhelm, who died four years ago today, October 6, 1943.

Today will bring sad memories,
Who will always be remembered
By those who loved him best.

Sadly missed by his Parents & Brother, MR. & MRS. WILLIAM WILHELM, Barrelville, Md.

In loving memory of our dear Father, John M. Stickley, who departed this life, 8 years ago today, October 6, 1939.

You have taken your long journey,
In the beautiful ship called rest,
Away from the world of sorrow
To the home of Eternal Rest.

Sadly missed by the Children, MRS. HAZEL BURK, CLARENCE and PAUL STICKLEY.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our darling son and brother, John Edward Wilhelm, who died four years ago today, October 6, 1943.

Today will bring sad memories,
Of our loved one gone to rest,
Who will always be remembered
By those who loved him best.

Sadly missed by his Parents & Brother, MR. & MRS. WILLIAM WILHELM, Barrelville, Md.

In loving memory of our dear Father, John M. Stickley, who departed this life, 8 years ago today, October 6, 1939.

You have taken your long journey,
In the beautiful ship called rest,
Away from the world of sorrow
To the home of Eternal Rest.

Sadly missed by the Children, MRS. HAZEL BURK, CLARENCE and PAUL STICKLEY.

High Prices Issue To Be Debated On Mutual Network

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 — Debate on the question of the current high prices is to bring the Republican and Democratic spokesmen to the radio Monday night. The program is listed for MBS at 9:30.

Speaking from Cincinnati will be Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Republican, while Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Wyoming Democrat, will be heard from Denver.

Still the fall schedule is taking on additions? The 10:30 times on NBC and CBS both are setting up for the season. The NBC contribution is a new nighttime Fred Waring show under sponsor in addition to his morning series.

On CBS is being returned the Screen Guild players, but with a new sponsor. In opening the tenth season on this network, the time being half-hour later than last year, there will be Ingrid Bergman and Bing Crosby to appear in "Bells of St. Mary's."

In addition at 5 p. m. CBS is beginning the eighteenth year of its School of the Air, to follow the usual five-a-week schedule. The opener will be a new series, "Liberty Road," dramatization of human rights.

Adventure Parade, off MBS briefly after a summer series, is being returned to the network. The timing puts it on at 4:45 for the east and 5:45 for the west.

Violinist Jascha Heifetz is the guest for the Don Voorhees concert on NBC at 9.

The Radio Clock

NETWORK PROGRAMS
Time is eastern standard. For central standard subtract one hour, for mountain standard subtract two hours. Some local stations change hour of relay to fit local schedules. Last minute program changes cannot be included.

High Prices Issue To Be Debated On Mutual Network

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 — Debate on the question of the current high prices is to bring the Republican and Democratic spokesmen to the radio Monday night. The program is listed for MBS at 9:30.

Speaking from Cincinnati will be Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Republican, while Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Wyoming Democrat, will be heard from Denver.

Still the fall schedule is taking on additions? The 10:30 times on NBC and CBS both are setting up for the season. The NBC contribution is a new nighttime Fred Waring show under sponsor in addition to his morning series.

On CBS is being returned the Screen Guild players, but with a new sponsor. In opening the tenth season on this network, the time being half-hour later than last year, there will be Ingrid Bergman and Bing Crosby to appear in "Bells of St. Mary's."

In addition at 5 p. m. CBS is beginning the eighteenth year of its School of the Air, to follow the usual five-a-week schedule. The opener will be a new series, "Liberty Road," dramatization of human rights.

Adventure Parade, off MBS briefly after a summer series, is being returned to the network. The timing puts it on at 4:45 for the east and 5:45 for the west.

Violinist Jascha Heifetz is the guest for the Don Voorhees concert on NBC at 9.

Legion Launches District Program For Coming Year

Post Coordination New Annual Theme

Greater coordination of American Legion Posts in the Mountain District and active and constructive major committee programs, are to be the objectives of area Legionnaires, it was indicated yesterday at a district meeting at Farrady Post No. 24, Frostburg.

State Department Commander Harry B. Allen, Laurel, accompanied by several other state officers, attended the meeting, and in addressing the district officers and executive committeemen, placed emphasis on membership, child welfare, rehabilitation and Americanism. He declared the individual Legion posts must follow through the Legion program in their communities, and that the district must help coordinate Legion activity in the area.

Commander Allen was accompanied by Richard Manning, Baltimore, Maryland State service and executive officer of the Maryland Veterans Commission; Barnard Cassell, Washington, sous chef de chemin de fer passe, 40 and 8; and Joseph S. Bozman, Mt. Rainier, department rehabilitation chairman.

Bozman held a separate meeting with service officers of each of 10 posts of the district's 16, represented at the session. He urged that each service officer have an assistant and that both inform themselves thoroughly of their duties so they can cope with the multiple problems of veterans.

Committees Appointed

Extension and Stabilization—Alec Heson, Oakland, chairman; Charles Cole, Frostburg, co-chairman.

Graves Registration—John I. Kelly, Sr., this city, chairman; Walter T. Ross, Midland, and Paul Turney, Oakland, co-chairmen.

Junior Baseball—Robert O. "Abe" Johnson, Lonaconing, chairman.

Veterans Housing — Thomas B. Finan, Jr., this city.

Post Inspector — Howard Blackburn, Westernport, chairman.

Public Relations—M. F. Pendergast, this city, chairman.

Miss Anne Sloan, Lonaconing, state chairman of the Child Welfare Committee, told the district group she will be in Baltimore this week, conferring with members of her committee. A commission on Child Welfare is being formed, she explained, coordinating the activities of the Legion, its Auxiliary, 40 and 8 and 8 and 40. Plans are to be formulated for coordinated activity of Child Welfare Work.

District members went on record urging all posts in the district to hold at least one benefit each year, such as a dance, bazaar, athletic contest or some other event, with proceeds to be placed directly in a district child welfare fund. Miss Sloan needs funds to meet emergencies and to properly carry out the program. The plan was unanimously approved.

There was considerable discussion on memberships for 1948, and the district and state department are interested in enrolling many more World War II veterans. The campaign will open with concerted action October 17, and continue through the first of the year.

Arthur Ramey, Frostburg, who was named state chairman of the Junior Baseball committee expressed his appreciation to Commander Allen for the appointment. He declared he has always been interested in sports for youth and promised to give the task much of his time.

Among post commanders who spoke, and extended greetings to Commander Allen and the visitors, were:

Thomas J. "Pat" Farrell, Cumberland; Frank Powers, Frostburg; James Orr, Lonaconing; Okey Michaels, Westernport; John Devlin, Midland; Harvey Gortner, Grantsville; John Shoemaker, Accident; James O'Rourke, Barton. Edward Kahl, adjutant, spoke for Oakland.

Commander Allen and Manning indicated they will return Wednesday night, to attend the first anniversary of the Barton post and

British Ship Visited By Editors And Publishers At Fall Meeting

HARRY H. ROBINSON

Harry H. Robinson Elected Chairman

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 5 (AP) — Harry H. Robinson, managing editor of the Cumberland News, is the new chairman of the Chesapeake Association of the Associated Press.

Robinson was elected to the post last night at the group's fall meeting, attended by some 40 editors and publishers of Maryland, the District of Columbia and Hanover, Pa.

C. Neill Baylor, general manager of the Herald-Mail Company, Hagerstown, was elected vice-chairman.

The Association adopted a resolution approving a new wire setup expanding the news service to members, and authorized extra coverage for special session of the Maryland General Assembly.

Governor Lane, a member of the Association, welcomed members at the State House and spoke informally at a Saturday cocktail party preceding a luncheon at the Annapolis Yacht Club, at which Talbot Speer, president, and E. M. Jackson, Jr., vice-president and general manager of the Annapolis Evening Capital, were hosts.

The business meeting was held aboard the State Yacht Potomac, which took members on an overnight trip to Cambridge, Md.

After the annual meeting was adjourned, an informal group met and adopted resolutions suggesting Navy and the University of Maryland play a series of annual football games and that state newspapers make a study of advantages of a proposed $12,000,000 airfield which the Naval Academy seeks to build at Sandy Point.

Representing the Associated Press at the annual meeting were Max Fullerton, chief of the Baltimore Bureau for Maryland, John P. Trimmer, correspondent, Annapolis, and Huell E. Warren, day news editor, Baltimore.

Oscar L. Morris, managing editor of the Salisbury Times, as retiring chairman of the Association, presided at the business meeting.

Members of the Association visited the British Cruiser HMS Sheffield in Annapolis Roads today for a call on Admiral Sir William Tennant, commander of the British West Indies Squadron, and got a mass interview.

"I have no fears for Britain's future," the Admiral told the Maryland and District of Columbia Editors and Publishers.

Sir William made the comment after referring to a statement of John Adams, early American president who said soon after the Revolutionary War that the British Empire would disintegrate.

The newspapermen visited the Sheffield from the State Yacht Potomac, as the final event of the two-day annual meeting of the Associated Press group.

On the return trip today, Chairman John E. Clark and Secretary David Wallace, of the Maryland Tidewater Fisheries Commission, explained some of the problems which beset the state's fishing industry, particularly the depletion of Chesapeake Bay oysters.

Clark said one answer might be leasing some bars to private interests for oyster-planting purposes and declared his commission is continuing its intensive study of the

Legion Seeks VA Examiners In This Area

Want Physicians Named For Vets

American Legion Mountain District Posts renewed their efforts yesterday to establish an examination center here for veterans requiring physical examinations for the Veterans Administration, according to James P. Kenney, Westernport, district vice commander.

At a meeting of the district in Frostburg it was disclosed that a physician had been engaged by the VA on a fee system here after a campaign for local examinations last year. However, the system was later withdrawn and veterans of Western Maryland still have to go to Hagerstown or Baltimore for physical check-ups.

Thomas F. Conlon, service officer, declared this works an extreme hardship on many veterans and causes them to lose time from their work. Some are physically unable to make the trip, he declared, and with 12000 to 15000 veterans in these two counties, some provision should be made here for physical examinations.

The district went on record to contact VA officials in Baltimore and Washington, in an effort to have an examining physician designated for Cumberland, Frostburg and Oakland.

Commander Harry F. Allen, of the department of Maryland, who attended the meeting, said the Legion's State Department will assist

County FFA Teams Win Cash Prizes In State Judging

Oldtown Team Cops Top Potato Prize

Allegany County members of the Future Farmers of America won $61 in cash prizes and a first place banner in the annual state judging contest at Frederick, held in connection with the Frederick Fair Friday, according to James H. House, vocational agricultural instructor and FFA advisor, who returned with the teams yesterday.

In the Potato Judging, 13 teams entered, with the following local winners:

Fourth — Allegany High School, Kenneth Keefauver and Fred Dusch, $7. Tenth—Flintstone High School, Chester Smith and Tommy Deckey, $5. Twelfth—Fort Hill High School, John Miller and Kenneth Shipe, $5. Individual judging prizes went to Douglas Ryan, $4, for third; and Fred Dusch, $3, for fourth.

Beef Cattle Judging Contest had 39 teams entered with two county winners. Sixteenth—Flintstone High, Charles Rexroad, and Donald O. Buser, $5. Nineteenth — Fort Hill High School, Murray Hardinger, and Sheldon Bible, $5. Individual award of $2, for seventh place went to Rexroad.

In the Swine Judgi Contest, 43 state teams entered, with this county getting two winners. Sixth—Oldtown High School, Earl Platt, and William Malcolm, $5. Thirteenth—Flintstone High School, James Browning and Richard Rice, $5. In the individual judging, Platt won $3, for fifth place and Malcolm, $2, for seventh place.

Paul Howsare, Beall High School, judged Dairy cattle.

Heavy Dockets Loom At October Term Of Court

Fall Session Gets Underway Today

The October term of Circuit Court of Allegany County which opens here this morning, looms as a long and busy session court attaches say, unless some of the 76 civil suits already docketed are settled without trial, and some of the appeals are withdrawn. The criminal docket is expected to be a large one, although this cannot be definitely ascertained until after the Grand Jury returns indictments.

The Grand Jury will convene today, after it is drawn by the Court, and judging from the number of cases awaiting action of the Grand Jury, the body will probably be in session all week, it was stated.

Three homicides are included in the cases to be probed by the grand jury, together with several cases of larceny, paternity, and gaming cases.

Among the homicides, which authorities have cleared for this term are the cases of Mervin "Buck" Clinton Wills; Ethel Mae Bloss, and Stillman Snow Smith.

Wills is held in connection with the death of his 18-months-old son Junior Clinton Wills in July. The child died as the result of internal and external injuries, and authorities say Wills is accused of beating the baby.

The Bloss girl, 16 year old Fort Hill High School student, was arrested in connection with the death of her father James D. Bloss, 56, at their North Branch home. She is accused of shooting her father in the back to protect her mother, early last May.

Stillman Snow Smith, 40, is held in connection with the fatal shoot-

Local Men Hurt When Car Crashes Near Green Ridge

Two local men were treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon for minor injuries suffered when the car in which they were riding crashed off Baltimore Pike, near the old CCC Camp at Green Ridge.

They were Kermit Twigg, 35, 619 Henderson Avenue, and David Twigg, 74, 447 Columbia Street. Attaches said both were able to return home after they were treated for lacerations on the face.

Mrs. Mary Blair, 71, 76 James Street, Keyser, W. Va., who was admitted to Allegany Hospital Saturday for treatment of injuries suffered while boarding an Emery bus, was able to return home yesterday.

She told attaches she slipped and fell against the side of the vehicle and was admitted to check on the possibility of several fractured ribs.

Treated in Memorial Hospital were Calvin Harbaugh, 6, 234 West Oldtown Road, yesterday, after he fell and cut his right knee.

Civic Orchestra Needs Number Of Musicians

Musicians are wanted for the Cumberland Civic Orchestra which will resume rehearsals at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at Centre Street Methodist Church recreation hall, according to S. Lua Syckes, conductor.

The orchestra will rehearse regularly each Tuesday throughout the season, and interested musicians are urged to attend the opening session, Syckes said.

There are vacancies in all categories, but strings are particularly desired. Two or three concerts are planned this season, the first immediately following New Year's, the conductor stated.

B'nai B'rith Lodge Meets Tomorrow

Western Maryland Lodge No. 1507, B'nai B'rith, will meet tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. in the vestry room of B'er Chayim Temple. Plans will be discussed for formation of a bowling league. George Ossip will speak on Jewish news, and pledges will be taken for the United Jewish Appeal for the aid of war refugees.

Robert Goldfine will be in charge of the program with Myer Abramson master of ceremonies in a "Doctor IQ" quiz presentation.

Fire Prevention Week To Feature Demonstrations

Public To Be Urged To Prevent Losses

With fire destruction in the country this year threatening to break all previous records, Cumberland and the Tri-State Area are joining this week, in National Fire Prevention Week, with a program of demonstrations, speeches etc., designed to call attention to dangers and losses caused by fire.

The Junior Association of Commerce, Volunteer Firemen's Association of Allegany and Garrett Counties, and Insurance Underwriters and Adjusters, have joined in observing the week.

Charles F. Helmrich, manager of the Cumberland branch of "The Fire Companies Adjustment Bureau", will deliver talks to students of Allegany High School this morning and at Fort Hill High School on Tuesday morning.

His talks will be on the number of deaths by fire during 1946, total injured and property loss by blazes. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, has also recommended that sixth grade students be taken on tours of Central Fire Station during the year.

Radio Talks Arranged

William A. Wilson, an official of the Maryland Volunteer Firemens Association, will deliver an address over radio station WTBO on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. John M. McAlpine, assistant superintendent of safety and fire prevention at the Celanese plant, will speak over WTBO at 7:30 on Wednesday. Harland Tasker, chief of the Cresaptown Fire Department, will speak over WTBO on Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Plans are also underway to have an exhibit of fire fighting by a volunteer fire company between the halves of the football game on Friday night between Fort Hill and Martinsburg High Schools.

Public Demonstrations

The Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Fire Chiefs Association has arranged a series of public demonstrations during the Fire Prevention Week with the idea of bringing fire danger realization home to the citizen.

Cumberland And Allegheny Gas Co. Observes Its 48th Anniversary

First Well For It Completed In 1899

Quietly and unnoticed, there was celebrated a few weeks ago the 48th birthday of the natural gas production, transmission and distribution system now known as Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

It was on August 2, 1899 that P. H. Gaffney, Sisterville, W. Va., completed the first gas well for what is now known as Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. This well was drilled on the M. M. Ervin farm in Freeman's Creek, Lewis county, W. Va. The open flow from this 2,005 ft. well was estimated at 33,000,000 cu. ft. of natural gas per day.

This gas was piped to Buckhannon, W. Va., where distribution lines were laid by the newly formed Buckhannon Gas Co. Succeeding years brought several changes in corporate name as transmission lines pushed across mountains and valleys to Elkins and Parsons.

The natural gas line reached Cumberland in June, 1907. According to the Cumberland "Evening Times", the arrival of natural gas was marked by the lighting of a "T" shaped pipe in Riverside Park.

This gas company, like most all public utilities in the early years of the century, was locally owned and operated. Expansion possibilities, service improvements, and an acute need for a more dependable supply of natural gas made necessary the acquiring of outside capital.

Has 31,000 Customers

Users of natural gas supplied by Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. have benefited from a constantly improved gas service since 1927 when it became a part of the Columbia Gas System. That was the year when the Columbia Gas & Electric Corp. purchased the gas company from the Central Utility Co. This company had bought the property from the Southern Gas & Power Corp. two years previously. The name Buckhannon Gas Co. disappeared in these early years when the company became the West Virginia Central Gas Co., and then in 1925, Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co.

When it came into the Columbia Gas System, Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. operated 132 gas wells and was supplying a gas service to about 25,000 customers. Today, the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. represents an investment of more than seven million dollars. It provides natural gas service to 21 communities in Maryland and 36 in West Virginia. More than 31,000 customers depend on Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. in such communities as Cumberland, Frostburg, Westernport, and Mt. Savage, Md., and Elkins, Weston, Buckhannon, Keyser, Piedmont, and Parsons, W. Va.

The extensive practical experience of Columbia Gas System men, plus the concentrated technical knowledge of its engineers has been instrumental in the continual improvement of Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. gas wells, pumping facilities, production, transmission and distribution lines. The company now operates 201 wells and has 8,750 miles of natural gas lines in its territory.

Today the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. is one of the affiliated gas companies making up the Pittsburgh Group of Columbia Gas System. "Sister companies" in this grouping include The Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., Pittsburgh; Natural Gas Co. of W. Va., Wheeling; Gettysburg Gas Corp., Gettysburg; The Keystone Gas Co., Inc., Olean, N. Y., and Binghamton (N.Y.) Gas Works.

Expands Supplies

The executive and general supervisory operations of these companies is coordinated in Pittsburgh. Employes of the affiliated companies have the maximum benefits made possible through a coordinated re-

Appointment Announced

Dr. William O. Negherben has been appointed to the staff of the Zoology Department at the University of Maryland in order to introduce Parasitology, the study of the scoure, life history, methods of attack, etc. of plant and animal parasites. Dr. Negherben will also be in charge of Embryology.

There are now 922 faculty members at College Park of whom 145 are professors. Including the departments in Baltimore, the school has a total faculty of 1,130, an increase of 170 over last year's total.

Legion To Aid National Guard Recruiting Plan

Essay Contest Will Feature New Program

In an effort to arouse interest in the recruiting campaign of the new postwar National Guard in this area, Mountain District American Legion posts will conduct an essay contest among high school students of Allegany and Garrett counties and award $50 in cash prizes for the best essays.

Samuel A. Graham, chairman of the district's Americanism Committee, is arranging details of the contest and said judges and rules will be announced within a few days.

Since the war, Graham declared, interest in the National Guard has reached its lowest ebb in this area, although five times as many men are needed in the new Guard as were enlisted in old Company G, here.

Maryland has been allocated two companies in Cumberland, Headquarters and Company C, one in Frostburg, designated as Company D, and a separate unit in Oakland. This makes four companies in Western Maryland instead of the one here before the war, Graham declared.

As a part of the American Legion's Americanism program, of which Graham is district chairman, he told Legionnaires at a district meeting yesterday, in Frostburg, "the youth must be informed of the need for a strong America, and the importance the National Guard plays in this potential strength."

District Legionnaires, meeting at Farrady Post, Frostburg, endorsed the idea of the essay contest, and agreed the posts in these two counties, should assist in the recruiting drive.

Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, contacted by Graham, said the guard will welcome and has been hoping for the assistance of the Legion in its recruiting effort. A total of 500 men can be enlisted here, Col. Millholland said, in this county alone plus those needed in Oakland. The new Guard offers training in technical subjects as well as training in strictly military phases of soldiering. He expressed the view that an essay contest among students of high school age, might help inform people generally, of the advancement made in the Guard program since the war.

Graham said the subject of the contest will be announced in a day or so and that the $50 will be divided into three prizes, $25, first; $15, second, and $10, third.

Boy Returns Home

John Gornall, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gornall, MacDonald Terrace, who was admitted to Allegany Hospital last Monday for treatment of polio, was discharged yesterday and has been taken to his home.

It was reported last week that no pronounced paralysis had been discovered but physicians noted a "weakness" in the boy's legs.

Trinity Church Begins Fiftieth Anniversary

Visiting Pastors Deliver Sermons

The congregation of Trinity Methodist Church, 122-124 Grand Avenue, began the observance of the 50th anniversary of the church yesterday with special anniversary services scheduled for each Sunday this month.

Rev. William F. Wright, Hagerstown, district superintendent, joined with the church pastor, Rev. W. Clark Main, in administering the Sacrament, as the church joined with Christians throughout the world in observance of World Wide Communion.

Speaking on the subject, "The Lord's Supper", Rev. Mr. Wright said in part, "it is most important that we begin a 50th anniversary with the celebration of the Lord's Supper, because that sacrament is the very heart of the Christian Church. It stands for that which makes it possible for us to approach God our Father. Mar, by his sin had built up a wall between himself and God, but by the shedding of the blood of Jesus Christ, for which the Lord's Supper stands, this wall was broken down, and now man comes into the very presence of God.

"For 50 years, Trinity has performed this blessed ministry, and may She be faithful for 50 more.

"God commanded Israel to eat all of the paschel lamb, and he admonishes us to take all of Christ for all of life. God commanded Israel to eat the lamb with bitter herbs, as he commands us to come with repentence. And Israel was commanded to eat the lamb with their shoes on and staff in hand, prepared to travel, and thus we are reminded that we are not at home in this world, but travelers going on to an eternal abiding place."

Altar flowers were presented by Mrs. Bessie Bittinger, in honor of her son-in-law, Rev. Benjamin Thomas Price, who entered the Christian ministry from Trinity Church.

At the evening service, Rev. John W. Rosenberger, Rockville, who served as pastor of the local church from October 3, 1927 until October 5, 1931, was guest speaker.

Rev. Mr. Rosenberger developed the theme, "Am I My Brother's Keeper." He concluded his sermon by saying, "To be my brother's keeper, I must first be my brother's brother."

Next Sunday, designated as Home Coming Day, Rev. W. D. Keene will speak at the morning service, with Rev. S. R. Neel, speaking on "Youth Night" at 7:30 p. m.

October 19, Rev. James H. Brown will be guest speaker on "Servicemen's Day", at 11 a. m., with Rev. George Hasel, speaking at the 7:30 p. m. service on "Community Night."

October 26, Anniversary Day, Rev. Harry V. Wheeler, will speak at both services.

Salesman Helps Injured Woman

A few moments of tinkering, plus the know how, enabled a salesman to extricate the device from the fingers of a local woman who was rushed to Allegany Hospital late yesterday afternoon after her left hand was caught while she was using the beater at her home here.

The woman, Mrs. Vernon Shriver, 16, 217 Fulton Street, walked into the dispensary of the hospital carrying the device in which her badly lacerated fingers were entangled.

Attaches said a man who was standing in the hall waiting for an elevator noticed her and approached, asking if he could be of any help, explaining that he "sold the things" and might be able to aid.

It only took a moment, attaches said, for the man to loosen a plate on the beater and release Mrs. Shriver's fingers by reversing the motor.

Mrs. Shriver was able to return home after the lacerations were treated.

Barbers Will Honor Charles LaMatta

Local 314, Barbers Union, AFL, will honor Charles LaMatta, Baltimore, international organizer for the Journeymen Barbers Union, at a smoker to be held tomorrow night following the regular meeting of the local.

LaMatta, who will be here today and tomorrow, will speak at the regular meeting of the union Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall, Frederick Street.

Master barbers of Cumberland have been invited to attend the smoker which will begin at 9 p. m., Fred B. Driscoll, secretary-treasurer of the union, announced.

Girl Scout Dog Show Attracts Lovers Of "Man's Best Friend"

White Collie Is Best In Show

"Nickey", a tan and white collie, carrying all the credentials of dogdom's blue blood, won the blue ribbon for the "best in the show", Saturday afternoon at the dog show sponsored by the Cumberland Girl Scouts on the lawn of Scout Headquarters, in observance of National Dog Week. The collie, shown by Donna Smith, Brownie Scout of Troop 32, is owned by Frank McCagh, Bedford Street.

A 14-week-old "rookie" in the show world, "Nickey" also was judged the best pure bred dog in the show. The second best entry, an Irish setter owned by Brad Kehoe, was awarded the most ribbons in the show, finishing with three blue ribbons, two red ribbons (for second place) and a yellow ribbon (for third place).

The list of first, second and third place winners in the 16 classifications included:

1—Most Mixed Breed Dog—Mary Puderbaugh, first; Vivian Nies.

5—Whitest Dog—Scotty Collins, first; Janet Stern, Rosemar, Hill, Carol Krapf.

JUDY AND JOE—Both established members of the household of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Zimmerman, 941 Braddock Road, Judy and Joe attracted a lot of attention at the Girl Scout Dog Show Saturday afternoon at Scout Headquarters. "Joe" won the blue ribbon for being the oldest dog in the show. He is 14 years old, four years older than his young mistress. A pure bred Llewlyn setter, "Joe" also was awarded yellow ribbons for having the third longest tail and ears and a red ribbon for being second in the "most spotted dog" classification.

Allegany-Garrett Sportsmen Will Observe 7th Anniversary Tomorrow

LeRoy Pumphrey Will Be Guest Speaker

The Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association will observe its seventh anniversary Tuesday with a special meeting at 8 p. m., in Firemen's Hall, Water street, Frostburg, with LeRoy Pumphrey, Upper Marlboro, majority floor leader in the House of Delegates of the Maryland General Assembly, as principal speaker.

Ernest A. Vaughn, State Game Warden, will be represented at the meeting by Harold Smith Kolmer, a former resident of Lonaconing who is secretary of the Game and Inland Fish Commission, and George B. Shields, chief deputy warden, both of Baltimore. Members of the Eckhart Square Circle and other local sportsmen's groups are expected to attend.

Preceding the meeting at Firemen's Hall, Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, will entertain with a dinner at 6:15 p. m., in honor of Pumphrey, who is chairman of the education committee of the Legislative Council of the Maryland General Assembly. The guests will include the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly, male members of the college faculty and their wives and a few local citizens who have been leading a campaign to promote the interests of the college.

Legion Launches District Program For Coming Year

Post Coordination New Annual Theme

Greater coordination of American Legion Posts in the Mountain District and active and constructive major committee programs, are to be the objectives of area Legionnaires, it was indicated yesterday at a district meeting at Farrady Post No. 24, Frostburg.

State Department Commander Harry B. Allen, Laurel, accompanied by several other state officers, attended the meeting, and in addressing the district officers and executive committeemen, placed emphasis on membership, child welfare, rehabilitation and Americanism. He declared the individual Legion posts must follow through the Legion program in their communities, and that the district must help coordinate Legion activity in the area.

Commander Allen was accompanied by Richard Manning, Baltimore, Maryland State service and executive officer of the Maryland Veterans Commission; Barnard Cassell, Washington, sous chef de chemin de fer passe, 40 and 8; and Joseph S. Bozman, Mt. Rainier, department rehabilitation chairman.

Bozman held a separate meeting with service officers of each of 10 posts of the district's 16, represented at the session. He urged that each service officer have an assistant and that both inform themselves thoroughly of their duties so they can cope with the multiple problems of veterans.

Committees Appointed

James P. Kenney, Westernport, district vice-commander, presided and named the chairmen and co-chairmen of his most important committees, as follows:

Extension and Stabilization—Alec Heson, Oakland, chairman; Charles Cole, Frostburg, co-chairman.

Americanism—Samuel A. Graham, this city, chairman; Daniel Hershberger, Grantsville, co-chairman.

Child Welfare—John Thomas, Westernport, chairman; Mrs. R. W. Browning, co-chairman.

Graves Registration—John I. Kelly, Sr., this city, chairman; Walter T. Ross, Midland, and Paul Turney, Oakland, co-chairmen.

Junior Baseball—Robert O. "Abe" Johnson, Lonaconing, chairman.

Veterans Housing — Thomas B. Finan, Jr., this city.

Post Inspector — Howard Blackburn, Westernport, chairman.

Public Relations—M. F. Pendergast, this city, chairman.

Miss Anne Sloan, Lonaconing, state chairman of the Child Welfare Committee, told the district group she will be in Baltimore this week, conferring with members of her committee. A commission on Child Welfare is being formed, she explained, coordinating the activities of the Legion, its Auxiliary, 40 and 8 and 8 and 40. Plans are to be formulated for coordinated activity of Child Welfare Work.

District members went on record urging all posts in the district to hold at least one benefit each year, such as a dance, bazaar, athletic contest or some other event, with proceeds to be placed directly in a district child welfare fund. Miss Sloan needs funds to meet emergencies and to properly carry out the program. The plan was unanimously approved.

There was considerable discussion on memberships for 1948, and the district and state department are interested in enrolling many more World War II veterans. The campaign will open with concerted action October 17, and continue through the first of the year.

Arthur Ramey, Frostburg, who was named state chairman of the Junior Baseball committee expressed his appreciation to Commander Allen for the appointment. He declared he has always been interested in sports for youth and promised to give the task much of his time.

Among post commanders who spoke, and extended greetings to Commander Allen and the visitors, were:

Thomas J. "Pat" Farrell, Cumberland; Frank Powers, Frostburg; James Orr, Lonaconing; Okey Michaels, Westernport; John Devlin, Midland; Harvey Gortner, Grantsville; John Shoemaker, Accident; James O'Rourke, Barton. Edward Kahl, adjutant, spoke for Oakland.

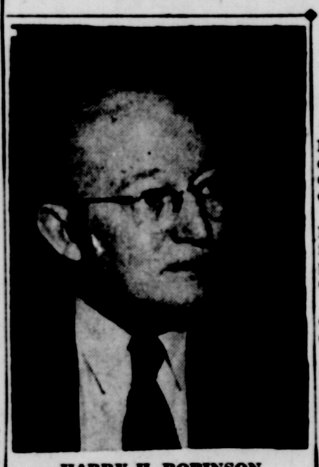

Commander Allen and Manning indicated they will return Wednesday night, to attend the first anniversary of the Barton post and

British Ship Visited By Editors And Publishers At Fall Meeting

HARRY H. ROBINSON

Harry H. Robinson Elected Chairman

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 5 (AP) — Harry H. Robinson, managing editor of the Cumberland News, is the new chairman of the Chesapeake Association of the Associated Press.

Robinson was elected to the post last night at the group's fall meeting, attended by some 40 editors and publishers of Maryland, the District of Columbia and Hanover, Pa.

C. Neill Baylor, general manager of the Herald-Mail Company, Hagerstown, was elected vice-chairman.

The Association adopted a resolution approving a new wire setup expanding the news service to members, and authorized extra coverage for special session of the Maryland General Assembly.

Governor Lane, a member of the Association, welcomed members at the State House and spoke informally at a Saturday cocktail party preceding a luncheon at the Annapolis Yacht Club, at which Talbot Speer, president, and E. M. Jackson, Jr., vice-president and general manager of the Annapolis Evening Capital, were hosts.

The newspaper executives attended the Navy-Columbia game in the afternoon.

The business meeting was held aboard the State Yacht Potomac, which took members on an overnight trip to Cambridge, Md.

After the annual meeting was adjourned, an informal group met and adopted resolutions suggesting Navy and the University of Maryland play a series of annual football games and that state newspapers make a study of advantages of a proposed $12,000,000 airfield which the Naval Academy seeks to build at Sandy Point.

Representing the Associated Press at the annual meeting were Max Fullerton, chief of the Baltimore Bureau for Maryland, John P. Trimmer, correspondent, Annapolis, and Huell E. Warren, day news editor, Baltimore.

Oscar L. Morris, managing editor of the Salisbury Times, as retiring chairman of the Association, presided at the business meeting.

Members of the Association visited the British Cruiser HMS Sheffield in Annapolis Roads today for a call on Admiral Sir William Tennant, commander of the British West Indies Squadron, and got a mass interview.

"I have no fears for Britain's future," the Admiral told the Maryland and District of Columbia Editors and Publishers.

"She stood alone for two and a half years of the war."

Sir William made the comment after referring to a statement of John Adams, early American president who said soon after the Revolutionary War that the British Empire would disintegrate.

The newspapermen visited the Sheffield from the State Yacht Potomac, as the final event of the two-day annual meeting of the Associated Press group.

On the return trip today, Chairman John E. Clark and Secretary David Wallace, of the Maryland Tidewater Fisheries Commission, explained some of the problems which beset the state's fishing industry, particularly the depletion of Chesapeake Bay oysters.

Clark said one answer might be leasing some bars to private interests for oyster-planting purposes and declared his commission is continuing its intensive study of the

Legion Seeks VA Examiners In This Area

Want Physicians Named For Vets

American Legion Mountain District Posts renewed their efforts yesterday to establish an examination center here for veterans requiring physical examinations for the Veterans Administration, according to James P. Kenney, Westernport, district vice commander.

At a meeting of the district in Frostburg it was disclosed that a physician had been engaged by the VA on a fee system here after a campaign for local examinations last year. However, the system was later withdrawn and veterans of Western Maryland still have to go to Hagerstown or Baltimore for physical check-ups.

Thomas F. Conlon, service officer, declared this works an extreme hardship on many veterans and causes them to lose time from their work. Some are physically unable to make the trip, he declared, and with 12000 to 15000 veterans in these two counties, some provision should be made here for physical examinations.

The district went on record to contact VA officials in Baltimore and Washington, in an effort to have an examining physician designated for Cumberland, Frostburg and Oakland.

Commander Harry F. Allen, of the department of Maryland, who attended the meeting, said the Legion's State Department will assist

Paul Howsare, Beall High School, judged Dairy cattle.

Heavy Dockets Loom At October Term Of Court

Fall Session Gets Underway Today

The October term of Circuit Court of Allegany County which opens here this morning, looms as a long and busy session court attaches say, unless some of the 76 civil suits already docketed are settled without trial, and some of the appeals are withdrawn. The criminal docket is expected to be a large one, although this cannot be definitely ascertained until after the Grand Jury returns indictments.

The Grand Jury will convene today, after it is drawn by the Court, and judging from the number of cases awaiting action of the Grand Jury, the body will probably be in session all week, it was stated.

Three homicides are included in the cases to be probed by the grand jury, together with several cases of larceny, paternity, and gaming cases.

Among the homicides, which authorities have cleared for this term are the cases of Mervin "Buck" Clinton Wills; Ethel Mae Bloss, and Stillman Snow Smith.

Wills is held in connection with the death of his 18-months-old son Junior Clinton Wills in July. The child died as the result of internal and external injuries, and authorities say Wills is accused of beating the baby.

The Bloss girl, 16 year old Fort Hill High School student, was arrested in connection with the death of her father James D. Bloss, 56, at their North Branch home. She is accused of shooting her father in the back to protect her mother, early last May.

Stillman Snow Smith, 40, is held in connection with the fatal shoot-

Local Men Hurt When Car Crashes Near Green Ridge

Two local men were treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon for minor injuries suffered when the car in which they were riding crashed off Baltimore Pike, near the old CCC Camp at Green Ridge.

They were Kermit Twigg, 35, 619 Henderson Avenue, and David Twigg, 74, 447 Columbia Street. Attaches said both were able to return home after they were treated for lacerations on the face.

Mrs. Mary Blair, 71, 76 James Street, Keyser, W. Va., who was admitted to Allegany Hospital Saturday for treatment of injuries suffered while boarding an Emery bus, was able to return home yesterday.

She told attaches she slipped and fell against the side of the vehicle and was admitted to check on the possibility of several fractured ribs.

Treated in Memorial Hospital were Calvin Harbaugh, 6, 234 West Oldtown Road, yesterday, after he fell and cut his right knee.

Civic Orchestra Needs Number Of Musicians

Musicians are wanted for the Cumberland Civic Orchestra which will resume rehearsals at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at Centre Street Methodist Church recreation hall, according to S. Lua Syckes, conductor.

The orchestra will rehearse regularly each Tuesday throughout the season, and interested musicians are urged to attend the opening session, Syckes said.

There are vacancies in all categories, but strings are particularly desired. Two or three concerts are planned this season, the first immediately following New Year's, the conductor stated.

B'nai B'rith Lodge Meets Tomorrow

Western Maryland Lodge No. 1507, B'nai B'rith, will meet tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. in the vestry room of B'er Chayim Temple. Plans will be discussed for formation of a bowling league. George Ossip will speak on Jewish news, and pledges will be taken for the United Jewish Appeal for the aid of war refugees.

Robert Goldfine will be in charge of the program with Myer Abramson master of ceremonies in a "Doctor IQ" quiz presentation.

Fire Prevention Week To Feature Demonstrations

Public To Be Urged To Prevent Losses

With fire destruction in the country this year threatening to break all previous records, Cumberland and the Tri-State Area are joining this week, in National Fire Prevention Week, with a program of demonstrations, speeches etc., designed to call attention to dangers and losses caused by fire.

The Junior Association of Commerce, Volunteer Firemen's Association of Allegany and Garrett Counties, and Insurance Underwriters and Adjusters, have joined in observing the week.

Charles F. Helmrich, manager of the Cumberland branch of "The Fire Companies Adjustment Bureau", will deliver talks to students of Allegany High School this morning and at Fort Hill High School on Tuesday morning.

His talks will be on the number of deaths by fire during 1946, total injured and property loss by blazes. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, has also recommended that sixth grade students be taken on tours of Central Fire Station during the year.

Radio Talks Arranged

William A. Wilson, an official of the Maryland Volunteer Firemens Association, will deliver an address over radio station WTBO on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. John M. McAlpine, assistant superintendent of safety and fire prevention at the Celanese plant, will speak over WTBO at 7:30 on Wednesday. Harland Tasker, chief of the Cresaptown Fire Department, will speak over WTBO on Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Plans are also underway to have an exhibit of fire fighting by a volunteer fire company between the halves of the football game on Friday night between Fort Hill and Martinsburg High Schools.

Public Demonstrations

The Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Fire Chiefs Association has arranged a series of public demonstrations during the Fire Prevention Week with the idea of bringing fire danger realization home to the citizen.

Cumberland And Allegheny Gas Co. Observes Its 48th Anniversary

First Well For It Completed In 1899

Quietly and unnoticed, there was celebrated a few weeks ago the 48th birthday of the natural gas production, transmission and distribution system now known as Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

It was on August 2, 1899 that P. H. Gaffney, Sisterville, W. Va., completed the first gas well for what is now known as Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. This well was drilled on the M. M. Ervin farm in Freeman's Creek, Lewis county, W. Va. The open flow from this 2,005 ft. well was estimated at 33,000,000 cu. ft. of natural gas per day.

This gas was piped to Buckhannon, W. Va., where distribution lines were laid by the newly formed Buckhannon Gas Co. Succeeding years brought several changes in corporate name as transmission lines pushed across mountains and valleys to Elkins and Parsons.

The natural gas line reached Cumberland in June, 1907. According to the Cumberland "Evening Times", the arrival of natural gas was marked by the lighting of a "T" shaped pipe in Riverside Park.

This gas company, like most all public utilities in the early years of the century, was locally owned and operated. Expansion possibilities, service improvements, and an acute need for a more dependable supply of natural gas made necessary the acquiring of outside capital.

Has 31,000 Customers

Users of natural gas supplied by Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. have benefited from a constantly improved gas service since 1927 when it became a part of the Columbia Gas System. That was the year when the Columbia Gas & Electric Corp. purchased the gas company from the Central Utility Co. This company had bought the property from the Southern Gas & Power Corp. two years previously. The name Buckhannon Gas Co. disappeared in these early years when the company became the West Virginia Central Gas Co., and then in 1925, Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co.

When it came into the Columbia Gas System, Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. operated 132 gas wells and was supplying a gas service to about 25,000 customers. Today, the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. represents an investment of more than seven million dollars. It provides natural gas service to 21 communities in Maryland and 36 in West Virginia. More than 31,000 customers depend on Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. in such communities as Cumberland, Frostburg, Westernport, and Mt. Savage, Md., and Elkins, Weston, Buckhannon, Keyser, Piedmont, and Parsons, W. Va.

The extensive practical experience of Columbia Gas System men, plus the concentrated technical knowledge of its engineers has been instrumental in the continual improvement of Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. gas wells, pumping facilities, production, transmission and distribution lines. The company now operates 201 wells and has 8,750 miles of natural gas lines in its territory.

Today the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. is one of the affiliated gas companies making up the Pittsburgh Group of Columbia Gas System, "Sister companies" in this grouping include The Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., Pittsburgh; Natural Gas Co. of W. Va., Wheeling; Gettysburg Gas Corp., Gettysburg; The Keystone Gas Co., Iinc., Olean, N. Y., and Binghamton (N.Y.) Gas Works.

Expands Supplies

The executive and general supervisory operations of these companies is coordinated in Pittsburgh. Employes of the affiliated companies have the maximum benefits made possible through a coordinated re-

Appointment Announced

Dr. William O. Negherben has been appointed to the staff of the Zoology Department at the University of Maryland in order to introduce Parasitology, the study of the scoure, life history, methods of attack, etc. of plant and animal parasites. Dr. Negherben will also be in charge of Embryology.

There are now 922 faculty members at College Park of whom 145 are professors. Including the departments in Baltimore, the school has a total faculty of 1,130, an increase of 170 over last year's total.

Legion To Aid National Guard Recruiting Plan

Essay Contest Will Feature New Program

In an effort to arouse interest in the recruiting campaign of the new postwar National Guard in this area, Mountain District American Legion posts will conduct an essay contest among high school students of Allegany and Garrett counties and award $50 in cash prizes for the best essays.

Samuel A. Graham, chairman of the district's Americanism Committee, is arranging details of the contest and said judges and rules will be announced within a few days.

Since the war, Graham declared, interest in the National Guard has reached its lowest ebb in this area, although five times as many men are needed in the new Guard as were enlisted in old Company G, here.

Maryland has been allocated two companies in Cumberland, Headquarters and Company C, one in Frostburg, designated as Company D, and a separate unit in Oakland. This makes four companies in Western Maryland instead of the one here before the war, Graham declared.

As a part of the American Legion's Americanism program, of which Graham is district chairman, he told Legionnaires at a district meeting yesterday, in Frostburg, "the youth must be informed of the need for a strong America, and the importance the National Guard plays in this potential strength."

District Legionnaires, meeting at Farrady Post, Frostburg, endorsed the idea of the essay contest, and agreed the posts in these two counties, should assist in the recruiting drive.

Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, contacted by Graham, said the guard will welcome and has been hoping for the assistance of the Legion in its recruiting effort. A total of 500 men can be enlisted here, Col. Millholland said, in this county alone plus those needed in Oakland. The new Guard offers training in technical subjects as well as training in strictly military phases of soldiering. He expressed the view that an essay contest among students of high school age, might help inform people generally, of the advancement made in the Guard program since the war.

Graham said the subject of the contest will be announced in a day or so and that the $50 will be divided into three prizes, $25, first; $15, second, and $10, third.

Boy Returns Home

John Gornall, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gornall, MacDonald Terrace, who was admitted to Allegany Hospital last Monday for treatment of polio, was discharged yesterday and has been taken to his home.

It was reported last week that no pronounced paralysis had been discovered but physicians noted a "weakness" in the boy's legs.

Trinity Church Begins Fiftieth Anniversary

Visiting Pastors Deliver Sermons

The congregation of Trinity Methodist Church, 122-124 Grand Avenue, began the observance of the 50th anniversary of the church yesterday with special anniversary services scheduled for each Sunday this month.

Rev. William F. Wright, Hagerstown, district superintendent, joined with the church pastor, Rev. W. Clark Main, in administering the Sacrament, as the church joined with Christians throughout the world in observance of World Wide Communion.

Speaking on the subject, "The Lord's Supper", Rev. Mr. Wright said in part, "it is most important that we begin a 50th anniversary with the celebration of the Lord's Supper, because that sacrament is the very heart of the Christian Church. It stands for that which makes it possible for us to approach God our Father. Mar, by his sin had built up a wall between himself and God, but by the shedding of the blood of Jesus Christ, for which the Lord's Supper stands, this wall was broken down, and now man comes into the very presence of God.

"For 50 years, Trinity has performed this blessed ministry, and may She be faithful for 50 more.

"God commanded Israel to eat all of the paschel lamb, and he admonishes us to take all of Christ for all of life. God commanded Israel to eat the lamb with bitter herbs, as he commands us to come with repentence. And Israel was commanded to eat the lamb with their shoes on and staff in hand, prepared to travel, and thus we are reminded that we are not at home in this world, but travelers going on to an eternal abiding place."

Altar flowers were presented by Mrs. Bessie Bittinger, in honor of her son-in-law, Rev. Benjamin Thomas Price, who entered the Christian ministry from Trinity Church.

At the evening service, Rev. John W. Rosenberger, Rockville, who served as pastor of the local church from October 3, 1927 until October 5, 1931, was guest speaker.

Rev. Mr. Rosenberger developed the theme, "Am I My Brother's Keeper." He concluded his sermon by saying, "To be my brother's keeper, I must first be my brother's brother."

Next Sunday, designated as Home Coming Day, Rev. W. D. Keene will speak at the morning service, with Rev. S. R. Neel, speaking on "Youth Night" at 7:30 p. m.

October 19, Rev. James H. Brown will be guest speaker on "Servicemen's Day", at 11 a. m., with Rev. George Hasel, speaking at the 7:30 p. m. service on "Community Night."

October 26, Anniversary Day, Rev. Harry V. Wheeler, will speak at both services.

Salesman Helps Injured Woman

If you are ever so unfortunate as to get your fingers hopelessly entangled in the beaters of an electric mixer, you will do well to find an electric appliance salesman right away.

A few moments of tinkering, plus the know how, enabled a salesman to extricate the device from the fingers of a local woman who was rushed to Allegany Hospital late yesterday afternoon after her left hand was caught while she was using the beater at her home here.

The woman, Mrs. Vernon Shriver, 16, 217 Fulton Street, walked into the dispensary of the hospital carrying the device in which her badly lacerated fingers were entangled.

Attaches said a man who was standing in the hall waiting for an elevator noticed her and approached, asking if he could be of any help, explaining that he "sold the things" and might be able to aid.

It only took a moment, attaches said, for the man to loosen a plate on the beater and release Mrs. Shriver's fingers by reversing the motor.

Mrs. Shriver was able to return home after the lacerations were treated.

Barbers Will Honor Charles LaMatta

Local 314, Barbers Union, AFL, will honor Charles LaMatta, Baltimore, international organizer for the Journeymen Barbers Union, at a smoker to be held tomorrow night following the regular meeting of the local.

LaMatta, who will be here today and tomorrow, will speak at the regular meeting of the union Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall, Frederick Street.

Master barbers of Cumberland have been invited to attend the smoker which will begin at 9 p. m., Fred B. Driscoll, secretary-treasurer of the union, announced.

Girl Scout Dog Show Attracts Lovers Of "Man's Best Friend"

White Collie Is Best In Show

"Nickey", a tan and white collie, carrying all the credentials of dogdom's blue blood, won the blue ribbon for the "best in the show", Saturday afternoon at the dog show sponsored by the Cumberland Girl Scouts on the lawn of Scout Headquarters, in observance of National Dog Week. The collie, shown by Donna Smith, Brownie Scout of Troop 32, is owned by Frank McCagh, Bedford Street.

A 14-week-old "rookie" in the show world, "Nickey" also was judged the best pure bred dog in the show. The second best entry, an Irish setter owned by Brad Kehoe, was awarded the most ribbons in the show, finishing with three blue ribbons, two red ribbons (for second place) and a yellow ribbon (for third place).

Allegany-Garrett Sportsmen Will Observe 7th Anniversary Tomorrow

LeRoy Pumphrey Will Be Guest Speaker

The Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association will observe its seventh anniversary Tuesday with a special meeting at 8 p. m., in Firemen's Hall, Water street, Frostburg, with LeRoy Pumphrey, Upper Marlboro, majority floor leader in the House of Delegates of the Maryland General Assembly, as principal speaker.

Ernest A. Vaughn, State Game Warden, will be represented at the meeting by Harold Smith Kolmer, a former resident of Lonaconing who is secretary of the Game and Inland Fish Commission, and George B. Shields, chief deputy warden, both of Baltimore. Members of the Eckhart Square Circle and other local sportsmen's groups are expected to attend.

Fred Crowe, president and one of the founders of the local group, will preside and give a brief history of the organization.

Preceding the meeting at Firemen's Hall, Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, will entertain with a dinner at 6:15 p. m., in honor of Pumphrey, who is chairman of the education committee of the Legislative Council of the Maryland General Assembly. The guests will include the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly, male members of the college faculty and their wives and a few local citizens who have been leading a campaign to promote the interests of the college.
